NAZIS FLEEING SICILY; YANKS SURGE AHEAD

Flank German Line in Sea Attack.

[By Wireless to The New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 13 [Friday].—Following an air raid alarm in northern Italy last night, frontier observers from hilltop vantage points only 37 miles from Milan reported early today that one of the heaviest air attacks against Milan was under way.

They said that anti-aircraft batteries were putting up a "wall of steel" against the raiders, who, nevertheless, were pressing the attack home. Two of the bombers were seen to crash in flames.

[British heavy bombers ranged over northern Italy last night, it was officially announced in London today. A Reuter's (British) news agency report from Berne said explosions were heard in Berne, more than 130 miles from Milan.]

Dropping incendiaries and blockbusters, the vibrations of which could be felt on the Swiss frontier, 25 miles away, the raiders apparently were concentrating on the northeastern suburbs of Milan, where several large fires were visible.

BLAST ESCAPE ROUTE

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 12 (AP).—The bulk of German troops in Sicily now are in flight across the Messina strait to the Italian mainland under a merciless attack by allied airmen braving a barrage from more than 500 anti-aircraft guns mounted on the escape beaches, front reports said tonight.

Leaving desperate rearguards and road demolition squads behind to slow the American and British armies converging on Messina, the Germans have a good chance to avert another Tunisian disaster because of the narrowness of the strait. It is only two miles wide at one point.

The right wing of the Nazi line was ensnarled by the second American pincer movement initiated from the sea in three days, the left was slowly giving way under British pressure, and the Germans' central anchor at Randazzo had been brought under artillery fire.

A dispatch from a correspondent attached to the British 8th army said the German evacuation of the Messina bridgehead was in full swing, with at least 80 vessels ferrying men and equipment eastward across Messina strait night and day.

Passport a Gun.

Axis anti-aircraft guns were declared massed in record strength to protect the vessels from allied planes. The dispatch said the German high command, wishing to keep down the loss of equipment during the movement, had decreed that "the passport to Italy is a gun."

The retreat was described in a Berlin broadcast by Capt. Ludwig Sertorius, Nazi military commentator, as a "systematic new disengagement movement by German and Italian troops."

"What matters," Sertorius said, "is to prevent the enemy from extending his operations to objectives on the mainland."

Striving for the knockout, Gen. Eisenhower's officers steadily threw in fresh units to replace battle-weary troops at the front.

Land Behind Nazi Lines.

Tank supported infantry men of the United States 7th army, aided by American warships and planes, landed from assault boats three or four miles behind the German lines on Cape Orlando just before dawn Wednesday. They beat off three Nazi counter-attacks and established a bridgehead just as they did

F. D. R. Vows Full Freedom to Philippines

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt tonight promised the Filipino people full independence from the United States "the moment the power of our Japanese enemies is destroyed" and said that such freedom would come quickly.

In a radio address broadcast to the Philippines on the 45th anniversary of American occupation of the islands, the President said flatly:

"I give the Filipino people my word that the republic of the Philippines will be established the moment the power of our Japanese enemies is destroyed. The congress of the United States has acted to set up the independence of the Philippines. The time will come quickly when that goes into full effect."

Counters Tojo's Pledge.

The chief executive's remarks were interpreted in Philippine circles here as countering Japanese Premier Tojo's reported pledge to the Japanese seized islands that they will be made an independent nation by the end of this year.

"On Dec. 28, 1941, three weeks after the armies of the Japanese launched their attack on Philippine soil, I sent a proclamation to you, the gallant people of the Philippines," the President recalled. "I said then:

"'I give to the people of the Philippines my solemn pledge that their freedom will be redeemed and their independence established and protected. The entire resources in men and materials of the United States stand behind that pledge.'

"We shall keep this promise, just as we have kept every promise which America has made to the Filipino people.

Proved Right to Respect.

"The story of the fighting on Bataan and Corregidor—and, indeed, everywhere in the Philippines—will be remembered so long as men continue to respect bravery, and devotion, and determination. When the Filipino people resisted the Japanese invaders with their very lives they gave final proof that here was a nation fit to be respected as the equal to any on earth, not in size or wealth, but in the stout heart and national dignity which are the true measures of a people."

FRANCO IS REPORTED PREPARING TO BREAK WITH HIS AXIS PALS

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Evidence that Generalissimo Francisco Franco is considering throwing his axis chums overboard and climbing on the allied bandwagon is seen here in the changed tone of the controled Spanish press.

Since the collapse of Benito Mussolini and the allied successes in Sicily, Madrid papers have broken out in a rash of flattering articles about the allies, particularly Britain.

Inasmuch as press campaigns of this type do not happen by accident in a dictatorship, it is regarded here as a change in the official attitude. Franco's radios have been asserting Mussolini's downfall has nothing to do with him, as his system of government is independent of all others.

It is noted here, however, that Franco has issued two significant orders. One provides for severe measures for dealing with civil unrest, and the other imposes upon the axis correspondents the same censorship to which all others have been subjected. Axis newspaper men had been free from such restraint since 1940.

Madrid radio commentators have spoken of "the lack of unity thruout the country."

RUSSIA CLAIMS PARLEY DIDN'T INVITE STALIN

Denies Observer Will Attend.

LONDON, Aug. 13 [Friday]—(AP).—The soviet government today answered criticism of the absence of Russian delegates to the forthcoming Roosevelt-Churchill conference at Quebec.

"The soviet government did not receive an invitation to be present at the meeting and because of the nature of the conference the participation of any one representative of the soviet government at the meeting in Quebec was not and is not envisaged," said an official Moscow broadcast recorded by the soviet monitor.

Denies Part in Parley.

President Roosevelt already had disclosed in Washington that Russian representatives would not attend the conference, but he said that did not mean he would not be awfully glad to have them present.

The Moscow radio quoted this statement, which the official agency Tass said it was "authorized" to make:

"The Tass news agency denies that Stalin or any representative of the soviet government will participate at the forthcoming meeting between President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill.

"The British Reuter's agency, basing itself on the American radio station Columbia, reporting on the meeting now taking place in Quebec of Roosevelt and Churchill, suggested that leaders of the soviet government should be present. [The meeting actually has not occurred yet so far as is known.]

"Based on Misunderstanding."

"On the other hand the British newspapers Daily Telegraph, Morning Post, and Daily Express, and some others, published a report that the soviet military attache will be present at the Anglo-American talk as an observer.

[A CBS London correspondent broadcast that he believed "a high-ranking Russian" would arrive in London in September and "be empowered to negotiate on matters of the greatest importance." "Before then," he said, "the Russians may have signed an agreement with Czecho-Slovakia which will set the pattern for her future relations with other central European powers."]

CHURCHILL SEES NIAGARA

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP).—Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain, visited this hydro-electric power center and pre-war mecca of honeymooners briefly today before departing for an unannounced destination.

The English war leader motored into the United States from Niagara Falls, Ont., after spending an hour and a half viewing the world famed cataract, Queen Victoria park and the rapids of the Niagara river. He boarded his special six car train shortly after arriving in this country.

Dam Buster Bats in Place of Churchill

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

QUEBEC, Aug. 12.—A dam buster batted for Winston Churchill today while the prime minister was visiting Niagara Falls.

The dam buster is Wing Comdr. Guy Gibson, an apple cheeked youngster who led the British air raid that wrecked the Moehne and Eder dams in Germany last May 17. He kept Quebec in the news by telling his simple, dramatic story.

Tomorrow, if Quebec's 150,000 citizens do right by him, he should have a ride in one of the lofty, scarlet, open street cars that are used on gala occasions.

Takes Part in 174 Raids.

Dam Buster Gibson was facing a press conference such as Churchill draws, and telling how the prime minister brought him along, when some one asked:

"What does Mr. Churchill call you?"

"He calls me 'Dam Buster!'" Gibson replied proudly, drawing chuckles and applause.

He modestly admitted that he had taken part in 174 operations over enemy territory and won the highest honors Great Britain can bestow. He wasn't permitted to tell much of the dam busting itself, but he said he had set the date for it and knew "our losses would be high."

In one raid, he said, the Germans shot both rudders off his plane, but he brought it back. "You can bring them back by the throttle, you know," he explained.

Believes Nazis Slipping.

Dam Buster Gibson believes German morale is dropping, but he praised the Germans as fighters.

"Can they be put out of the war by bombing?" he was asked.

Dam Buster said he was summoned to London on Aug. 3 and Mr. Churchill brought him to America to tell Canadian and American flyers his experiences. Today was his 25th birthday. He sent his wife, who works in a British war factory, a present—perfume.

Mrs. Churchill Goes on Sightseeing Tour of Own

QUEBEC, Aug. 12 (AP).—Mrs. Winston Churchill did not accompany her husband on his trip to Niagara Falls. Canadian officials announced tonight Mrs. Churchill had gone sightseeing near here, instead. She went to Kent house, residence of a former duke of Kent, to view Montmorency falls and then on to the Isle of Orleans in the St. Lawrence river.

LA GUARDIA HAS N. Y. IN KNOTS BY DEED OF 'DARING'

New York, Aug. 12 [Special].—Air raid police details had a field day blasting on their sirens today in seeing how fast they could make millions of New Yorkers take cover in the city's first rush hour practice air raid alarm.

The raid, which lasted 44½ minutes, was Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's promise of "something daring." It came at 5:15 p. m. as thousands of shops and offices were disgorging armies of workers.

At 5:30 p. m. when the red warning sounded, all traffic halted and passengers aboard subway trains in the fetid underground tunnels were trapped between stops or jammed like sardines on station platforms amid the sticky summer heat.

FBI Is Closing In on Kidnaper and Small Boy

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Agents of the FBI were reported close on the vagabond trail of Mrs. Pat Novak in the Springfield area last night. Mrs. Novak is believed to be the kidnaper of Howard Freeman, 2 years old, the son of a woman by whom she was befriended.

Mrs. Novak's straggling movements southward have been traced since Saturday, when she was leaving a transport truck at Altona, Ill., with young Howard, who appeared to be well and unharmed. Her path next was picked up at Galesburg, from where she traveled southward on route 41 to Abingdon in Knox county by hitch-hiking on transport trucks.

Two Eat in Abingdon.

In Abingdon, the bleached blond young woman, who also is sought by the FBI as a material witness in an investigation of a vice ring in La Salle county, ate in a restaurant with the tow-haired youngster. Employes of the restaurant identified pictures of both Mrs. Novak and the child. She is believed to have gone further south and is now somewhere in the Springfield vicinity.

It also was reported last evening that Mrs. Novak's latest husband, Stanley Novak, a member of the army engineers, is stationed at Camp Ellis, 12 miles from Lewiston.

The baby was kidnaped Friday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Mildred Callahan, 2904 Madison street, where he had been placed by his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Freeman, 3538 Monroe street, a waitress. Mrs. Novak picked up the child in a large, black automobile driven by an unidentified man on the pretense that she and Mrs. Freeman were going to take him to the doctor's.

Played Good Samaritan.

On the previous Monday, Mrs. Freeman took Mrs. Novak, who professed to be penniless and homeless, into her home at the request of a mutual friend. Despite Mrs. Novak's insistence, Mrs. Freeman refused to allow her new acquaintance to take care of the boy Friday. Instead she put him in charge of Mrs. Callahan.

"I thought Mrs. Novak was insisting on taking care of Butch [the baby's nickname] to try to repay me for giving her lodgings," Mrs. Freeman said yesterday. "I didn't want to burden her."

Reached last night in Pekin, Fred Halford, special agent in charge of the Springfield office of the FBI, said the Springfield office has been working on the case for days and has been checking all angles in that vicinity.

War Worker's Battered Body Found in Ditch

Emil B. Geiger.

Police last night studied details of a dispute between two brothers and a sister over division of their father's estate for a clew to the slaying of Emil B. Geiger, 42 years old, 4312 West 21st place, a war plant worker reputed to be worth about $50,000.

Geiger's body, with the back of Geiger's head and his forehead smashed by heavy blows and his face lacerated, was found about noon yesterday in a ditch on 123d street, a block and a half west of Crawford avenue, in Worth township.

$10,400 Is Missing.

Missing was $10,400 in cash he was reported to have withdrawn from two loop bank accounts on Aug. 4, with the explanation, police said, that "he didn't want his relatives to get the money."

Geiger's sister, Mrs. Katherine Pechota, 1918 Home avenue, Berwyn, who said she knew nothing about her brother's death, was questioned until after midnight in the county highway station at Willow Springs. Police released her and her husband, John, a bartender, and said a brother-in-law, Jerry Pechota, would be questioned today.

Geiger's brother, William, 50, and Lottie Serafin, 30, of 1429 South 48th court, Cicero, who said she was the slain man's fiancee, were questioned and released.

Lt. John Burns said it was possible that Geiger had been slain by robbers who had learned about his withdrawals of money.

Closes Checking Account.

The police learned that the slain man and his father held a joint checking account which Emil Geiger closed after the father's death. The amount of the account was not known, but the police surmised it equaled $10,400 which the son had deposited in savings accounts on July 10 and which he later withdrew.

In a will Jacob Geiger named Emil as his only heir to real estate valued at about $14,000. The older Geiger held the property in joint tenancy with his wife, Mary, about 70, and this circumstance made the will invalid under the law, the property automatically going to the widow.

The mother was adjudged insane 20 years ago and Emil and his sister were named co-conservators of the estate.

Geiger was employed as an inspector in the Hawthorne plant of the Western Electric company. Police, tracing his movements, said that when he quit work at 4:45 p. m. Wednesday he told a supervisor he would take yesterday off to "settle some funeral arrangements."

BOYS LACK CIGARETS, SO ONE TELEPHONES PLAINT TO GENERAL

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. ARMY IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 7 [Delayed].—Brig. Gen. R. W. Coane had an unexpected telephone call this afternoon. An unidentified enlisted man complained of the lack of cigarets—scarcer here than passenger pigeons in the United States.

A bunch of the boys were sitting around discussing smokes when one of them said, "I don't think the general knows we're out." A second said, "Maybe we ought to tell him." A corporal operating a switchboard remarked, "Why not put in a call?"

He reported later a voice had said, "Coane." The rest of the conversation ran like this:

"I told him, 'This is one of your men, sir.' He said, 'Yes,' and I said, 'We are out of cigarets for four or five days now, sir, and I thought you didn't know it.' He said he knew it and added, 'I'm doing my damndest to remedy the situation, son.' Well, we talked for seven minutes and he didn't try to trace the call or anything and seemed to take it in a good mood. Finally, I said 'We appreciate your listening, sir.' He laughed and I hung up."

I asked the corporal how he happened to make the call and he looked surprised and said, "This is a free army, isn't it?"

The cigarets are expected to arrive tomorrow.

ICKES EXPECTED TO TRIM VALUE OF A, B, C CARDS

Midwest Coupons Worth 3 Gallons.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes will take action which will bring about a slash in gasoline rations of 25 per cent at midnight Sunday in central and midwestern states, it was reported in authoritative OPA circles last night.

Gasoline ration A, B, and C coupons now worth four gallons each will be cut in value to three gallons each starting at 12:01 a. m. Monday. Paul M. O'Leary, fuel rationing chief of the office of price administration in Washington, is said to have disclosed the size and plans for the cut in a memorandum to regional OPA administrators.

West to Rockies.

The cut applies to all motorists between the eastern seaboard and the Rocky mountains but will not affect the far west. It will institute the "share the misery" program under which the middle west will be forced to restrict its motoring to the level of the eastern seaboard, where gasoline supplies have been meager.

News of the midwestern gasoline cut is expected to be broadcast by Ickes Sunday, O'Leary was said to have informed OPA officials. Ickes will explain the reduction as required by the gasoline famine and not by the need to save tires or automobiles.

Ickes said in Chicago last week that his function as petroleum administrator for war is simply to inform the office of price administration of the amount of gasoline available. He said it is then up to OPA to ration it in such a way as it deems will keep consumption within that amount.

Takes In Two Districts.

The OPA is expected to extend the restricted gasoline area from the eastern seaboard to districts 2 and 3 established by the petroleum administration for war. District No. 2 embraces the 15 midwestern states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Ohio, Kentucky, and Tennessee. District No. 3 includes Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama.

The OPA next Monday morning is expected to spread the news of the cut to gasoline retailers in the affected area and instruct them to segregate all gasoline coupons collected before Aug. 16.

Plan Enforcement Drive.

A broad enforcement drive by OPA investigators to prevent cheating will be launched Monday morning, O'Leary is said to have told the OPA officials.

Other changes expected to be announced Sunday follow:

1. One gallon of the A coupon will be for occupational driving and two gallons for non-occupational. At present, out of the 16 gallons a month allowed on the A card, six gallons are considered non-occupational.

2. The maximum amount which will be allowed motorists needing their cars in the "course of work" will be cut from 720 miles a month to 480 miles. This does not affect preferred motorists such as doctors, ministers, and war workers who receive C cards according to actual need but without a specific limitation. The reduced "course of work" ceiling will affect many salesmen and others who will lose their present C cards and will have to get along with a B ration.

3. Current B and C coupons will become invalid after Sept. 1. Most B and C books expire at that time anyway. Instructions will be released later on these renewals.

O'Leary Warns Investigators.

In the gasoline rationing enforcement drive, O'Leary is said to have cautioned OPA regional administrators against instructing investigators to seize surplus coupons from gasoline retailers. He said excess coupons are not necessarily evidence of violations.

This indicated that the OPA expects to find gasoline stations loaded with coupons left by motorists who will try to evade the Aug. 15 deadline by leaving coupons as credit against future purchases. Such a practice is illegal under OPA rules.

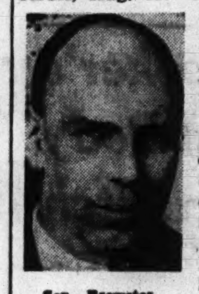
DEAL IN AFRICAN WHEAT AT $2.10 STIRS SENATORS

Gasoline Waste by U. S. Agencies Hit Also.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 12.—Concern over the American authorities' policy on the purchase of North African wheat and the prodigal use of gasoline for 7,000 civilian cars, most of which are not engaged in military activities, was expressed here today by Sen. Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.].



Sen. Brewster.

Brewster and Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.] are minority members of a five man senatorial committee touring the world battle fronts and investigating the facilities of the various armed forces. Only four members of the committee were present today, Lodge having gone to Sicily, by virtue of his military experience, to inspect the fighting front.

Like Treatment of Yanks.

The entire committee, including Chairman Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.], Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.], and Sen. Albert B. Chandler [D., Ky.], praised the perfect coordination between the British and Americans, expressed satisfaction with treatment extended to Yanks in Britain, and spoke highly of the maneuvers they saw at Lt. Gen. Mark Clark's 5th army invasion training center. The committee, which has visited Newfoundland, Labrador, Iceland, Britain, and Africa, plans to continue eastward, finishing the investigation in the Pacific area.

It was Brewster who first expressed concern over the operation of certain civilian agencies, such as lend-lease, North African Economic board, and others. In particular he mentioned the policy expressed to the committee by NAEB Director Alexander B. Royce.

"I was startled to discover that NAEB has contracted for part of a 3 million ton North African wheat crop at $2.10 a bushel which is 56 cents more than we are paying our farmers," Brewster said. "Most of this crop comes from large producers using American methods, American machinery, and cheap labor.

Not Needed by Military.

"It isn't wanted by the military, according to the best American military authority here. American money should not be used to buy wheat for an unknown purpose at 50 cents more than we are paying our farmers."

Brewster said the committee was told by NAEB that buying this wheat was to acquire a stock pile. The price he said was set by the French authorities, after two recent price raises without the consent of the Americans.

The senator said he did not know how much of the crop had been contracted for but that he understood 10 to 20 per cent of the crop is a surplus over local needs. The committee, he added, was concerned also about the discrepancy between a 10 per cent increase in the price of wheat and the 25 per cent increase in the cost of bread, which recently went from four to five francs a loaf.

Brewster called attention to the gasoline shortage in the United States, particularly along the east coast.

He said, "The most strenuous measures possible should be taken to see that the gasoline shipped here from America, where we glady go short to help the war effort, be used only for military activities. We've been assured by the military that they are trying to straighten this out."

7,000 Civilian Autos Run.

Brewster said the committee's attention was called to this when it learned that 7,000 civilian automobiles were permitted to circulate here and observed a great number of them on the streets.

New Dealer Mead, who lost the Democratic nomination for governor of New York despite President Roosevelt's blessing, said he too found "unification of effort among the civilian authorities not what I'd hoped for." He also said he felt that the wheat crop purchase should not be completed.

Mead added that Royce thought his own reasons for the purchase were defensible and said they were to acquire wheat for future needs and save shipping, thus aiding the domestic front. Mead said the contract was made without local pressure; in fact, the French tried to discourage Royce from doing this.

Royce said the wheat was to be paid for by reverse lend-lease.

Washington in Dark.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—Gasoline is doled out to French North African civilians under rigid controls, officials of the army-navy petroleum board said today after Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] asserted in Algiers that imported United States gasoline was used extravagantly.

Office of economic warfare officials, however, had "no information" on the purchase of Algerian wheat at $2.10 per bushel which Sen. Brewster also mentioned.

Morris S. Rosenthal, assistant director of OEW, said the procurement division of the North African economic board had not reported on any deal to acquire wheat in Africa.

HIGHER DIPLOMATIC STATUS FOR MURPHY IN AFRICA SOUGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 12.—The creation of a diplomatic post in North Africa to coordinate all civil affairs with cabinet rank similar to the British resident minister or ambassador was urged today by members of the senatorial committee investigating army facilities on world battle fronts.

It was suggested by Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.] and seconded by minority member Sen. Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.]. They said it would be a question of appointing a new civilian affairs coordinator or giving more authority to Robert Murphy, President Roosevelt's personal representative and chief civil affairs officer of Gen. Eisenhower's staff.

It long has been felt by observers that Murphy operated at a disadvantage to the British resident minister, Harold MacMillan.

ITALIAN POLICE SEIZE MURDERER OF MATTEOTTI

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 12 (AP).—The Swiss telegraphic agency reported today from Milan that Italian police had arrested Amerigo Dumini, one of the murderers of the Italian Socialist leader Giacomo Matteotti, slain in 1924 when Mussolini was struggling for power.

Dumini was a Fascist strong arm man and with his accomplices was sentenced to a long term in prison. The Fascists, however, freed him three months after his trial and he went to live in Derna, Libya, until driven out by the British occupation.

The agency dispatch from Milan said Dumini, with 250,000 lire and eight false identity cards, had been cruising about in the Basso-Sarca region in an automobile seeking to escape.

NAZIS REPORTED FLEEING SICILY; ALLIES ROLL ON

Yankees Again Land Behind Enemy.

earlier this week to outflank the San Agata-Cesaro defense line. A battle still is raging.

A dispatch from a correspondent with the American 7th army said the "leap frogging" task force seized prisoners and the main body of the Americans, striking frontally from the west, had closed the seven mile gap and pocketed the garrison of the cape.

This spectacular operation developed as American vanguards were believed to have pushed to within three miles of Randazzo, and the British, mopping up two villages on eastern Mount Etna, moved to within 10 miles of the axis supply port of Taormina.

Enemy transport, railways, roads, and bridges were attacked by allied aerial squadrons both in Sicily and southern Italy yesterday and United States Flying Fortresses in strong force bombed the royal arms factory, other plants, trains, and other targets at Terni, 50 miles north of Rome.

A headquarters statement said the damage at Terni was severe. A Rome broadcast said there were 565 casualties, including 72 dead.

Other allied planes sank four enemy vessels, knocked out 21 enemy trucks, battered barracks, fired a Milazzo ammunition dump, and attacked railways and bridges of both Sicily and southern Italy, striking at Rosarno and Randazzo, Angitola and Catanzaro. One raider failed to return.

Repel Bayonet Charge.

The new American amphibious operation developed as the troops of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. consolidated their gains in the area of San Marco d'Alunzio, between San Agata and Cape Orlando. It placed American troops 40 miles west of Messina, near the mouth of the Naso river.

Guns of the escort fleet and planes ripped German beach patrols as they rushed to engage the infantrymen. Despite the lack of surprise, the troops fought off the counter-attacks and developed the beachhead.

As soon as the fighting started, the American warships trained their heavy guns on German troop concentrations and opened up. At the same instant American fighter-bomber squadrons dived on the enemy with all their guns blazing.

Plowing thru the surf, the infantry men met a German bayonet charge and beat it back. The beach was a scene of furious fighting as the Germans counter-attacked, but the Americans cut their way thru and advanced toward higher ground.

Virtually the only German escape route would be down the main highway along the north coast, which it is assumed the Americans have cut.

The Germans were fighting a strong rear guard action on the east coast, but the British 8th army driving toward Messina captured a village south of Prajola and the village of Zafferana Etna, on the eastern slopes of Mt. Etna about five miles from fallen Guardia.

FRENCH POPULATION DROP OF 500,000 IN 4 YEARS REPORTED

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 12 (AP).—A Vichy dispatch quoting the newspaper Petit Dauphinois at Grenoble, France, said today that France's population had dropped off nearly 500,000 in the last four years.

The dispatch set forth that in 1942 there were 544,673 births and 638,298 deaths, the latter including 38,169 children less than one year old, and that since 1939 the excess of deaths over births was 496,031. One of the most important factors in the decline was a tremendous increase in tuberculosis, from malnutrition as the result of war conditions, the paper said.

Infant mortality has climbed at a great rate. In 1939, the rate was 63 per 1,000, in 1940, 91 per 1,000; in 1941 the rate was 75 per 1,000, and the next year 70. The death rate has been especially high in cities where lack of food is making both children and adults easy victims of disease.

MICHIGAN AVENUE AT RANDOLPH

OPEN DEFIANCE OF BADOGLIO'S REGIME GROWS

Break in Official Family Narrowly Averted.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 12.—Open resistance to the Badoglio government grew today as the premier refused this morning to receive several appointees named during the last three days who had come to Rome "for consultation" prior to accepting their posts.

A temporary "armistice" avoided an open break just before noon when Leopold Piccardi, minister of industry, commerce and labor, sought out the delegation in the Palazzo Chigi and gave the members a "comprehensive review of the situation" while refusing to answer in the name of Badoglio on questions of policy—the objective of their visit.

Police Quell Demonstrations.

Leaders of the delegation, understood to number about 25 well known industrialists and syndicalists, were Count Filippo, Viscount Di Modrone, commissioner of agriculture; Sen. Mazzini, commissioner of the confederation of industrial employers, and Bruno Buozzi, newly appointed commissioner of industrial workers. Buozzi's "defection" from the left wing coalition to set up the group known as the Liberal Socialists, led to bitter fights in Milan last week. Buozzi's group was the only one which pronounced itself "satisfied with the explanations" and returned to work.

Failure of the rest of the delegation to announce a decision, however, gave rise to varied interpretations in Milan and Turin, where demonstrations of "solidarity with our spokesmen" had to be quelled by the police. Late tonight a report from a reliable source in Milan announced "a crisis and compromise on the entire internal situation must be reached within the next 48 hours or there may be trouble."

Assails Dissenters.

Sen. Ricci, minister of interior, in an order of the day to the prefects of Italy, called upon them to "resist the forces of anti-nationalism which are spreading, and repress with all necessary firmness all attempts at public manifestations. We must reëstablish the authority of the law and repress without mercy all elements of disunion while we adapt the Italian people to a new life inspired by devotion to the king and country under the leadership of Premier Badoglio."

This appeal, however, evoked a bitter editorial in the Lavoro Italiano, successor to the defunct Lavoro Fascista, which sounded a pointed warning to Badoglio to the effect that continuation of the war means suicide to the country while it may pave the way for an armed rebellion.

Refugee and Liberation Chiefs

Economics Professor.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—The state department tonight announced the appointment of Patrick Malin, of Joplin, Mo., as vice director of the intergovernmental committee on refugees.

Malin, formerly professor of economics at Swarthmore college, was chief of the chemicals and drugs branch of the office of price administration last year and at present is deputy chief of the division of program requirements of the office of foreign relief and rehabilitation operations.

The executive committee of the intergovernmental committee on refugees met in London Aug. 4 to consider recommendations of the Anglo-American conference on refugee problems held last April in Bermuda, the announcement added.

College President.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—The state department announced tonight the appointment of Herman B. Wells, president of Indiana university, as deputy director of the office of foreign economic coördination [OFEC] charged with planning economic activities relating to areas liberated from enemy control.

In the OFEC Mr. Wells will direct the organization's work in liberated areas and coördinate the work of other civilian agencies in this field within the framework already established by President Roosevelt.

He will have supervision of area committees and their secretariats.

The OFEC was established by Secretary of State Cordell Hull last June. Assistant Secretary of State Dean Acheson was named its director.

INFORMER GETS A $130,000 FEE IN A FRAUD SUIT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 12 (AP).—A $130,000 settlement went today to Harry L. Marcus, 36 year old attorney, for digging up an old Civil war "informer's suit" law and prosecuting a group of electrical contractors who had pleaded no defense to charges of "bid rigging" on jobs in which federal funds were involved.

The government also received $130,000 under the agreement approved by the United States District court today. The defendants were the Pittsburgh Electrical Contractors' association and 41 individual contractors and firms.

The law provides that informers can sue for twice the amount involved in a proved fraudulent contract involving federal funds and receive one-half of the award.

RUSSIANS DRIVE INTO KHARKOV'S SUBURBAN AREA

Reach Point Only 5 Miles from Ukraine Base.

LONDON, Aug. 13 [Friday]—(AP).—Russian shock troops stormed thru the suburbs of Kharkov yesterday to within five miles of the Ukraine base from the northeast, while other columns in the south smashed into the strong point of Chuguev where the Germans are in retreat, a Moscow war bulletin said today.

The Russian offensive against Kharkov—now in its eighth day—appeared on the verge of success as the Nazis retreated in disorder, leaving war material and prisoners in Russian hands.

Capture of Chuguev indicated Kharkov soon may fall, for altho it is 22 miles from the city, its capture in last winter's Russian offensive preceded the occupation of Kharkov. The Germans reoccupied the city later, however.

Escape Gap Periled.

The Russian midnight report, recorded by the soviet monitor, said the Germans were making a bitter rear guard defense in the Kharkov area with battalions just arrived from Germany.

Only one of Kharkov's eight railways remained open and it appeared to have been disrupted by a heavy soviet bombing.

The Russian fighting rim, three-quarters of the way around Kharkov, moved in to take more than 20 villages yesterday and Red troops captured 100 trucks and 17 German tanks.

West of the city another Russian force was fanning out toward Poltava and Sumy, nearing the high water mark of their offensive last February. They took towns 65 miles west of Kharkov but still were 37 miles southeast of Lebedin, the farthest point reached last winter.

Drive Nearer to Bryansk.

Soviet bombers supported this drive by pounding Poltava, 35 miles south of the nearest Russian troops, on Wednesday night.

To the north, the Russians stormed to within 25 miles of Bryansk and 4.3 miles of Karachev, a railway point between Orel and Bryansk. Russian forces gained six to eight miles over all in their Bryansk offensive, capturing more than 100 villages, the war report said.

"While in the southern part of this sector [south and southwest of Vyazma], operations have not yet been concluded, the soviets were repulsed on all other fronts."

ALGIERS FRENCH START PROBE OF COLLABORATORS

Will Study Guilt of Axis Aids.

ALGIERS, Aug. 12 (AP).—The French committee of national liberation created today a special commission to begin immediately an investigation of the cases of Frenchmen who collaborated with the axis.

Not only public officials but private individuals such as lawyers, business men, newspaper men, and writers, suspected of having worked with the Germans and Italians prior to and after the allied landings in North Africa, will come under scrutiny.

Membership Secret.

The members of the commission have not yet been announced.

An explanatory statement said "the task of the commission is to invoke adequate sanctions against those elected persons, civil servants, or public agents who, since June 16, 1940, have by their acts or general attitude either favored the enterprises of the enemy, harmed the action of the united nations and resisting Frenchmen, attacked constitutional institutions or fundamental public liberties, or knowingly drew or sought to draw direct material benefit from the application of Vichy regulations."

Will Seek Order Givers.

The statement said the commission would act impartially and would seek only the "truly guilty," distinguishing between those who gave orders and those who merely executed them. It also indicated that a distinction would be made against men who "knowingly associated themselves with a policy surpassing their strict obligations."

Penalties for those convicted have not yet been established, but will be fixed according to the penal code of the French republic. In cases where treason is established, the death sentence is reported possible.

SEES U. S. LIVING LEVELS AT PEAK AFTER THE WAR

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP).—Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, arrived in Britain today and predicted the United States would embark on a period of widespread economic development after the war under a system of free enterprise.

He declared the standard of living would be even higher than in pre-war years.

Technological advances, development of synthetics, the demand for goods in a war ravaged world, and the technical skill of American labor will combine to produce post-war prosperity, he told a press conference.

Johnston foresaw the gradual adandonment of many government restrictions in peace years because Americans will weary of priorities and artificial controls.

BRITISH PLANES RAID GERMAN TARGETS; 25 FLYING FORTS DOWN

LONDON, Aug. 13 [Friday]—(AP).—British intruder planes were over the European continent last night and knocked down one German plane in France, it was announced officially today.

For a short time around midnight there was slight enemy activity over the coastal district of East Anglia in England, it also was announced. A few bombs were dropped, causing a little damage. There were no reports of casualties.

Yesterday Flying Forts smashed thru heavy German defenses in the Ruhr and Rhineland in daylight attacks on synthetic oil plants at Gelsenkirchen and Wesseling and industrial targets at Bonn, the first raids of the kind since the end of July.

Twenty-five of the four engined craft were lost, but it was announced that at least 20 enemy fighters were shot down by "forts" and that escorting Thunderbolts and Spitfires destroyed three more. Crews reported that targets in all three cities were left flaming.

GABLE SHOOTS FILMS AS NAZIS SHOOT HIS PLANE

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP).—Capt. Clark Gable, the former movie star, rode in the leading Flying Fortress of the 8th air force group which attacked Gelsenkirchen today and returned to base unhurt, altho enemy anti-aircraft fire cut 15 holes in his ship.

Gable stood during the six hour flight between the pilot, Maj. Theodore R. Milton of Washington, D. C., and the co-pilot, Lt. John B. Carraway of Raleigh, N. C., shooting movies for a gunnery training film.

The one time movie idol declined to comment on his experiences but the ball turret gunner on his ship, Staff Sgt. William J. Miles of New York City, said: "The anti-aircraft fire was very intense over the target, but we rode it out very nicely."

GERMANY BANS SWEDISH GOODS BOUND FOR ITALY

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 12 (AP).—Germany has cut off Sweden's commercial trade with Italy by refusing to transport Swedish goods on Germany's railways, an official statement disclosed today.

The statement came a week after Sweden announced the transport of German troops and war materials over Swedish railways would be discontinued this month.

Sweden principally shipped Italy cellulose for artificial silk, which was processed into textiles which Italy exported to Sweden. Sweden also received fruit from Italy.

panied her father as an official aide. It was her first visit to America.

Few Recognize Party.

The Churchill party was recognized by comparitively few along the route because of the secrecy surrounding the trip. Not more than 100 persons, most of them children, were on hand to watch the British leader board his train on the American side.

A crimson garbed honor guard of the Royal Canadian mounted police stood at attention when Churchill stepped from his train on the Canadian side of the gorge.

The Churchill motorcade drove past United States customs and immigration officers without stopping for inspection. The prime minister gave the offirers a salute, beamed, and they grinned back.

Churchill and his party arrived at Niagara Falls, Ont., early in the day after an overnight train trip which brought the prime minister from Quebec where he had conferred with Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

Aids Still in Conference.

QUEBEC, Aug. 12 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill temporarily shifted his base of operations from Quebec to the United States today, while British, Canadian, and an advance guard of American military men continued a review here of the master war strategy of the allies.

Churchill and President Roosevelt are expected to meet in Quebec later on for concentrated war discussions and a meeting of the British-American chiefs of staff.

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of Canada, with whom Churchill had been in consultation here for two days, remained in Quebec, along with the ranking military, naval and air advisers the two statesmen had brought along with them.

The only word during the day from Canadian officials was that military talks still were going on during Churchill's absence.

The time when the prime minister and Mr. Roosevelt will come to Quebec for war councils cannot be disclosed.

TWIN ARTILLERY GUN HELPS TO DEFEND BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 12. — The six pounder twin coast artillery gun has an important role in Britain's beach defenses, it was revealed for the first time today. The guns, it was disclosed, are mounted in turrets having a turning radius of 360 degrees so the crews do not get in each other's way. Each gun is loaded from the outer side, firing high explosive projectiles with a range of more than 5,000 yards and a high muzzle velocity.

Altho it has the same caliber as the British anti-tank gun, it has little in common with that weapon and was designed primarily for dealing with light coastal motor boats and small torpedo boats.

The six pounder gun was in action in Malta when Italian torpedo craft and E-boats tried to attack Valetta harbor two years ago. Eight attacking torpedo craft and five E-boats were reported destroyed in that attack.

WASHINGTON ADMITS RUSSIAN STATEMENT COMES AS SURPRISE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Official Washington maintained strict silence tonight on the Russian Tass news agency's statement that the soviet government was not invited to the forthcoming Roosevelt-Churchill conference in Quebec, but the announcement admittedly came as a surprise to capital circles.

[Officials of the conference in Quebec last night declined to comment on Tass' announcement.]

The Russian statement was particularly puzzling to capital observers in view of President Roosevelt's remarks at his press conference yesterday. When the President was asked whether Premier Stalin or other soviet representatives would attend, he replied he did not think so, but added that did not mean that the allies would not be awfully glad to have them. He then added that the meeting would be strictly Anglo-American.

The blunt soviet announcement that no invitation had been received was regarded in the capital as a further indication of a widening rift between the American-British segment of the allies and the soviets. Fears have been expressed increasingly that the soviets have parted company with Britain and the United States on the question of peace terms for Germany.

POISONING KILLS PATIENT.

Miss Bertha Goroway, 32 years old, daughter of Mrs. Hannah Goroway, 516 South Kostner avenue, and a patient in Elgin State hospital, died in the hospital last night of poisoning from an overdose of sedative, apparently self administered. She had been in a coma 60 hours. A jury impaneled by L. Victor Peterson of Kane county was unable to determine how the drug was obtained.

HUNDREDS DIE IN HAMBURG'S RAID SHELTERS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 12 (AP).—Dispatches from Germany said today that hundreds of persons suffocated in air raid shelters during the heavy bombing of Hamburg and that the city's entire shelter system would have to be revamped.

Authorities said fires caused by incendiary bombs drew oxygen from the air raid shelters, a correspondent of the Stockholm Tidningen reported.

Official reports from Oslo, meanwhile, said the Germans had requisitioned all school buildings in the Norwegian capital and near-by Aker, forcing a shutdown of the public school system. The Nazi occupation authorities removed all furnishings from the buildings. No explanation was given.

HOW SQUADRON CHIEF'S LETTER INSPIRED FLYERS

We're Fighting for Right, He Wrote Each One.

(This is the sixth article in a series which tells the story of the "Grim Reapers"—the famous Fighting Squadron VF-10, United States navy air force. It has been told to Stanley Johnston, noted Tribune war correspondent, by one of the Reapers who prefers to be anonymous. It presents a vivid and personalized account of great sea and air actions in the Pacific.)

BY A "GRIM REAPER."
[Member of Fighting Squadron VF-10, United States Navy.]
As told to STANLEY JOHNSTON.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

After supper on the night of Oct. 24, 1942, two days before the battle of Santa Cruz, Lt. Comdr. James H. [Jimmy] Flatley, leader of The Grim Reapers, sat in his room aboard the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Enterprise, writing a letter to the members of his squadron.

A Japanese fleet larger than our own was approaching from the north. Tomorrow we expected to be meeting in the air a tough and wily foe. Most of us were untried in air combat. There was no question that some of us would fail to return.

As Jimmy Flatley described his feelings afterward, he had no worry about our ability to handle most combat situations. He had great confidence in our Grumman Wildcat fighting planes.

Worried About Boys.

"But," he said, "I began to worry about the boys spiritually. Many were very young. Altho strong in mind and body they were just between ages. They were no longer boys, of course, but it would be several years before they reached maturity.

"Being a practicing Christian myself, I wanted to complete my job. The ship's chaplain was there, naturally, to give these young men comfort if they should approach him. But I wanted to do something more for them if I could."

Flatley's letter was addressed to us collectively. He had a yeoman type it and deliver copies to us so we could read it in the privacy of our rooms. He realized this would be better than calling us together for a talk.

His Letter to Squadron.

"Doubtless you have been reared a Christian, even tho you profess no specific belief," the letter began. "All Christianity vocally or audibly or tacitly acknowledges there is a Supreme Being, usually referred to as God. The Bible tells us God is our Maker; that He gave us a free will and a conscience. He also gave us Ten Commandments to guide us in our daily relations with our fellow man.

"He told us that if we obeyed these commandments to the best of our ability we would be rewarded after death by being received into heaven and, conversely, if we deliberately disobeyed them we would be justly punished.

"Now God in His wisdom knows the weakness and frailty of the human being. He knows the many temptations and pitfalls that beset us. He only asks us to do our level best to keep His commandments. However, we are not perfect and every man is guilty of failure in a greater or lesser degree."

A Little Bewildering.

Some of us wondered just what Comdr. Flatley was getting at when we reached this stage of his letter. We wondered what it had to do with killing all the Japs we could get into our ring sights the next day. We read on:

"Therefore, in His justice, God is willing to forgive if the transgressor, having failed, is truly sorry for his sin and resolves never to commit the sin again."

We wondered what we had done now. Then we got it. And it hit us like a ton of bricks.

"What is all this leading up to? Only this. We are fighting a war today against enemies who for the most part are not Christians; who deny the existence of God—the Nazis and the Japs.

The Meaning Comes to Us.

"We love peace and the fruit of peace. We fight heathen enemies who not only seek economic gain, but, if they are victorious, would stamp out Christianity.

"Ever since Christ's birth, 2,000 years ago, one ruler or another has tried to stamp out Christianity. So far no one has been successful. If we believe in God, and we do; if we believe in His infallible wisdom and justice—and we should—then we can rightly ask ourselves this question: 'Why are we being subjected to this world-wide conflict?'

"The only answer, both from a historical and a theological analysis, is that, as Christians, we have failed. . . . We have disregarded His commandments. Our wills have become weak, our consciences hardened. We have offended God and, as Christian nations, are little better than heathens. . . . We have become hypocrites, professing one thing and practicing another.

"What's the answer? The answer is a return to God. How can we return? By getting down on our knees and praying, or just praying if we don't believe in kneeling; by professing, maybe for the first time, our belief in God."

The Grim Reapers were completely absorbed by now. It all was so true. There was an admiration, too, for Jimmy Flatley's tact of approach. I don't know exactly how we would have taken it if he had given it to us in public.

But in the privacy of our rooms it was profound. Then came the last lines of what Jimmy Flatley had to say:

". . . by professing a love for Him Who made us. By asking for blessings and particularly for strength to do our duty bravely. And that duty today is to meet our enemies, who also are God's enemies, courageously and without fear, secure in the knowledge we are fighting for what is right."

Includes Six Prayers.

Jimmy Flatley's letter to us ended with suggested prayers. There were six of them, beginning with the Lord's prayer, all written out in case we had forgotten them or never had known them.

This Reaper can't speak for the others, but he can say for himself that each one of those prayers was said that night. One thought that stayed in the mind and has been saved for the last was Jimmy's quotation of Abraham Lincoln's:

"I'm not interested in having God on my side. I only want to be on God's side."

After we had read the message we gathered for a last talk before turning in for the night. None of us made any allusion to what Comdr. Flatley had written. But he knew we all had read it.

It may have been a good thing for some of us that the next day did not bring the battle we had expected. It gave us time to think over what Flatley had said and if we hadn't gotten it before, we had when the action did start.

And when it did start Lt. Stanley W. [Swede] Vejtasa became our most distinguished Reaper. This was in the battle of Santa Cruz on Oct. 26, 1942.

Americans Raid Japanese Islands

METHODS OF HANDLING FOOD ARE DISCUSSED AT ARMY CONFERENCE

In search of methods of obtaining more efficient food handling, the army is conducting a food service conference in the Palmer house for 125 officers representing all service commands, the air forces, quartermaster general's office, and field market centers. Speakers yesterday emphasized the training of personnel, functions of the quartermaster corps and the part of bakeries in the food program. In the army's fiscal year ended July 31, 7,799 mess officers were trained in practical mess supervision, 17,532 mess sergeants were graduated from schools, 88,742 cooks completed courses in army cookery, 6,090 enlisted men became general bakers and 1,038 more were trained in pastry baking, according to Lt. Col. W. E. Barksdale, chief of the cooks' and bakers' subsection of the quartermaster general's office.

45 JAPS IN CAMP WHITTLE ENEMY WARSHIP MODELS

Forty-five American born Japanese who are held among 12,600 Japanese in the Gila relocation camp at Rivers, Ariz., have been entrusted by the navy with work of carving scale models of all types of enemy war vessels, E. J. Utz, chief of operations for the war relocation authority, disclosed in Chicago yesterday.

Utz said he watched the model makers at work when he inspected the camp. The ship models they carve from blueprints are used for identification and training purposes. None of the whittlers, however, knows the identity of the ship he is reproducing in miniature.

The navy also is employing both alien and native born Japanese in centers near Cody, Wyo., and Amache, Colo., to make silk screen type display posters.

JAPAN'S KURILE ISLANDS RAIDED AGAIN BY YANKS

Bombers Fly 1,000 Mi. to Pound Defenses.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—Giant Liberator bombers, striking out 1,000 miles along the northern road to Tokio, blasted Japanese defenses in the Kurile Islands for the second time, the navy announced today, and shot down at least 5 of a group of 40 enemy fighter planes which attacked them.

Two of the nine army bombers which made the successful raid are missing, the navy bulletin said.

The first raid of the war on the Kuriles, the northernmost of which lies about 1,200 miles northeast of Tokio, was made July 19. The navy fixed the time of the second one at 8:11 a. m. today, east longitude time, which would be 5:11 p. m. yesterday, Chicago war time.

Specific Targets Not Disclosed.

"Numeous hits were scored in the designated target areas," the announcement said. "About 40 enemy fighters intercepted, of which five were shot down and others probably destroyed or damaged. Two of the United States bombers are missing."

No information was given out regarding the specific place or places attacked, but the official mention of "target areas" suggested more than one base may have been raided. The only publicized enemy base in the northern islands is on the northern end of Paramushiro, which lies directly south of Russia's Kamchatka peninsula. Paramushiro was the target of the first United States raid on the Kuriles.

Japs Tell of Raid First.

The Japanese had reported the second attack several hours before the navy released the news. They claimed the bombers had been repulsed.

Word of operations in the Aleutians, from which the American bombers took off for their long over water operation, still was lacking. It has been 14 days since any reported attacks were made on Kiska Island, last enemy outpost east of the Kuriles in the North Pacific.

CORPORAL HELD BY JAPS SENDS MOTHER A CARD

A postcard from Corp. Clifford J. Newhardt has been received by his mother, Mrs. Charles A. Chandler of 237 Olmstead road, Riverside, saying that he is interned in a Japanese prison camp in the Philippines. He wrote that he was well and asked that she give his love to all the family.

"The signature is really Clifford's," Mrs. Chandler said yesterday. It was the first word she had from Corp. Newhardt since Miss Molly Peterson, a nurse who was evacuated from Corregidor two days before its fall, sent her a letter which Chandler had asked the nurse to take with her.

Lt. George D. Couch, 27 years old, son of Mrs. John H. Couch, 4436 North Maplewood avenue, is a Japanese prisoner in the Philippines, Mrs. Couch was informed by post card yesterday. Couch was employed in Manila as a civilian when the Japanese attacked and was commissioned by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kuncl, 1628 South St. Louis avenue, yesterday received a Japanese army post card signed by their son, Lt. Clarence J. Kuncl, 25 years old, who was captured at Bataan. Lt. Kuncl had been in Manila since April, 1941, and was with a Filipino anti-tank company.

WOMAN DIES AFTER CRASH.

Mrs. Bessie Kimpick, 55 years old, 3416 Union avenue, a widow, who apparently was uninjured when the car in which she was riding collided with a taxi at 33d street and Wentworth avenue Wednesday night, died yesterday in her home. Police said either shock or a heart attack may have been the cause.

BRITISH VOTERS SPURN TRUCE ON POLITICS: RUE

New Party's Rise a Sign of Dissatisfaction.

BY LARRY RUE.
[London correspondent of the The Tribune, home on leave.]

The present house of commons, on which the British public is relying to preserve democratic government in a total war, is itself an anomaly. Elected for a four year term in 1935, it has prolonged its own life, year by year, and there are suggestions that it will continue to do so even some years after the war so that the nation can present and carry out a unified peace plan. New faces appear from time to time, the result of by-elections held to fill vacancies resulting from the death, resignation or elevation of members to the house of lords.

In the by-election races, the coalition government nominates a candidate from the party of the M. P. whose seat has been vacated and he is supported by all the political machines of the coalition—Conservative, Liberal, and Labor. In addition, the parliamentary leaders, Prime Minister Churchill, Air Minister Archibald Sinclair, and Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee support the candidate with impassioned appeals for a demonstration of national unity.

Public Shies from Truce.

Nevertheless, outsiders have been winning in some elections and putting up a sufficient fight in others to indicate that the public is not accepting the political truce, by and large. The opposition to government candidates in by-elections has been sufficiently strong to give confirmation to a recent assertion by W. M. Aitken, also known as Lord Beaverbrook, that the house of commons no longer represents the electorate and does not reflect the political sentiment of the nation.

Most disturbing to supporters of the political truce was the founding of the Commonwealth party in July, 1942. Formed by Richard Acland, then a Liberal M. P., the party has proclaimed radical views.

J. B. Priestly, author, and Vernon Bartlett, Laborite M. P. and writer, originally joined this party but resigned later, leaving Acland in control. The party now claims a membership of 10,000 with 250 branches thruout the country. Its program, outlined at the party's first conference last month, calls for the nationalization of all land, credit, and investment institutions, as well as public utilities, essential industries and large scale distributive enterprises. The nationalization scheme provides for "reasonable compensation" for present property owners.

Urges Europe Federation.

The Commonwealth party rejects the Atlantic charter, which guarantees the restoration of sovereignty to European states, and proposes in its place the formation of a "Democratic federation of Europe."

This new party has proved itself surprisingly strong. For, altho it has won only one of nine by-elections in which it contested, the votes cast for its candidates exceeded 60 per cent of the total polled by government candidates.

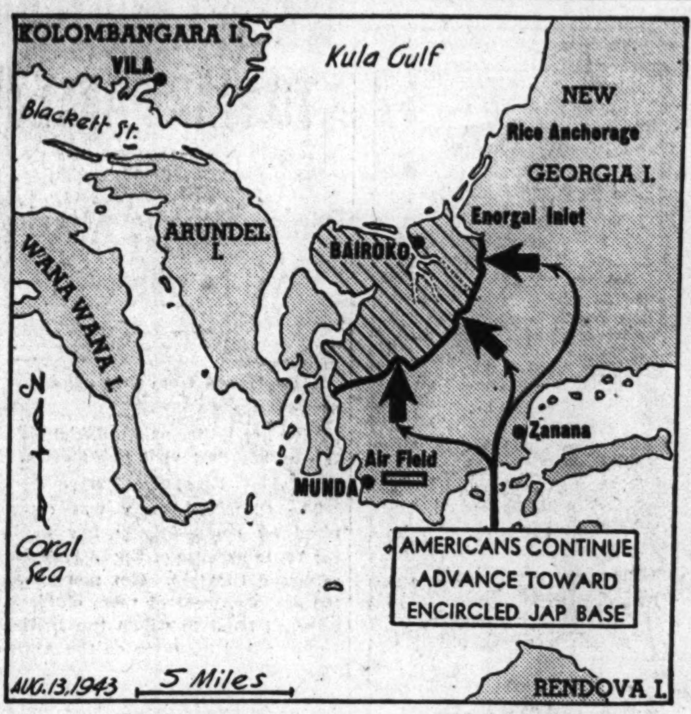
To date, the Commonwealth party has opposed no Labor candidate and has failed to defeat a Conservative, but the Conservative party, which is led by the prime minister, has expressed concern over the sharp reduction in its previous majorities in contests in which Acland's candidates have participated.

Gives Up Estates.

Acland is from an old, rich family. He recently deeded over the family estates in Devonshire to the National Trust, saying that he could not advocate a nationalization of land program without proving himself sincere in this matter. He now proposes to ignore by-elections and concentrate on building up a strong political machine for the general election. He hopes by the end of the year to have 70 prospective candidates groomed for the polls.

The Commonwealth party's showing in elections is regarded as a symptom of the dissatisfaction of the people with the present electoral truce and their representation in parliament. If it gains in strength, as it seems to be doing, it may force a general election even before the war is over. At least Herbert Morrison, the home security minister, has envisaged that possibility in announcing the formation of new election lists,

Press on Toward Encircled Japs



The battle situation on New Georgia Island.

Jungle Troops Slash Nearer Bairoko.

ALLIED HDQ. IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 13 [Friday]—(AP).—The advance of United States jungle troops, closing a trap on the encircled Japanese garrison at Bairoko harbor, on New Georgia Island, continues, the high command said today.

Bairoko, on the Kula gulf coast of New Georgia, is the only remaining point of Japanese resistance on that central Solomons island.

Advices from Adm. William F. Halsey, commander of the South Pacific forces, did not supply details on the new advances, made in bad weather. Latest reports had placed American forces within two miles of the harbor.

Yanks Keep Up Blockade.

Despite bad weather, light United States surface craft maintained a blockade against any sea aid for the trapped garrison. The American ships intercepted and are believed to have sunk a small Japanese auxiliary vessel at night in narrow Blackett strait leading to Bairoko and the Jap air base of Vila, on Kolombangara Island.

At the other end of the 750 mile battle arc, where the allied objective is Salamaua, New Guinea, activity was limited to artillery exchanges.

Raiders Defy Bad Weather.

All over the Solomons area bad weather hindered air operations, but reconnaissance planes got in some blows northwest of Australia. Fuel fires so intense they could be seen for 60 miles were touched off by four engined bombers which attacked Kaimana, on Dutch New Guinea, far northwest of Salamaua. In the same sector lighter bombers started fires on the enemy airdrome at Timeoka.

Other reconnaissance bombers attacked the isthmus on which Salamaua extends into the Huon gulf of northeastern New Guinea. The jungle battlefront in that area is five miles below Salamaua at Bobdubi, where skirmishing was reported in today's war report.

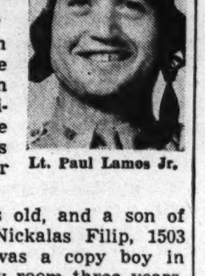
FORMER W-G-N NEWS WORKER BLASTS JAPS AS THEY SHAKE FISTS

Second Lt. Eugene Filip who was a member of the W-G-N radio news room staff before he entered the army in 1941, was credited yesterday with damaging a 2,000 ton Japanese freighter north of Rabaul with bombs that he dropped from such a low altitude that he could see Japs shaking their fists at him.

Lt. Eugene Filip.



Lt. Paul Lamos Jr.

Filip, 22 years old, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nickalas Filip, 1503 Nelson street, was a copy boy in The Tribune city room three years, then worked for W-G-N one year. He entered the army in January, 1941, and now is bombardier on a plane piloted by one of his former Wright Junior college classmates, Lt. Paul S. Lamos Jr., 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul S. Lamos of 5534 Mango avenue.

They were on a long range reconnaissance mission in their B-24 Liberator bomber Tuesday, according to a communique from allied headquarters, when they bombed and strafed two freighters and three barges north of Rabaul in the St. George channel. Bombs dropped by Filip scored a near hit on one freighter.

Sabath Wants a Soldier Voting Bill 'with Teeth'

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—Rep. A. J. Sabath [D., Ill.] said today he would introduce, when congress reconvenes, a bill making it mandatory for the navy and war departments to help soldiers vote in the 1944 general election. A similar measure by Sen. Scott Lucas [D., Ill.] is not strong enough, Sabath declared, so he plans to 'put some teeth in it."

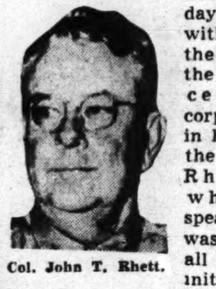
VALUE OF R.O.T.C. EMBLAZONED ON BATTLE RECORDS

Col. John R. Rhett Sums Up Its Worth in War.

BY PAUL HEALY.



Col. John T. Rhett.

Col. John T. Rhett settled back in his commandant's chair at Fort Sheridan yesterday and reviewed with satisfaction the notable part the Reserve Officers Training corps has played in helping to win the war. Col. Rhett knows whereof he speaks, for he was in charge of all R. O. T. C. units in this area from January, 1940, to June, 1942.

"The R. O. T. C. has been a tremendous factor in organizing the army along its present broad lines," he said. "More than half the reserve officers at the beginning of the war were R. O. T. C. trained men who had succeeded reserve officers who had died or retired. They were spirited young men who put fire into the middle aged officers in the reserves and without their help we would have been at least two or three years behind in expanding the army."

Lauded by Marshall.

Col. Rhett's statement is borne out by the last biennial report from Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, to the secretary of war, issued on July 3, 1941. Gen. Marshall pointed out that the principal available asset the war department had had for the huge task of expanding officer personnel four years ago was a corps of 100,000 reserve officers, largely the product of the R. O. T. C. "The problem was thus fortunately solved," he said.

Gen. Marshall explained that in June, 1941, former R. O. T. C. cadets constituted from 75 to 90 per cent of the officer strength of the regular army. About 8,500 senior R. O. T. C. graduates were commissioned for regular duty that month.

This is one way of appraising the value of R. O. T. C. training in the war. Another way is to consider what college level military training has done for the thousands who took only the basic two year course and consequently entered the army as enlisted men. Col. Rhett was voluble on this point.

Sees Effect on Youths.

"I have sat on boards which choose candidates for officers school and I could tell an R. O. T. C. trained boy the moment he entered the room. He had a military bearing and a certain self-confidence. I can assure you his military training background counted heavily in his favor when it came to a final decision."

"You see," Col. Rhett continued, "we knew, first of all, that such a boy had a good college education because only a high type of university or college was chosen for an R. O. T. C. unit. In addition, we knew he had learned how to handle and command other boys."

From the opposite end of the military structure, Pvt. Nicholas Meyer, 23 years old, of Cicero, was selected at random for his views on the R. O. T. C. Pvt. Meyer, who had two years of basic R. O. T. C. training at the University of Illinois, is an applicant for officers candidate school

Praised by Former Cadet.

"For me the army was a letdown," he said seriously. "After my school training I thought the army would be tougher than it is. The military discipline and courtesy, the close order drills in the field and the artillery practice we had on the campus stood me in good stead."

Col. Rhett believes that without question the men who have had R. O. T. C. training have done well in this war. Records kept by alumni associations of colleges and universities show that R. O. T. C. graduates are rising rapidly in rank.

For example, the alumni newspaper of the University of Illinois, which had the second largest senior R. O. T. C. unit in the nation before the war devotes several columns to heroism awards in every issue. These lists disclose that numerous '41 graduates already are captains and that many '39 and '40 graduates have become majors.

Some Feats of Graduates.

Glenn A. Barcus, '24, is now a brigadier general with the 1st fighter command. Then there is Lt. Steve Varner, '41; of Monticello, who in company with a private escaped from a German prison camp in Africa, covered 100 miles by foot in five days, and reached Tunis with 21 German prisoners they had captured en route. And there is the story of Lt. Gordon Gregory, '44, of Urbana, who led his men in the capture of four German lieutenants as they slept in an Arab's barn.

Staff Sergt. Michael J. Moore, whose junior R. O. T. C. students at Tilden Technical High school have won first place in the city-wide R. O. T. C. contest for the last five years, says 46 of his former students visited him while on furlough to tell him how valuable they had found the R. O. T. C. teaching program.

Long Fight Justified.

Lt. Walter Dennis, 22 years old, 4030 Sheridan road, who spent 14 months in hot campaigns in the South Pacific, and wears the Purple Heart, is a former Lake View High school R. O. T. C. student and now a supervisor of local R. O. T. C. schools. "R O. T. C. gives every boy a good start in military life," he said.

"We had a fight on our hands to keep the R. O. T. C. during those lean, post-war and pre-war years," Col. Rhett recalled. "Every time it came up in congress there were pacifists, anti-militarists, radicals, and others who tried to kill it. The people who backed it with us deserve much credit."

They'll Be at Music Festival

AIR MARSHAL BILLY BISHOP.

Air Vice Marshal R. R. Collard.

REPORT CAPONE GRAVELY ILL IN SUMMER HOME

Al Capone, who for a decade personified dry era gangsterism, was reported critically ill last night in his secluded summer home near Mercer, Wis.

Reports of his illness have been current in old Capone circles. According to these reports, Capone has been seriously ill for four or five days, with physicians in constant attendance. Members of his family were reported near him.

There were other reports, however, that Capone was in normal health, and still in Florida, and that members of his immediate family were still in Chicago.

The nature of Capone's illness was not indicated, but it is known that he has been ill for several years. He was ill in November, 1939, when he was released to his family from federal prison after he had served seven years six months and two weeks of an 11 year sentence for income tax fraud. He has been in seclusion since.

OUST SUMMERS AS SUPERVISOR OVER PAROLEES

Name W. J. Smith Jr. as Successor.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP).—Gov. Green has ordered Milton H. Summers replaced as superintendent of parolees' supervision and as a member of the state parole board, effective Aug. 16, it was disclosed today when his office filed notice of the appointment of William J. Smith Jr. of Aurora to the post.

Smith has been superintendent of the division of crime prevention, and also an ex-officio parole board member. The governor appointed Lawrence Morell Gross of Brookfield to succeed Smith.

Refused to Resign.

No official statement was forthcoming from the governor's office, but sources in the department of safety said Summers was ordered removed by Gov. Green after he refused to submit a resignation when requested to do so. Gov. Green is out of the state on a vacation.

The department of safety sources said the governor acted at the recommendation of Director T. P. Sullivan. This department embraces the division affected by the changes. These sources added that Sullivan's recommendation to the governor was made because of "a situation of long standing within the department," but did not elaborate.

Opposed New Law.

Summers recently criticized the operation of the new law under which Illinois Criminal court judges were empowered to fix minimum and maximum prison terms, contending that, in effect, it abolished the parole system.

Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg of the house refuted Summers' charge, declaring that Summers "and other partisans of parole as it has been administered in this state are not accepting the new system and are doing all they can to prejudice it with the public."

CITY MAY SEEK TO ENJOIN FIRMS POLLUTING LAKE

The possibility of seeking federal court injunctions against pollution of Lake Michigan by war plants at the south end of the lake was being studied yesterday by Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes while south siders continued unabated their campaign for a million signatures to a petition calling for greater diversion of lake water.

President Roosevelt's letter to Mayor Kelly, refusing to act on Chicago's emergency request for increased lake diversion thru the Calumet Sag canal will have no effect on the demands of south side residents of Chicago for purer and better tasting water, declared Ray L. Keegan, chairman of the south side committee on water purification.

"I have consulted legal counsel," Keegan said, "and I am informed we are on the right track, regardless of the President's refusal. We have more than 10,000 signatures and will continue without delay toward our goal of a million. The health menace is the main reason for our petitions, but we also are sick of super-chlorinated water."

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO HAIL 129 YEAR TIE WITH CANADA

R. C. A. F. Band, Drill Team Will Participate.

TICKET SALE.

Reserved seat tickets for the 14th Annual Chicago Music Festival, to be held in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 21, are on sale at 55 cents and $1.10 at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. Mail orders are accepted. Checks or money orders should be made payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The United States and Canada have been friendly neighbors for 129 years and have been allies in two world wars. The warmth of feeling and the mutual respect which these relations have engendered will be demonstrated a week from tomorrow night in Soldiers' field in a ceremony which is certain to be one of the high points of the 14th annual Chicago Music Festival.

At one point in the evening the lights will be dimmed and a hush will fall over the expected festival audience of 90,000. Then the Festival Symphony orchestra and the Festival chorus will be heard in the majestic Canadian hymn, "O Canada." The spotlights will focus on the Stadium's south gate, a group of royal Canadian air force trumpeters will sound a fanfare, and color guards carrying the American flag, the Union Jack, and the R. C. A. F. ensign will enter the field. A flood of golden music behind them will herald the 68 piece R. C. A. F. Central band. Hard on the heels of the musicians will come a 60 man R. C. A. F. precision drill squadron carrying rifles and bayonets.

Gov. Green to Give Welcome.

These forces will proceed down the center of the field to the stage, where they will be received by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. He will introduce Gov. Dwight H. Green, who will tender the visitors Illinois' official welcome and will introduce the legendary World War I. ace, Air Marshal W. A. ["Billy"] Bishop, who will speak for the R. C. A. F.

Next will come the exhibition of the precision drill squadron commanded by Squadron Leader J. A. Langlois. The squadron's 60 men, whose average age is about 20 years, will demonstrate the results of the gruelling training in coördination which the R. C. A. F. gives its recruits.

Then the spotlights will shift to the R. C. A. F. Central band and its leader, Warrant Officer E. A. Kirkwood. Their performance of Ferde Grofe's "Over There" fantasy, which consists of tunes of World War I., will bring back memories of another period when the United States and Canada were allies.

Participation an Innovation.

Concluding the Canadian episode at the festival, the drill squadron will pass Air Marshal Bishop, who will take the salute. The R. C. A. F. band, from the stage, will play Chambers' "Chicago Tribune March."

This will be the first time that another government has taken an official part in the Chicago Music festival.

The 160 man Canadian delegation includes not only Air Marshal Bishop and the band and drill team but also S. L. de Carteret, deputy minister, department of national defense for air; Air Vice Marshal R. R. Collard, director of works, R. C. A. F.; J. W. G. Clark, director in chief of public relations, Canadian armed services; Group Capt. R. D. MacKell, director of personnel, R. C. A. F.; Wing Comdr. L. P. Golinas, commanding officer, No. 5 Manning depot, Montreal; Wing Comdr. Paul G. Rodier, aide to Air Marshal Bishop; Flight Lt. A. A. Foster, in charge of administrative details for Canadian participation; Flight Lt. E. B. Sharpless, transportation officer, and Flight Lt. Frank de B. Walker, public relations officer.

Air Marshal Bishop will represent Air Marshal L. S. Breadner, chief of the air staff, and Deputy Minister De Carteret will represent C. G. Power, minister of national defense for air.

FLYER WRITES WIFE: 'EVERYTHING IS FINE'; DIES IN RAID NEXT DAY

Staff Sgt. A. C. Peterson.

Staff Sgt. Andrew Carl Peterson, 22 years old, who wrote his wife, Lorraine, from a bomber base in England June 24 that "everything is fine," was killed the next day on a bombing mission over Germany, she was informed by the Red Cross yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson, 1177 McKinley road, Waukegan, where she lives.

Peterson was a radioman and gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress and had made more than 15 bombing missions. When the war department informed Mrs. Peterson July 2 that her husband was missing, she checked with other families of men she knew were in the same crew and learned that at least four were alive but were wounded and prisoners in Germany. There were nine in the crew.

Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Peterson, live in Racine, Wis., where he worked before he entered the army. He was married Dec. 2, 1942, and was sent to England last January.

U. S. WARPLANES BORN OF INFINITE RESEARCH WORK

Air Show Exhibits Blend Genius and Labor.

139,203 Visit Show

Total attendance for the first six days of the air power show in Tribune Square was 139,203 at closing time last night, after 18,337 visited the exhibits yesterday. The show is open from 10 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. daily and admission is free.

BY FRANK STURDY.

All the army air forces combat airplanes are the fruit of years of aeronautical research. Each is a compound of the accumulated knowledge of flight engineering since the Wright brothers' first successful biplane, and design data calculated for each type.

The airplanes doing the fighting now on European and Pacific fronts were conceived two to five years ago. They were designed, prototypes built, "bugs" eliminated in flight tests, and improvements made in operation. All of this work of the army air forces centers at Wright field, Dayton, O., the source of the air power exhibit sponsored by the material command in coöperation with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at Tribune Square.

Paradise of Engineering.

Wright field is a pilot's paradise of advanced flight engineering. Long before the war started, the B-24 Liberator bomber, of which one of the latest models is displayed in the air show, was an experimental type at Wright field.

The combat airplanes of the future are now in development at Wright. Some are still mere drawings and mathematical formulas. Others are flying, and closely guarded military secrets. Before the end of the war the Germans and Japs will feel their weight.

Drawings giving a hint of the airplanes to come are a feature of the air power show. There are an eight engine, long range bombardment plane; several pusher types of pursuit and night fighting craft, with engines turning propellers mounted to face the tail instead of the front of the planes; and a pursuit with one pusher propeller in the tail.

Build 45 Ton Plane.

The Lockheed Constellation, a four engined transport, weighs around 90,00 pounds, is now in production and will soon be turned out in numbers justifying the phrase mass production.

Five hundred air force cadet reservists attended the air power exhibit yesterday after a showing of Walt Disney's movie version of Maj. Alexander P. De Seversky's book "Victory Thru Air Power" in the W-G-N studio. Fifty-one new reservists were given the air force oath in a ceremony broadcast by W-G-N.

The Disney picture will open at the Woods theater Aug. 30. It is an aeronautical history, and an analysis of air power, in which Disney's amusing drawings illustrate Maj. De Seversky's contention that the war can be won by long range strategic bombings without bloody land battles.

FRANKLIN PARK, CHICAGO FLYERS KILLED IN CRASH

Valpariso, Fla., Aug. 12 (AP).—Six men were killed Monday when an army medium bomber on training flight crashed into the Gulf of Mexico about 50 miles off Santa Rosa Island, officials of the Eglin Army Air field announced today. The plane was based on Barksdale field, La. Among the dead were Lt. Everett Stanley, pilot, whose father Edward Stanley, lives in Chicago and Lt. Jack S. Case, bombardier-navigator, whose wife resides at 3304 Gustav avenue, Franklin Park, Ill.

Lt. Jack S. Case.

Lt. Jack S. Case was 25 years old, and had been in the army a year. He received his wings at Midland, Tex. He was a salesman before entering the army. He leaves his widow, Myrtle.

LIE TESTS CLEAR MATE; FREED IN SHOTGUN DEATH

Francis J. Erkelens, 39 years old, 7213 South Hoyne avenue, a steamfitter, was released by Chicago Lawn police yesterday on recommendation of Assistant State's Atty. Francis T. McCurrie. Two lie detector tests supported his story that he accidentally discharged a shotgun, killing his wife, Eleanor, 37, early Monday morning. Erkelens told police he was cleaning the shotgun, preparatory to hunting for dogs that had been preying on his chickens. An inquest into Mrs. Erkelens' death has been continued to Aug. 26. McCurrie said that altho there is no evidence to justify holding Erkelens the investigation into the shooting was "by no means closed."

WELLS DIVORCE CITED AS PROOF OF LAW'S FLAW

Amendment Urged by Schnackenberg.

The divorce obtained in Superior court July 29 by Mrs. Lele Marcus Wells, heiress to the $7,000,000 estate of one of her four husbands, was cited yesterday by Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, speaker of the house of representatives, as an instance where advantage was taken of the looseness of the Illinois divorce law.

Mrs. Wells, who divorced Roe E. Wells on the grounds of cruelty, had not been a resident of the state a year and obtained the decree from Judge John C. Lewe under the legal loophole whereby a nonresident may bring suit on the allegation that he or she has been a victim of cruelty while in the state. Miss Pearl Hart, who represented Mrs. Wells and won for her restoration of the name of Daly—that of her third husband, Marcus Daly, son of the founder of the Anaconda Copper interests—said yesterday that her client availed herself of the loophole.

Mrs. Wells Still Here.

Mrs. Wells, she said, was still in Chicago, living at 211 East Delaware place, the residence she was maintaining when she alleged that Wells struck her on two occasions in arguments over money last month. Miss Hart said Wells was in Chicago and that she personally interviewed him, and Frank B. Teed of the law firm that represented Wells at the hearing also said he interviewed Wells here before the court hearing.

Schnackenberg, who frequently has sought divorce reform legislation, said the provision allowing nonresidents to obtain quick divorce was mischievous.

"It has only one effect, to make Illinois a focal point for the institution of collusive divorce cases," he said. "The provision has been in the law since 1845, and while there may have been a definite reason for it at that time there certainly is no reason for its existence now and it should be removed."

Nothing Unusual, Judge Says.

Judge Lewe, when questioned about the divorce Wednesday, said there had been nothing unusual about the proceedings, but that if evidence of collusion were offered he would investigate thoroly. Mrs. Wells asked neither alimony nor attorney fees from Wells, whose third wife—the predecessor of Mrs. Lele Marcus Wells—was Emily Gilchrist Wells, widow of William A. Gilchrist, the Chicago lumberman, who left her an estate of $2,000,000.

When Mrs. Emily Wells died Sept. 2, 1941, 20 days before Wells married Marcus Daly's widow, she left two wills that precipitated an estate contest between Wells and her relatives.

CUT HARD COAL SUPPLY TO 90% OF 1942 NEEDS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes said today that, as a result of production losses from work stoppages, coal dealers will be limited to 90 per cent of "last year's requirements" of anthracite.

Ickes said work stoppages had resulted in a loss this year of 3,500,000 tons of hard coal and that "we are going to have trouble to supply the demand." The secretary said that, altho "in some sections" it might be difficult for householders to get hard coal this winter, there would be available "a type of bituminous coal suitable for household use." As a result, he said, he doubted if "rationing of anthracite will be necessary."

Ickes said 10 per cent of the available hard coal supply will be set aside to take care of persons converting furnaces from oil to coal and for war workers who have been transferred to congested areas where they might find difficulty in obtaining fuel.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department answers questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. J. B. writes: "Will you please give me information regarding mailing dates for sending Christmas packages to men overseas? I understood that packages must be sent between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, but a friend of mine told me that the deadline was not until Nov. 1."

ANSWER: Postal regulations concerning packages to service men overseas differ according to the branch of the armed forces involved. All packages intended as Christmas gifts for army personnel must be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15. For men in the navy, marine corps, and coast guard, the mailing dates are Sept. 15 to Nov. 1.

We have a bulletin which gives complete information concerning Christmas gifts, greeting cards, and other gift packages not intended as holiday gifts for all branches of the armed services overseas. Readers may obtain it by sending in a stamped, addressed envelope.

N. D. writes: "In a short time, my mother and I expect to visit a relative who is stationed at Camp Roberts in California. I would be grateful if you could tell me the name of a nearby town or city in which we could obtain living quarters for about two weeks."

ANSWER: If you will write to the Travelers' Aid society, 608 South Dearborn street, that agency can provide information concerning living accommodations near the camp you mentioned.

Mrs. R. C. writes: "My brother has been a prisoner of the Japanese since the fall of the Philippines. We have never received letters or word of any kind from him. Aren't such prisoners allowed to write home? Do you have data on gifts which may be sent to them? Isn't there any way by which we could possibly receive word from him? We have written but don't know if he has received any of our letters."

ANSWER: Information concerning prisoners held by the Japanese is extremely scarce at the present time. We can provide a bulletin containing information on sending gifts to men held by Germany or Italy, but it is not possible to send packages to those held by Japan. Concerning mail, I can say only that the Japanese government has stated that it has distributed mail received for prisoners of war. Just as soon as the war department and the International Red Cross have information concerning such prisoners, you may be sure that you will be notified.

Mrs. B. C. writes: "My son, who is in the army, has applied for an allowance for me, and I am receiving $37 a month, as I am dependent upon him for support. However, since he is only a private, can you tell me how much he earns per month? I have heard that it is $50 and feel perhaps that he does not have sufficient money."

ANSWER: The allowance which you are receiving is not entirely deducted from your son's salary. His contribution amounts to $22 per month. The additional $15 is provided by the government. Hence your son has abalance of $28 to pay for his insurance, laundry, etc.

State Increases Its Care of Service Men's Families

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP).—The state of Illinois provided free maternal and pediatric care for the families of 1,307 Illinois service men during July, an increase of 201 over the June number, State Health Diricetor Roland R. Cross reported today. Care of 568 more cases was authorized during the first week in August under the state-federal program.

SEN. DAVIS JOINS FIGHT AGAINST FATHERS' DRAFT

Offers Plan to Make Such Action Unnecessary.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Sen. James J. Davis [R., Pa.] today added his voice to growing congressional resentment against the prospective drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers. He proposed a six point program to make the induction of fathers unnecessary and meet the demands of the army and navy for men at the same time.

Sen. Davis denounced Man Power Chief Paul V. McNutt's latest order, which authorizes the drafting of fathers starting Oct. 1, as "one of the most ill considered, arbitrary and unnecessary directives that has ever emanated from a government agency."

McNutt Control Opposed.

As an alternative to inducting fathers Oct. 1, he proposed the following:

1. Draft no fathers until all other sources of man power for the army and navy are exhausted.

2. Remove the selective service system from the control of McNutt and return it to its former independent status.

3. End deferment of governmental employes unless approved by the standing committee on federal workers' deferments established at the President's direction.

4 Stop industrial deferments not based on scarce or irreplaceable skills.

5. Limit all occupational deferments to six months and permit no renewals.

6. Reëxamine all registrants now classified 4-F, and reclassify all available ones for induction, especially those rejected for illiteracy and slight physical defects.

Wheeler to Press Bill.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] has announced that he will press for action on his bill, already approved by the senate military affairs committee, which would prevent the induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers before Jan. 1. Wheeler's request to congressional leaders to reconvene congress before Sept. 14 to consider this bill was rejected yesterday by Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.].

In the house, Rep. Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] has announced that he will submit a bill as soon as congress reassembles to forbid the drafting of all fathers.

TRIBUNE HELPS LOCATE MOTHER OF JAP PRISONER

Receiving an official Japanese army postcard addressed to Mrs. W. Deede, 23 East 64th street, H. R. Trowe, employe of the New York Central railroad, whose office is at that address, spent several hours of fruitless search trying to locate Mrs. Deede so that he could give her the card. The card, addressed to her by Truman J. Deede, and disclosing he is a prisoner, meant much to Mr. Trowe, for he, too, had a son in service. The Chicago Tribune reference room located the address for him, 1115 East 61st street. He said he would deliver the card personally to the correct address.

FARLEY RETURNS FROM U. S. TOUR MUM ON POLITICS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—James A. Farley, former postmaster general and former chairman of the Democratic national committee, was silent on politics today after a transcontinental trip.

The man who put President Roosevelt in the White House but broke with the New Deal on the third term was in Washington a few hours as he neared the end of a trip which carried him across the country and into Mexico on the south and back across the northern states.

Altho he had no comment on politics it was known that he talked with many political leaders during his travels. Informed political observers are confident Farley will oppose any fourth effort.

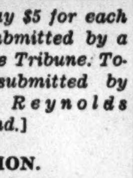
THE QUESTION.

Did you ever regret letting yourself be talked out of something?

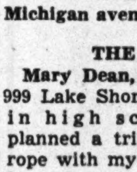
WHERE ASKED.

The Pullman building, 208 South Michigan avenue.

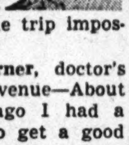
THE ANSWERS.



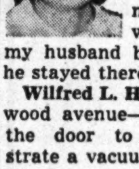
Mary Dean, placement counselor, 999 Lake Shore drive—When I was in high school I planned a trip to Europe with my parents. My friends, especially the older ones, said that a trip like that would mean more to me if I waited until I was in college. By that time the war made the trip impossible.



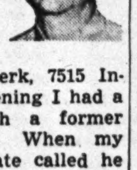
Mrs. Frank H. Turner, doctor's secretary, 1222 Jarvis avenue—About a year ago I had a chance to get a good job in the city where my husband was stationed. My friends told me it would be foolish to give up a permanent job when there was a possibility of my husband being transferred, but he stayed there for almost a year.



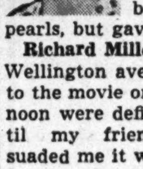
Wilfred L. Healey, clerk, 6030 Kenwood avenue—A salesman came to the door to demonstrate a vacuum cleaner. I was convinced that the bargain he offered was one of the best. He talked me out of a $5 down payment and my used vacuum cleaner. I haven't heard from him since.



Lucille Anderson, clerk, 7515 Indiana avenue—One evening I had a date with a former friend. When my steady date called he asked me to break my date. I did, but I was sorry later. I learned the former friend had planned to give me a beautiful string of pearls, but gave them to his sister.



Richard Miller, office worker, 4734 Wellington avenue—My plans to go to the movie one afternoon were definite until my friend persuaded me it would be fun to go on a picnic for a change. We had a nice time all right, but a few days later I broke out with a bad case of poison ivy.



Spencer Webster, accountant, 5043 Blackstone avenue—The British East India company offered me an interesting job on a plantation in India. I was much younger and at liberty to travel, but my friends all told me the job sounded much better than it really was. I've been sorry since I was talked out of it.

Woman Who Took Poison Gets a Year on Probation

Mrs. Mildred Simnick, 18 years old, 11214 Wentworth avenue, was placed under court supervision until Aug. 1, 1944, by Judge Cecil C. Smith in Women's court yesterday, upon recommendation of Dr. David B. Rotman, Municipal court phychiatrist. She had been charged with disorderly conduct after swallowing poison on July 27.

MISSOURI HOUSE TELLS U. S. TO 'GO TO HELL' ON FUND

Refuses Money to Run Social Security.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 12 [Special].—Backing a member's shout to "tell the federal government to take their money and go to hell," the Republican controled Missouri house of representatives today defeated a bill to provide an additional $750,000 to administer the state's social security program.

Amendments to slice the sum to amounts as low as half that figure were offered but were greeted with deafening choruses of nays and the full $750,000 appropriation was rejected by a vote of 62 to 60.

Federal officials had suggested the federal matching dollars would be shut off if the state didn't administer the social security program properly.

Program Is Denounced.

Leading the fight for the fund, Rep. Morris Osburn, Democrat, said the state social security director "told us he can't administer this law unless we give him an additional $750,000." He prophesied that there would be a breakdown in the administration if the money were not appropriated and that then "you'll all hurry back here and be glad to give whatever they ask."

A dozen members clamored for the floor as Osburn concluded and one after another representatives went over the whole social security program and applied a fiery tongue lashing.

"The federal government," Rep. Ralph Erdwin, Republican, replied to Osburn, "is always holding a dictator's club over our heads and saying, 'If you don't do this or don't do that we're going to give you a sound spanking and take your candy away.'

Makes Liars of Old Folks.

"I say we ought to raise the sales tax to 3 per cent [it is now 2 per cent], earmark a penny of that for pensions and tell the federal government to take their money and go to hell."

Rep. Marvin Wright, Democrat, declared that the operators of social security "have made a bunch of cheats and liars of old folks."

"The gantlet of questions they have to run, the indignities they have to suffer at the hands of case workers and investigators is a shame and a disgrace to Missouri," he asserted.

SCHEMERS PUT U. S. IN DANGER, DEWEY ASSERTS

The American form of government is being endangered today in Washington by schemers for national socialism and international agreements that would bankrupt this country, Rep. Charles S. Dewey [R., Ill.], a member of the house ways and means committee, warned yesterday.

Speaking on "The National Fiscal Situation" before the Central Lions club in the Hotel Sherman, Dewey said that the national debt is expected to be 206 billion dollars by the end of this fiscal year, next June 30. In this period, he said, the country will spend 97 billions for war and 7 billions for civilian and other purposes, and will receive an anticipated 38 billion in taxes.

One danger to the country, he said, lies in the "worse than absurd" plans for America's relations with other countries after the war.

"We will have a responsibility," Dewey said. "I would be in favor of supplying medicines and foods for a time, but then we could supply seed grains and tools on long term loans as a basis for these people to build up their own prosperity. I do not want to see us go in and rebuild the world at our expense."

Illinois Airman Flies Against Foe 225 Times

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—One thousand hours in the air, with 650 of them in operational combat flying in 225 combat missions, is the record amassed during the last year by Lt. Ben Boyd, Taylorville, Ill., the war department announced today. Lt. Boyd, a troop carrier command pilot with the army's 5th air force in the Southwest Pacific area and a staff sergeant when he reported for duty a year ago, holds the distinguished flying cross with two oak leaf clusters and the air medal with two oak leaf clusters.

ARMY HUNTING OFFICERS TO RULE ENEMY LANDS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 [Special].—The war department disclosed today that it will train 150 additional officers a month as specialists and assistant administrators to serve in occupied enemy territory.

Heads of all major commands in the continental United States, the Caribbean defense command, and the Hawaiian department have been instructed to nominate qualified officers up to and including the grade of major for special training.

G.O.P. TO START PROBE OF OWI RADIO ORDERS

Plans to Demand Study of "Propaganda."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Republican congressmen are going to demand a complete investigation of the office of war information and the "distorted propaganda" with which it has "deluged" the nation's radio stations when congress reassembles in September, it was announced today.

Declaring the agency had been "on probation and has violated that probation," Rep. J. William Ditter of Pennsylvania, chairman of the national Republican congressional committee, said a "thoro probe" of OWI activities "becomes necessary."

Raps OWI "Browbeating."

"Elmer Davis, Robert Sherwood and others at the helm in the New Deal's propaganda office will have no difficulty in recalling that there was strong sentiment in congress for the abolition of the domestic branch of OWI and curtailment of actions of the overseas branch. It was only upon repeated assurances to adhere strictly to the purposes for which it was created that the nation's lawmakers agreed to grant funds for the continued operation of certain OWI branches," he said.

"Now, in spite of its assurances, we find Mr. Davis' organization again browbeating the radio industry into deluging the American public with distorted propaganda based upon the coming anniversary of the Atlantic charter, Saturday. It in effect tells radio stations and networks to broadcast that the Atlantic charter frees the world from fear and want.

Termed "Sheer Nonsense."

"Such an interpretation is sheer nonsense. It would have the radio listeners told that the Atlantic charter has been adopted by all of the allied nations, and that is a plain mis-statement of fact. It seeks to intimidate the broadcasters by asking that the amount of time devoted to Atlantic charter propaganda be made known to OWI in a special report. Obviously OWI is up to its old tricks."

Ditter cited the now notorious OWI broadcast of two weeks ago when it referred to Italy's Victor Emmanuel as the "moronic little king" only to have the material repudiated by President Roosevelt as an example of a nonessential OWI activity.

"It is conceivable that that particular broadcast delayed the capitulation of the Italian government and thereby added to American casualties," Ditter said.

"Congress, I am convinced, will not continue to tolerate such activities on the part of the office of war information. If that office is to be maintained it must remove all semblance of political partisanship; it must rid itself of such stupidity as made the Italian broadcast possible."

YOUNG ASSAULT VICTIM FOUND DAZED IN FIELD

Cleveland, O., Aug. 12 (AP).—Apparently assaulted by a degenerate, nine year old Jack Buchanan was found dazed in a wooded section of suburban Westlake village today, more than 24 hours after he had set out alone to go to a public park.

The boy, unable to walk, was carried to an automobile in which his father, City Food Inspector E. B. Buchanan, waited and then was taken to a hospital.

Detective Lloyd Trunk and Police Capt. Patrick Lynch said they found the youngster lying on his side in a field.

The boy left his home yesterday morning to go to Lakewood park. His mother said she had taken him to a bus. Jack told police a man in a blue automobile had picked him up yesterday afternoon.

MRS. HAL L. SMITH

Polo, Ill., Aug. 12 (AP).—Evelyn Asay, the former Mount Carroll girl who won national fame in December, 1940, when she won the grand championship steer ribbon at the International Live Stock exposition at Chicago, was married July 9 to Hal S. Smith of Savanna, Ill., her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Asay of Polo announced.

Miss Asay was the first girl ever to win the award. Sargo, her prize winning steer, was sold for $3.30 a pound, a total of $3,498. Awards on Sargo totaled nearly $5,000, which Miss Asay applied on the purchase of a farm for herself and her parents.

The wedding ceremony was performed at Genoa and the couple will reside in Savanna, where Smith is employed by the Milwaukee railroad.

PLEDGE MILLION BOND PURCHASE FOR NAVAL FUND

Chicagoans of Italian ancestry last night pledged to buy a million dollars' worth of war bonds as their contribution to a treasury drive among all national groups of the city to raise money to build a new cruiser. The cruiser will be presented as a Christmas gift to Uncle Sam.

Representatives of the group made the pledge at a meeting of committees of the Greater Chicago Italian American day program in the Morrison hotel. The program will be held in the band shell in Grant park at 2:30 p. m. on Aug. 29. The treasury department is sponsoring it as a rally to start the new drive among various national groups.

Municipal Judge George L. Quilici, chairman of the Italian-American day program, said 10,000 war mothers of the group will be guests of honor. The speaker will be Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York.

Chicago Soldier Killed in South Pacific Action

ASKS CONGRESS TO MEET, FIGHT GAS RATION CUT

Busbey Sees War Peril in Oil Bungling.

Rep. Fred E. Busbey [R., Chicago] said last night he will ask the minority leaders in the house and senate to call congress into immediate session to consider "a dangerous crude oil shortage and the failures of the production and gasoline rationing programs of the petroleum and price administrations."

"I feel certain," Busbey said, "that the crude oil situation demands such action. I am told the oil shortage is serious enough to delay our victory in the war. The additional gasoline restrictions which Washington is about to clamp on the whole territory east of the Rockies, bears it out but doesn't get at the root of the trouble. What we need is more crude oil—not more gas rationing."

The representative of the 3d Illinois district said he was making his request to Sen. Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.] and Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.], minority leaders in the senate and house. Congress is in recess until Sept. 14, but the adjournment resolution provided that the president of the senate and speaker of the house shall reconvene when either the two majority leaders or two minority leaders shall file a written request for it.

Has Been Active.

Busbey said he has been attending or watching the hearings on the crude oil shortage and proposed gasoline ration slash held by senate and congressional committees and the Illinois joint legislative commission headed by Sen. Earl Benjamin Searcy [R., Springfield].

"We have proof that the petroleum and price administrations have bungled and failed the country in the production of oil, the most vital necessity for winning the war. The refineries are operating at only 70 per cent of capacity. The withholding of a price advance for crude production by OPA is and for more than 22 months has been an act of stupidity.

"Congress could find a remedy. We should not wait in this critical situation until Sept. 14, for congress to reconvene. It is even important enough for a special session if that were necessary."

Urges Demand for Reins.

Searcy wired the entire Illinois delegation in congress, urging Sen. Wayland Brooks [R.] and Sen. Scott Lucas [D.], and the 27 representatives to demand of Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes that he withold the impending reduction of gasoline rations until congress can take the whole question of crude oil production for war and civilian use out of the hands of alphabetical agencies.

The telegrams were sent out on the eve of another meeting of Searcy and his joint legislative commission at Springfield this afternoon. A resolution demanding cancellation of the proposed cut in the value of the A, B, and C coupons, will be presented to the meeting, Searcy said, and sent as adopted to Ickes and Price Dictator Prentiss Brown.

Says Problem Is Production.

Searcy told the members of congress it has been "conclusively proved" by statements of Ickes himself and by testimony from oil authorities of national reputation that the fundamental problem confronting the country is not gasoline rationing but crude oil production.

At all hearings held by Searcy's committee there has been expert testimony that out of 400,000 oil wells in the country, 300,000 are shut down. Most of the latter, it was stated, are small producing stripper wells which cannot afford to bring up the crude under the freeze in price ordered by OPA on Oct. 1, 1941, because costs would be greater than the return.

Collectively, it has been testified, those wells would produce millions of barrels now that the oil is so sorely needed, if price restrictions were lifted.

TRIBUNE SCOOP SENDS CAPITAL INTO AN UPROAR

Lack Even Handouts for the Press.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S exclusive Chicago story on the cut in gasoline rations for middle western motorists threw dozens of government press agents and Washington newspaper reporters into a frenzy tonight.

Press agents and other officials of the office of price administration, petroleum administration, office of defense transportation, and other alphabetical agencies had been instructed to guard the news of the ration cut with utmost secrecy. Altho all details had been worked out, the slow moving burocrats had decided not to make the announcement of the changes until Sunday. A carefully laid schedule for releasing the story to the press and radio was taking shape, but the press handouts had not even been prepared today.

Caught Without Handouts.

So the press agents went home tonight, figuring they had two more days to prepare these handouts on the big gasoline story for which the public was waiting.

At about 8 o'clock, telephone calls began pouring in on press agents and other officials from Washington newspaper bureaus. All had the same question—what about THE TRIBUNE'S story of a 25 per cent cut in gasoline rations effective Monday?

The press agentry was caught flatfooted. Sworn to secrecy by their superiors, they were obliged to give an official "no comment" while at the same time refusing to deny that the story was true.

Then the press agents tried to get in touch with their superiors and get authority to "break" the whole story in an official announcement.

Resort to Huddle System

Staff members of OPA and the office of war information, which under the news-funneling system in vogue here would have to clear any official story, rushed from their homes to their offices tonight and went into a huddle.

Efforts were made to reach by telephone the top officials concerned with gasoline, such as Oil Czar Harold L. Ickes, OPA Manager Chester Bowles, Transportation Boss Joseph Eastman, and OPA Rationing Chief Paul O'Leary.

To chagrined newspaper men from other newspapers calling thruout the evening, the OPA and OWI were able to report only that they had no comment, but hoped to say something before the night was over. We can't get "clearance," they said.

One OPA press agent was so chagrined she said she was going to resign.

GARY PLANS TAX ON TRUCKS FOR STREET REPAIRS

Blames Federal Policies for Drop in Revenue.

Gary's city officials disclosed yesterday that federal policies and demands have so increased municipal expense and lowered revenues that, in order to maintain the city's streets they intend to levy a special "delivery tax" on trucks entering the city.

City Atty. John E. Roszowski said that he had begun preparation of the taxing ordinance. Under its provisions any truck entering Gary and making deliveries there would have to pay an annual tax—from $5 for half-tonners up to $25 for those of more than five ton capacity. It is not contemplated that trucks in passage should be taxed, it was said.

Property Off Tax Rolls.

"Our streets are falling to pieces," the attorney asserted, "and there is no money to fix them up. The government has taken over some factories engaged in war production and we cannot assess their machinery as personal property. The defense plant corporation has taken vacant property off the tax rolls and so have housing projects.

"Under the impetus of the war Gary now has 120,00 residents and its financial setup was for 80,000. Most of the newcomers do not contribute much in the way of local taxes. Until a couple of years ago the WPA helped keep up the streets and the street fund was transferred to the general fund. Now WPA is dead and the streets will have to stay unrepaired unless we can get more tax money."

Federal Agencies Protest.

At a conference in the office of Mayor Joseph Finnerty, attended by representatives of the office of defense transportation and the interstate commerce commisison the mayor explained the necessities and asked for coöperation. The government agencies contended that the new program would impede the movement of war materials and food.

Atty. William B. Crawford, acting for the Chicago Cartage Exchange, protested that if other cities and towns followed the precedent and added a new truck tax some transport companies might have to go out of business.

The mayor was quoted as saying that government agencies had asked and received the city's coöperation in many ways and that he felt there should be some return in view of the state of city finances.

Yanks Wounded in Africa War Arrive at Halifax

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Aug. 12 (AP).—An unannounced number of wounded United States soldiers who saw action in North Africa arrived here today aboard a Canadian hospital ship and will continue on to the United States by train.

DOWNSTATE OIL WELL IS SHOT UP BY NIGHT RIDERS

Benton, Ill., Aug. 12 [Special].—County and federal authorities today were seeking members of a group of armed men who routed a drilling crew from an oil well near here and shot up the machinery last midnight.

The violence, described as "night riding" tactics, reminiscent of Kentucky's tobacco price war in the early part of the century, was attributed to a dispute between farm owners and the oil company. Farmers have complained that the companies are ruining their lands without compensating them.

Sheriff Clarence Smothers of Franklin county and Deputy United States Marshal John Small of Harrisburg today visited the scene of the shooting, on the Lewis Puckett farm 10 miles east of Benton.

They found several empty shotgun shells near the drilling site. Smothers said members of the three man drilling crew estimated that about six men were in the gang that fired on the rig from out of the darkness. The attackers shouted to the crew members to leave, then shot out the lights and riddled the radiators of two big motors which eventually stopped when they became overheated.

"Luck of the Devil"

By Elizabeth York Miller

Copyright: 1943: by Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS: Before escaping into a craft, after the siege of Dunkirk, from which he comes thru without a scratch, Ronny Banks rifles the person of a lifeless figure. On his arrival in London he evades his comrades, visits a tea shop, and goes thru the note cases taken from the unknown man left on the beach. He finds money, a card with an intriguing address and letters, and immediately takes possession of Alan Conyer's flat and identity. He engages in a romance with a wealthy Argentine widow, Maria de Santos, who lives next door. He pays a visit to his mother, who adores him, and learns of the death of his son.

INSTALMENT V.

A PROPOSAL.

Behind him Ronnie left a sadly muddled old woman; before him was a very different sort of woman. But he was more fearful for the woman behind him—her feebleness, her love for him that would never waver—than he feared the woman he had shortly to face. In fact, he did not fear Maria de Santos at all. His power over her was a different thing from his power over his mother. There was passion but no sentiment in it.

It had been his intention to enter his flat stealthily, partly disrobe and present himself to Maria in the glittering black and silver dressing-gown, which had been of Mr. Alan Conyer's choosing.

Her door opened before he had got the key of the flat out of his pocket.

A torrent of Spanish was turned on him, and altho he gathered its import, he did not understand one word of it.

He shrugged his shoulders; he looked limp and helpless. Even when he had followed her into her drawing room, and shed his military looking raincoat and other impedimenta, he continued to look completely exhausted.

Maria's reproaches dried up and she fetched him a drink, holding it for him as he gulped it down as tho he were a baby.

She rocked him in her arms and cooed to him.

"You have been on beeg business—for the government?" she whispered. "You have never tell me—but people, they talk."

He roused himself and glared at her.

"O, 'they talk,' do they? And how much talking do they do? How do I know you aren't a spy? I don't know a thing about you, except what you like to tell me. Don't think I'm one to be taken in by a woman, just because she's got a beautiful face."

"You know all there is to know about me, but if you like to come to the Argentine consulate I'll give you any proof you need. The consul was a friend of my husband."

"Don't be silly, Maria. You mustn't mind what I said. I'm a bit upset tonight."

He drew her down beside him onto the couch, and appeared to be in the depths of gloom.

"I'm going to get out of this job I'm in," he said, as tho talking to himself. "It's getting me down, but, thank goodness I can chuck it if I want to."

"Alan—you love me, don't you?"

"I guess you know all about that, duckie. I'm just a little tired and fed up tonight."

She drew her slender hand down the side of his face in a gentle caress.

"Then—do we need to wait to be married? And if you are giving up this hateful business that takes you away from me so much—why can't we go home—to my lovely rancho? We could fly from Lisbon. You are an American. They cannot keep you here against your will."

Gosh, of course, that was the thing! Only, he'd have to grow a mustache to fit that face on Alan Conyer's passport.

"I don't like to speak of it, but I'm a little short of the 'ready,' duckie."

"The 'ready'?"

"Money. No work, no pay—that's the fix I'll be in."

"Money! What is that between you and me, when I have so much I can never spend it?"

Visions danced before his eyes. He had already seen photographs of her ranch house; it was like an old Spanish palace.

He would be the master of that far flung estate, and of this beautiful passionate woman—as long as it suited him. And if he decided to spend the rest of his life with them. . . . ?

There was the problem of Mum, of course—but why worry about the future? Take things as they come.

And there was danger for him here. He could smell it all around him. It was time to get out and away while the going looked good.

"I'm ashamed to ask you to marry me," he said, ignoring the fact that she had forestalled him with the important question. "Because I've nothing to give you but myself."

"And there is nothing—nobody I want but you," said Maria.

They sealed the compact with a long embrace.

Lucky; Ronnie Banks couldn't remember when he hadn't been lucky. But he gave some credit for it to his own quick wits. For instance, what he had done in giving that lance corporal the slip on the train, almost any of the others might have done if they had used their brains.

Brains, however, won't grow a mustache any quicker than nature allows, and Ronnie calculated that it would take about three weeks for his to match up to the one in Alan Conyer's photograph. He explained this dilemma to Maria de Santos, who now that she had him in her toils, was disposed to be impatient of further delay.

Ronnie couldn't say he liked all of her foreign ways, and when she was in a temper and let loose at him in Spanish, there were times when he very nearly disliked her. She had spread a sort of magic carpet for him and he had only to half express a wish when it was granted.

For one thing, there was the question of money.

"Why cannot we dine out and dance this evening?" she asked, her eyes dilating imperiously.

With an appearance of great reluctance her lover had to confess that he had no money. He had given up his job, hadn't he?

Then, indeed, Maria was enchanting. She rushed to her little desk, opened a drawer and took out a great handful of bank notes which she thrust at him, overcoming his protests with vehemence.

But could such good fortune hold?

Never before had he doubted, yet now, for the first time in his life, when his future loomed so grandly and all was plain sailing on the most favorable of seas, he found himself waking up in a cold sweat i nthe night.

He dreaded the ordeal of facing Maria's consulate with his stolen passport, when the time came for them to be married, and when they would have to apply for passage on a boat or airplane to Lisbon.

SURFACE LINES OPPOSE SUBWAY TRANSFER PLAN

Canal Street Dividing Point Is Sought.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Limitations on any system of transfers involving the new State street subway and the surface and bus lines were recommended by surface lines representatives yesterday at a conference of engineers in the offices of the Illinois Commerce commission. The subway is scheduled for operation Oct. 1 as a part of the elevated lines and the commission has been asked to establish transfer points in and near the loop so that riders from all parts of the city may use the subway facilities without paying extra fares.

Warns Against Fraud.

Under a setup proposed by the city and embodied in an ordinance, all bus and street car lines entering the loop would allow full interchange of transfers with the subway. Only thus, it has been contended by Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr., the city's traction expert, can residents of the west side derive any benefit from the subway.

L. M. Traiser, engineer for the surface lines, said that his company was willing to issue loop interchange transfers to the subway but only to passengers who boarded cars east of Canal street. He added that a further extension would encourage fraud in the use of transfers.

Maj. Kelker referred to this argument as "chimerical" and asserted that it was not necessary to punish the great bulk of the riders because a few cheaters might be found among them.

Favors Wide Extension.

The elevated lines in general favor a wide extension of transfer rights, and the bus company, thru its engineering representatives, has consented to transfer between the subway and its east-west lines in the loop. All the engineers were firm in their demands for accurate time stamping devices at the subway stations that would validate transfers for only a few minutes.

The report of the engineers will be presented to the commission's examiners, James R. Clark and Howard West, next Tuesday.

EAGLES FROM 40 STATES GATHER AT CONVENTION

Members of the Fraternal Order of Eagles from 40 states opened their annual convention in the Morrison hotel last night. State's Atty. Courtney, welcomed them in behalf of the city and the state and Robert W. Hansen of Milwaukee, grand worthy vice president of the order, responded. The convention will end Sunday when officers will be elected and Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], James M. Landis, head of the office of civilian defense, Joseph H. Liston of the war production board, and Raymond S. McKeough, regional administrator of OPA, will speak. About 1,500 delegates are expected to attend the sessions.

CHARGES MOUNT AGAINST WOMAN KEEPER OF AGED

Blind Man Dies; Patient Tells of Beatings.

Events developed in rapid succession yesterday as warrants charging assault and battery and assault with a deadly weapon were issued against Mrs. Agnes Peele, operator of the Aristocrat Home for the Aged at 566 Stratford place.

The highlights of the day's activities were:

Bert Harris, 49 years old, blind patient who was removed from the home July 28 in a wasted condition as a result of malnutrition, died in County hospital. An autopsy has been ordered by the coroner.

Charles Cornell, 91 years old, of 4321 Drexel boulevard, testified in Women's court that Mrs. Peele struck him on the head with an iron soup ladle last Oct. 29 while he was a patient in the home, and that he subsisted on a starvation diet.

Houseman Asks Police Aid.

Herschel Booker, 55 year old Negro houseman for Mrs. Peele, fled from the home and besought Town Hall police to lock him up in order to escape the wrath of Mrs. Peele, who, he said, had struck him in the face with her fist, thrown a milk bottle at him, and held him prisoner in the basement of the Aristocrat home.

Mrs. Peele, accompanied by her attorney, James P. Byrnes, appeared at Town Hall police station early last night and posted $400 in bond on the two charges of assault. During her brief visit she concealed her face behind a handkerchief.

In the meantime Asst. State's Atty. Sam Papanek, informed of the death of Harris in County hispital, assigned the case to Asst. State's Atty. Theodore Kucezwicz, who has asked Capt. William Drury of Town Hall police station to give him a complete report on the autopsy.

Fined $500 This Week.

Mrs. Peele, in her conduct of convalescent homes, has been in and out of the courts since 1931. Last Tuesday she was fined $500 and costs in License court on charges of operating a convalescent home without a license and refusing authorities admission to inspect the property.

The warrants for her arrest were issued yesterday after Cornell told Judge Cecil Smith in Woman's court that Mrs. Peele struck him as he attempted to assist a deranged woman who had fallen from a chair while trussed in a strait-jacket.

Cornell revealed to Hyde Park police that the regular menu served by Mrs. Peele at the home consisted of the following:

For breakfast, hot water colored with a coffee bean, a piece of bread and three spoonfuls of macaroni; for lunch, three spoonfuls of spaghetti and a piece of bread, and for dinner, half an orange and a cup of coffee.

Says Guard Used Force.

Cornell said that before Harris was taken to the County hospital whenever he and his roommates tried to leave the room where they were kept they were "knocked down by a big Negro, who acted on Mrs. Peele's orders."

Booker, the colored houseman who fled the house by scaling the rear wall, told Capt. Drury of Town Hall station that since the Harris case Mrs. Peele had forced him to sleep in the basement with some chickens and had nailed a door shut to prevent his escape.

Harris was the second former patient of Mrs. Peele to die in less than two weeks. On July 1, Miss Josephine Kohli, 75, died in Columbus hospital four days after her removal from the home,

Police files reveal that in September, 1931, Hugo Smith, a paralytic patient, dropped a note out of the window of a sanitarium the Peeles were operating at 2736 Hampden court, appealing for help and saying he was being held prisoner.

In September, 1938, action was directed against Robert and Agnes Peele on complaint of Mrs. Jeanette Behrens, 65, who charged she was being held in the Peeles' sanitarium against her will. She was removed to a public hospital.

Charged with Fraud.

In June of 1941, 270 pound Mrs. Peele was arrested on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state of $450 in old age pension funds. The principal state witness was Mrs. Margaret O'Meara Conroyd who, according to Assistant State's Atty. John Long, had been "used as the unwitting tool of Mrs. Peele in the alleged conspiracy" and had been forced to apply for an old age pension, posing as a spinster.

The case was continued to June 20, to July 1, to July 16, to Oct. 14, and finally to Nov. 18, when a nolle prosse was returned. Mrs. Peele was acquitted Aug. 18, 1942, 15 months after charges were filed. Mrs. Conroyd, upon whose testimony the state had depended heavily, had died the week before.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Girl Gets Rare Drug

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

New York, Aug. 12 [Special].—Patricia Malone, 2 years old, New York City girl suffering from a virulent blood disease, was given a chance for life tonight at Lutheran hospital because of a city editor, the federal government—and the new miracle drug, penicillin.

Yesterday her father, Lawrence J. Malone, telephoned Paul Schoenstein, city editor of the New York Journal American, that unless Patricia received the drug within seven hours she could not live. The drug is being made for the fighting services and is not generally available to civilians, but Schoenstein telephoned Surgeon Gen. Thomas Parran at Washington for an order to release a quantity of the drug. Another call to Dr. Chester Keefer in Boston, member of the war production board, brought similar approval.

Within an hour an automobile, bearing Dr. Dante Collitti, staff member of Lutheran hospital, was en route to the Squibb laboratories at New Brunswick, N. J. New York and New Jersey state police provided escorts. War time speed laws were ignored. Two hours before the seven hour deadline, the drug had been injected, and today Dr. Michael Garofalo announced Patricia had shown improvement.

WESTERN UNION GIRLS DON THEIR OWN UNIFORMS

Virginia Nally.

Young women taking the place of the Western Union Telegraph company's male messengers who have gone into military service made their appearance yesterday in new uniforms specially designed for them.

The new ensemble consists of a dark olive skirt, sun tan blouse with "Western Union" embroidered on the pocket, and a neat overseas type cap. Miss Virginia Nally, 16 years old, 7319 South Green street, was the first Chicago girl to receive the new uniform.

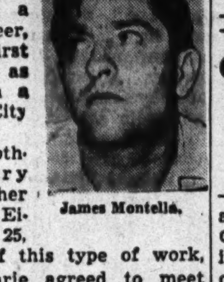
S. E. Hastings, the company's Chicago superintendent, said there are 75 girl messengers in Chicago and about 2,500 thruout the nation.

STEAL CASH AND LIQUOR.

Burglars took $178 and liquor valued at $552 from the Westol wine and liquor store at 1007 Leland avenue, the owner, Premo Westol, reported to police Wednesday.

COUNTRY GIRL'S BIG CITY CAREER ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Drowns as Boat Upsets on Ride with Boss.



James Montella.

Rose Marie Crafton, 17 years old, a pretty, auburn-haired girl from Rushville, Ill., who came to Chicago two months ago to seek a big city career, found her first job last week as a waitress in a Calumet City tavern.

But her mother, Mrs. Mary Crafton, and her sister, Mrs. Eileen Norris, 25, disapproved of this type of work, and Rose Marie agreed to meet them yesterday in Hammond, Ind., and return to Rushville.

Invited on Boat Ride.

Rose Marie told her employer, James Montella, 32 years old, of 217 Warren avenue, Calumet City, Wednesday night that she was quitting. He asked her to go for a last ride in his speedboat, at 1 a. m. yesterday. Two hours later, Montella, who lost his left forearm in a steel mill accident 16 years ago, told police that his boat had overturned in the deep water of the Calumet river at 134th street and Stony Island avenue, and that Rose Marie disappeared.

Montella, nearly hysterical at the East Side police station, told Detectives Stanley Nietupsky and John Kelly that he did not hear a sound from Miss Crafton after the boat capsized. He said he dived among the tall weeds at least 15 times trying to find her before he swam ashore for help.

Coast Guard Searching.

The coast guard and police were continuing the search late yesterday, altho they said they had abandoned hope that the girl could be still alive.

Mantella, who said his wife and three children are vacationing at Cedar Lake, Ind., was being questioned at the East Side station yesterday afternoon.

And Mrs. Crafton and Mrs. Norris, grief-stricken, still waited to take Rose Marie home.

HIGHWAY BANDIT HALTS CAR; ROBS WOMEN OF $80

A truck driving highwayman armed with a knife robbed Mrs. James Raymond Murphy of 115 George street, Barrington and Mrs. Andrew Corcoran, 5234 Adams street, Chicago, of $40 each yesterday afternoon after stopping Mrs. Corcoran's car on the Rockland road a mile east of Libertyville.

The women told Sheriff Walter L. Atkinson of Lake county that the truck had been following them for 12 miles before the driver forced them to stop at the edge of the road. He was about 30 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and had what the women called a "G. I." haircut. He threatened them with a knife, took their purses and the keys to Mrs. Corcoran's car, and drove toward Libertyville.

Sheriff Atkinson said the 1941 grocery panel truck driven by the robber had been reported stolen earlier in Elgin. It was found abandoned later on Lake street, west of Libertyville. The women's purses, emptied of money, were in it.

GROCER INDICTED FOR SALES SANS RATION POINTS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 12 [Special].—The proprietress of a meat market and grocery in the fashionable Grosse Pointe district was taken into federal court today on charges of having sold choice beef at $2 a pound, canned meats in case lots, and huge quantities of coffee to an exclusive clientele without receipt of ration stamps.

As a result of the disclosures, climaxed by the woman's indictment yesterday, officials of the office of price administration began proceedings to suspend the ration rights of 10 persons, most of them socially prominent, for their purchases at the alleged "black market."

She stood mute upon her appearance before Federal Judge Frank A. Picard and a plea of not guilty was entered. Conviction on the 11 counts in the indictment could mean a maximum sentence of 11 years in prison and fines totaling $90,000.

4 FREED IN SHIP GAMBLING CASE; CITY TO APPEAL

Gambling charges placed against four men after police confiscated 29 slot machines in a raid on July 24 on the lake excursion steamer City of Grand Rapids were dismissed by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in the Racket court yesterday.

He ruled the Municipal court was without jurisdiction in the case since the trial did not establish that the alleged gambling took place within the three mile limit where the city and federal government divide jurisdiction. Judge Caplan commented that the police did not fail to see gambling aboard the vessel, but he held they failed to produce sufficient evidence to support a finding of guilty.

City Prosecutor A. A. Pantelis was allowed 60 days to draft an appeal to the Appellate court. The slot machines and $975 taken from them was kept by the court pending disposition of the appeal.

80, HE'S ORDERED TO LET HIS SUING WIFE INTO HOME

Samuel Goldman, a vigorous, red haired 80 year old pensioner who reared a family of six sons after his marriage 20 years ago, was accused in Circuit court yesterday of taking his daily exercise in recent months by strapping his wife, Rose, 48, with a belt and punching her in the nose.

Atty. Harve Hectman, who outlined the situation to Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, said that on five occasions Goldman's lusty swings on his wife had shattered her glasses. He asked that Goldman be enjoined from such activities pending disposition of Mrs. Goldman's divorce action.

Mrs. Goldman also demanded the right to continue to share the Goldman home at 1103 South Washtenaw avenue. Harold S. Lansing, attorney for the husband, objected on what he termed moral grounds but Hectman, citing Goldman's advanced age, asserted there could be no moral issue. Judge Harrington agreed with Hectman when he stipulated that both should occupy the house and enjoined the husband to keep the peace.

Lake County Authorizes Personal Tax Lawsuits

State's Atty. Harry A. Hall of Lake county was authorized yesterday in a resolution adopted unanimously by the Lake county board of supervisors to begin court action to collect delinquent personal property taxes totaling $250,000 for the years 1938 to 1941.

POLICEMAN SENT TO JAIL FOR PLOT TO FREE BANKER

Gets 60 Days in Switch of Defendants.

Park District Policeman William Katelhut, 44 years old, six time winner of awards for heroic conduct during 19 years on the force, yesterday was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail for contempt of court in an exploded plot to substitute a 25 year old Negro for a 70 year old white banker as defendant in a disorderly conduct case before the Municipal court.

William Katelhut [top] and James Coleman.

Sentence was passed by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman, who also sent James Coleman, Negro professional bondsman, to jail for six months. Edgar Morgan, the banker who lives in the Hyde Park hôtel, was not in court and his $50 bond put up by Coleman was forfeited. A new warrant and an attachment for contempt also were issued for Morgan.

Proxy Defendant Missing.

The young Negro who was switched into Morgan's place as defendant before Judge Edelman on July 26 never has been identified or found and the court issued a John Doe warrant for him.

The Chicago Crime commission was credited with exposing the substitution to the court.

Attorneys Judson Parker for Katelhut and Joseph Clayton, Negro, for Coleman, both pleaded for their clients. Parker cited the park policeman's long and honorable record, and presented his denial that he got any money for what he did.

Katelhut's deposition said he consented hesitantly when the Negro bondsman, Coleman, said as the case was called that a young Negro would appear as the defendant.

Bondsman Blamed.

The policeman indicated that the bondsman, a man of some power on the south side, was the motivating figure in the plot.

"This court was imposed upon; there was a deliberate attempt to foist another man for the real defendant upon the court," the judge said, and passed sentence.

The court, however, took under advisement a motion to vacate sentences, while ordering Asst. State's Atty. C. Vernon Thompson to draw up the contempt orders and present them at 2 p. m today for action. He released Katelhut and Coleman on their own recognizance.

The switch occurred after Morgan was arrested on Sunday, July 25, at 53d street and the lake, where two girls told of seeing him lying apparently naked on a rock in the sun. The girls admitted they wouldn't have said anything had it not been that two boys, 15 and 16 years old, "kidded them about it." The girls refused to sign a complaint.

MACHINISTS ASK END OF RIVALRY; WOULD JOIN AFL

The Mechanics Educational Society of America, an independent union of machinists, has applied for membership in the American Federation of Labor, and its application will be considered today by the AFL's executive council in the Drake hotel.

The society, headed by Matthew Smith of Detroit, claims a membership of 160,000. It was originally organized in competition with the AFL and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

William Green, president of the AFL, said that the society is applying for membership to get jurisdiction of all machinist unions in the AFL. The AFL at this time does not have an over-all machinist union because of the withdrawal on June 1 of the International Association of Machinists. However, this association may seek to return to the AFL fold. This possibility also will be considered today by the AFL.

FATAL SHOOTING OF EX-DICE GIRL BRINGS NEW QUIZ

A state's attorney's investigation was opened yesterday into the death of Laura Stackowicz, 23 years old, a former dice girl, who was found fatally shot in the home of Joseph De Grazio in Melrose Park July 24.

The investigation was asked by sisters of Miss Stackowicz. A coroner's jury returned an open verdict at the inquest and the sisters have expressed doubt as to the suicide theory advanced at the hearing.

FRIDAY THE 13TH TODAY; THIS IS WHAT THEY SAY

In the End You'll Find It's All Very Silly.

Today is Friday the 13th. On the eve of the only bad luck day on the 1943 calendar—next one is in October, 1944—various persons around town had various things to say.

Three little tots at the Guy Faulds home, 1224 North Shore boulevard, jumped up and down and said goodie. For today each of the three, Cecelia, Terrance, and Timothy will be 3 years old. The triplets didn't give a fig for the fact that their birthday came on Friday the 13th. They spent almost their entire first year in a hospital and are looking forward to nothing but good luck from now on. Their older brother, Guy Jr., who was 5 Wednesday, and their baby sister, Marcia, 1½, will join in eating chocolate ice cream.

Last Day Together.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Erickson, 2940 North Kolmar avenue, whose lives are full of Friday the 13ths, will say good-by. Both were born on Friday the 13th. They were married on Aug. 13, 1937, which was also a Friday. Today is their first anniversary to fall on a Friday and tomorrow Erickson leaves for duty with the Seabees, navy construction unit.

Members of Square Post No. 232, American Legion, said whoopee. At least 13 past commanders will do the usual Friday the 13th hijinks when they meet at 7921 South Halsted street this evening to break mirrors and walk under ladders.

Council Says "Silly."

Seventy bicycle racing stars from the last century will gather at the Edgewater Beach hotel this evening to recall the Columbian exhibition where the greatest bike races of all time were held exactly 50 years ago. They will say pooh. A. D. Kennedy, 1922 Winona street, chairman, said bike racers were too hardy to worry about the day.

The National Safety council also had a comment to make on Friday the 13th. The council said: "It's all very silly."

The entire and absolute freedom of the press is essential to the preservation of government on the basis of a free constitution. —Daniel Webster.

THE FALLING STAR OF ADOLF HITLER.

The reports from neutral sources, like Spain and Switzerland, that Hitler is being retired to the background and that Goering, working with army and navy heads, is taking over are more than half accepted as true. This is because they are plausible. A broken down fuehrer is of no use to any one. It may be embarrassing for men who have submitted to him for 10 years to confess that they have been chumps, but when neck saving is in order face saving is of minor consequence. We are all half believing the reports are true now because we all believe that Hitler's downfall is and has been inevitable and that as Germany approaches extremity its endangered herrenvolk, looking out for themselves, will toss him to the nearest wolves.

Russia might be satisfied with that one victim. Stalin has been very soft spoken of late altho the Russian people have been described as angry and vengeful on a large scale. None of the other European countries that have been imposed upon is in a mood now to count proscribed Nazis on the fingers of one hand. Probably every community in occupied Europe has marked several minor Hitlerites for retribution. Much depends on what victor takes over in Germany. Russia now offers the better terms. We should not ignore the possibility of a sudden realignment of forces on the continent. No doubt it will be uppermost in the talk of Mr. Churchill, Mr. Roosevelt, and their aides.

Again the President and the prime minister have failed to draw Comrade Stalin into a conference. No doubt they would have gone to any place where he would meet them. Mr. Roosevelt, thru Mr. Davies, has not been able to do anything with the Georgian and the best Mr. Churchill could do was to go to a formal Stalin dinner in a zoot suit and be insulted. However, we may believe that whatever mutations of human affairs are in prospect and however many disappointments the well disposed will suffer at the hands of the unregenerate, we are seeing the end of that villainously odd fellow, Adolf Hitler, who reached his spot when he stood at the tomb of Napoleon as one conqueror saluting another and who may now be going the way of Benito Mussolini.

It is difficult to believe that this caricature of Charlie Chaplin could ever have exercised a magnetic fascination over his crowds, and yet there is plenty of evidence that when he had warmed up for one of his long barking speeches his great audiences were under his spell. No man could rise from obscurity to power over most of a continent without qualities of command even if only malignant.

If Hindenburg had remained loyal to the republic, if he had been younger, if he had chosen his chancellors intelligently and had supported them faithfully, Hitler might not have happened. There are many other ifs—if the constitution of the republic had not contained its own destruction in the provision for its suspension in emergency when fundamental law is needed most; if there had been no powerful Communist party in Germany; if men of wealth like Thyssen and Hugenberg had not thought they could subsidize and use the Nazis; if the victors in the other war had not become wise too late with regard to reparations and indemnities; if these victors had been intelligent in seeing the emergence of the terror and stopped it when they could—many ifs, above which rose the Nazis vith German technology and military skill at their disposal to give the world an age of unique horror while they built themselves palaces and fattened on the land.

In any country, eventually even in Germany, the Hitler era would be recognized as one of delirium tremens. You'd expect people to come out of it twitching and cowering, dazed and glassy eyed, needing the cure and spiritual consolations. The Austrian social misfit, who, rising out of his small frustrations, seized nearly all of Europe, may have done no more than inflate the transcendental follies and manias of a hundred years of dominating German thought into a wild, barbaric, inhuman climax of blaring trumpets, clashing swords, and human sacrifice. He hitched the dynamo to the words. Curious that an Austrian picture post card painter should have been a better impresario for the twilight of the gods than the divinely born Hohenzollerns.

The wedding of German philosophy and the Gestapo brought forth the orgies over which Hitler presided as a chattering fury. The very explanations of the thing are terrifying. They strike at man's belief in himself.

A BLOW AT CHICAGO'S HEALTH.

Mr. Roosevelt has refused to permit increased diversion of water from Lake Michigan to protect this city's drinking water from pollution. Mr. Roosevelt has demonstrated that his only interest in Chicago is the votes he can get out of it. His attitude poses a problem to Mayor Kelly. The mayor was largely instrumental in obtaining the nomination for the third term, and has been uniformly loyal to Mr. Roosevelt. The mayor acted in the lake diversion matter as the spokesman for the people of Chicago, seeking a remedy for the pollution which menaces their health and threatens the city with epidemics of water borne diseases. His plea was spurned by the man who is so greatly his political debtor. Mr. Kelly got nowhere because Mr. Roosevelt felt confident that he could walk all over the mayor without risk to fourth term ambitions.

Let Chicago, said Mr. Roosevelt, "borrow" increased diversion from the 1,500 cubic feet a second allowed it by the Supreme court decree of 1930. This borrowing would, as the president said, have to be repaid by cutting the diversion below 1,500 feet later in the year.

The trouble with his seemingly plausible suggestion is that it is already being practiced. It has, in fact, been routine procedure for a number of years to increase diversion at periods when pollution is at its worst and to pay back that increase by cutting below the allowed rate at other seasons. This year the city's "borrowings" are already 10 per cent above the allowed diversion.

Mr. Roosevelt was not sufficiently interested in the merits of Chicago's case to go into the facts of current procedure because he had no intention of deciding the case on its merits. His motives are easily discernible. They are betrayed by his long time promotion of the development of political water power in the St. Lawrence river. It was the Niagara falls exploiters and the St. Lawrence power promoters who played on the jealousy of Great Lakes ports to inspire the suit that resulted in the present limitation of Chicago's diversion. They are determined to have every bit of power that they can get out of the river and they have no interest in the health of Chicago. Mr. Roosevelt is playing their game as he always has in the past.

His attitude in the diversion case is in striking contrast to the pretended interest of the New Deal in public health. In that field it is seeking greater and greater federal appropriations, leading up to the present drive to socialize medicine and hospitals and make every citizen in the country obligated to the rulers in Washington for his medical care. But when Chicago proposes to do something for the health of its own citizens, which will require no federal appropriations, and, indeed, no appropriations of any sort, Mr. Roosevelt turns thumbs down. The planned protection of public health loses its attractions when there is no money to be spent and no jobs to be bestowed.

ALL PAPERS PLEASE COPY.

THE TRIBUNE received a form letter the other day, written on the stationery of the war food administration, Washington, D. C. The letter was unsigned, but below the space in which the signature should have appeared was the title "Administrator."

When we read the letter we thought it might well be a hoax. It said that the administrator had prepared a number of advertisments giving "the true facts in the food situation." We were asked to solicit local merchants to sponsor [i. e., pay for] the publication of these advertisments in THE TRIBUNE. The letter said in part:

"I shall appreciate your help in making it clear to business and industry in your community how important sponsored local advertising will be in advising the public of the food situation. . . ."

Well, it wasn't a hoax. We have since received copies of the prepared advertisments accompanied by further appeals to engage in a grand and glorious patriotic shakedown of our advertisers. Evidently it's a system because in the same mail came a husky portfolio of similar stuff from the treasury in connection with the forthcoming loan.

There are four things we want to say about this business.

The first is that the administration is trying to bribe the newspapers. Any newspaper publisher who allows himself to think otherwise is plainly permitting his self-interest to blind him to an obvious truth.

The second is that, for all its masquerade of patriotism, this is political advertising. The food advertisments read like campaign speeches intended to make the people forget the blundering stupidity that has characterized the administration's handling of the food problem. The first in the series of treasury ads is all Roosevelt, with a campaign picture of him dominating the page.

The third thing we want to say is that at a time when paper is said to be in short supply, a more wasteful use of it can scarcely be conceived.

And finally, we wish the record to show that so far as THE TRIBUNE is concerned, its advertising department isn't going to solicit anybody to put any of these advertisments in this newspaper. If any of our advertisers, of their own accord, are moved to offer us this business, we'll print the stuff provided we can do so conveniently, without sacrifice of news matter and legitimate advertising.

We like to make money and the balance sheet shows that we're pretty good at it, but we have a strong preference for clean money and we hate to waste paper.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT NEEDED.

[The Detroit News.]

Capital punishment for murder, if it had existed in Michigan, might have deterred the four youths who set out with a .22 caliber rifle last June 21 to kill Negroes.

There is a type of mentality to which the only practical deterrent from this most evil of crimes is the threat of retribution in kind. No one can have read the callous comments of these youths on their deeds without gaining the impression that theirs undoubtedly are mentalities of that sort.

They are untouched by remorse and undismayed by the prospect of imprisonment.

Michigan should have a law that would exact of the deliberate killer the one penalty he is apt to respect, the penalty of death.

A CHINESE ACTOR.

It isn't the heat so much as the irritability.

* * *

We scan the news and learn that Mei-Lan-Fang, China's favorite actor, is said to have died in Shanghai from Japanese poison. The dispatch adds that he acted in New York in February, 1930. That's right, and he also acted in Chicago and San Francisco. Several thousand words of first-hand impressions of his female impersonations can be found in THE TRIBUNE'S files. But for historical purposes nothing is supposed to happen on the American stage except in New York.

* * *

Mr. Mei appeared at the Princess theater [now a parking lot] with his Shanghai company and costumes in splendid array, and demonstrated that Chinese and American female impersonators are not sisters under the skin. In China this seems to be an ancient and poetic art, as formal as ceramic design; in this country it is farcical clowning. The tour was a good-will affair, with the blessing of the Chinese government.

* * *

Because of the New York obsession, the history of the theater in Chicago is the most inaccessible subject that a researcher could tackle. It is buried in the mountainous files of the newspapers; it hides in dusty albums of playbills, which are awaiting the junk dealers in attics and basements; it lurks in the foggy memories of old-timers, who are 98 per cent inaccurate in every statement they make. Only at the University of Chicago, where Prof. Napier Wilt has been working on the subject for some years, is there an approximately complete collection of the documentary material.

* * *

A dramatization of "Jane Eyre" is now in Chicago performance—the same version that Katharine Hepburn used here six or seven years ago. But we are betting that "Who's Who in the Theater" and the Hollywood reference books do not say that Miss Hepburn gave this "Jane Eyre" in Chicago before New York—if she ever got to New York in it, which we doubt.

VACATION IN BRIEF.

Take the road that leads from care,
 Far from drear employ;
Meadows, woods, and soon we're there—
 Joy!

Days and nights with friends of old,
 Where no fears molest;
Sun and sand, and yarns well told,
 Rest.

Sudden comes the call to go,
 No more fields to roam;
Back to city streets—and so,
 Home. Thomas Curtis Clark.

The Duke Among the Highbrows.

Hon. Linemaster: A cupple weeks ago a mess of supposedly highbrow jerks pull their weekly eatin meeting; these palookas know theres a paper shortage but still insist on scribbling their a'la tripe poetry. I been reading about doing away with paper napkins which is OK by me cause a guy can always fall back on his sleeve, but to me this poem writing is tha last straw, tha one that breaks tha giraffes back, or is it a hyena?

Ennyway at this perticular meetin' they changed their poem reading to a discussion on astronomy. When regular he guys are gabbin about Stan Hack's batting average an Mussolini's kick in tha rear an cussing Ickes gas act, these birds minds are up in tha clouds. On a/c 6 or 7 of these nuts can't get a word in edgewise tha same topic is gonna be opened up again at tha next eatin, so I figgers I'm gonna make bums out of tha gang by studying up on tha planet racket.

When I gets home I asks tha Mama if we got a book with stars in it an she says that any of our kids movie magazines is full of 'em, so I gotta tell her I mean sky stars an she says there's a place in Grant park that they call the aquarium where they learn ya all about them. Guess she knows her onions cause this here Shandy Gaff egg had mentioned tha word but he called it Aquarius, which I suppose is tha way a limehouse henglisher wood mispronounce it.

When I gets to tha dump whadda ya think its full of? Fish! S'help me, did I give her hell. When I gets to tha next meetin I'm sunk; I got no learnin an I figgers I'll keep my trap shut an pretend I'm listenin'. Quizzicuss starts arguing something about Capricorn; he would, anything thats corny is right up his alley. Dean Clark shoots off his puss about Pluto; if that's a star or a planet I'm in the wrong pew cause I been drinking tha stuff.

Sumbody asks Scot M'Tavish if he ever had his horrorscope looked up an he tells us about tha bloke who sold him a scope fer 4 bits an tells him a sick uncle is gonna croak an leave him 10 grand. Well, tha jerk kicks tha bucket but only leaves him 5 grand, so Mac figgers on a/c he only got ½ tha dough he shood get 2 bits back from tha horrorscoper.

If all these goofs ever even get close to heaven I ain't got no drag. Duke Bakrak.

PRESSURE HOME CANNING IS SAFER.

Home canning has become a national industry. It may be the means of preserving a normal state of nutrition. Huge volumes of rations ordinarily available for domestic consumption are going to our troops and our allies. In consequence, certain supplies may be hard to obtain even at advanced prices.

Almost every housewife knows how to "put up" fruits and to make jelly. But only a relatively small number have had enough experience to handle vegetables safely. Labor, as well as expense, is wasted if the materials spoil.

There are two enemies which must be guarded against—enzymes and ferments, which all growing things contain; and the bacteria, yeasts, and molds which exist everywhere but which cannot be allowed to contaminate the finished product.

The cold pack is rarely recommended. The temperature of the food must be raised under pressure to higher than boiling, and held there long enough to destroy all germ life. Most of the dangerous microbes are found in the soil, which means that every particle of dirt must be washed away with repeated rinsings.

One of the most harmful organisms is known as botulinus. It may not be killed by boiling [212 degrees F.] unless the edibles are kept at that level for from six to 10 hours.

This explains why the pressure cooker becomes important. If a force of 10 pounds is maintained in the receptacle, 40 minutes will be adequate for many articles. But, as an added precaution, this interval may well be doubled. This insures a temperature of 240 degrees F. Make certain that the apparatus is furnished with enough water to allow for a slight oozing of steam from the petcock. This avoids air pockets and prevents suction from drawing liquids out of the jars.

Routine procedures include washing garden or orchard produce thoroly, and removing or rejecting all decayed portions. The first cooking is then in order. To all fruits, granulated sugar is added which extracts the natural flavor. After five minutes of boiling, the material is transferred to a clean vessel and covered with hot sirup. The container may then be placed in the pressure equipment or in a washboiler, and brought to the desired heat.

After the caps have been screwed tightly, the jars may be inverted to check for leaks. If any develop, the processing part of the operation [re-heating] must be repeated.

Foods fall into two classes—acid and non-acid. The former are fruits, tomatoes, rhubarb, etc. In the non-acid group are vegetables such as asparagus, beans, peas, corn, as well as meat and poultry. For most acid types, thoro boiling is sufficient. In other words, special treatment may not be needed for acid nutriments. But all non-acid varieties must be processed at not less than 240 degrees F., which calls for a pressure of between 10 and 15 pounds.

[Instructions on home canning may be obtained from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., Farmer's Bulletin No. 1762; or the University of California, College of Agriculture, Berkeley, Calif., circular No. 276.]

WORRY MAKES IT WORSE.

Z. writes: My wife insists that she has hardening of the arteries and, in consequence, she lives in constant dread and fear. How can we determine whether this condition exists?

REPLY.

We all exhibit this tendency—at least, those past forty. With some, the process may advance more rapidly than with others. A simple test is to check the blood pressure. If it is within normal limits, the patient has nothing to worry about.

CHRONIC SORE.

F. B. writes: I am 70 years old and I have had a sore on my ankle for 25 years. Do you think it is curable?

REPLY.

Surely within the next 25. Much depends upon the character and the cause of the lesion. Proper management will heal varicose ulcers. If the bone is involved, the problem is more intricate. In such circumstances, skilled surgery may be required.

UNNECESSARY.

C. E. writes: How do you feel about the daily enema habit?

REPLY.

Useless to bad. Less harmful probably than a daily cathartic. Bowel retraining, with proper diet and two or three glasses of water a half hour before breakfast is advised.

EXPERT CARE NEEDED.

T. H. writes: Is chronic pyelitis curable?

REPLY.

Yes, at the hands of a skilled urologist. Routine cases frequently respond to calcium mandelate, which renders the urine highly acid.

As One Twa to Another.

TWA airlines' Chicago office received an almost unconscionably grateful letter the other day. The writer, a sergeant in the royal Canadian air force, said that he was a humble man as yet not singled out by public acclaim and that publicity is of no real value to him, but nonetheless he wanted to thank the airlines for keeping his name before the public, or, as he phrased it, "so insistently floating above the heads of the public." As a token of his gratitude he offered to come to work for TWA in the post-war world as an accountant. His name: A. J. Twa.

Behaviorism.

To this column's unprepared, unsolicited, and until this minute unthought-of monograph on "The Occasional Queer Behavior of Bartenders," a crony now has added the following data on the loop bartender who said to a customer who ordered a Martini:

"I must tell you, sir, that our gin is very bad, not real gin at all, just imitation."

The customer took a whisky sour just as a new arrival moved onto the adjoining stool and ordered a Tom Collins. It was served without comment.

The Gentleman Thief.

If any one tries to convince you that the martial aspect of the world as a whole has crowded chivalry out of the picture, do not believe the scoundrel. One of our spies on the social scene, Mrs. Gertrude Alden Nealy, was boarding a crowded L in the loop the other day when she noticed that the purse of a woman ahead of her was hanging loose-lipped and open. She tried to catch up with her and warn her, but was unable. After they both were on the train, she saw a gentleman [the use of the noun is hers] peer into the lady's bag and delicately remove the change purse. He then sat down. Mrs. Nealy followed him. "Sir," she said, with the best mode of address at her command, "I saw you take that lady's purse. Now, give it back to her." To Mrs. Nealy's utter astonishment he arose, walked over, bowed graciously, and, a true Chesterfield, said: "Madam, you lost your purse."

Abiding Chew.

A couple we know came home late one night and before going to bed wandered around to see that their four children were safely asleep. Three were, but the jaws of the fourth were moving steadily and rapidly in a somnambulistic mastication of that war hazard, chewing gum. The mother went to the bathroom, obtained a piece of tissue, and went back to the child's bed. "Son," she said, shaking him gently, "spit out your gum." The child rolled over, opened one eye, and said, sourly, "No. Get yourself a fresh piece."

It Wouldn't Go Far Anyway.

The office philosopher, a sage who spends his working hours predicting what effect the bare legs of today will have on sociology, comes forward with the thought that girls with painted stockings cannot stick a $5 bill in them.

This Is America. XI.

Without a "Pomp and Circumstance"
And taking but a forward glance,
Our independence was declared
And now, as always, this is shared
By every true American.

A man who saw naught but the good
In other men, and understood
That every freeman had a right
For which to work and which to fight,
Was loyal Thomas Jefferson.

He left the work of fruitful mind
As heritage for all mankind.
His declaration was approved.
And hearts of other men were moved
To sign this independence scroll.

Thus Thomas Jefferson still lives
As each American who gives
His best of thought for better ways
Illuminating future days
In this, our land, America.
—Martha Wendt.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

THE OLDER WORKER.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—A glance at the help wanted section of a newspaper indicates that opportunity, which stopped knocking at the door of the worker who attained the "venerable" age of 40, is again beckoning the seasoned old timer to get in line at a paymaster's window. Altho the war has been a prime factor in providing gangway for the prematurely discarded worker to reënter employment, the score sheets on industrial accidents, absenteeism and rejects on the production line have undoubtedly had a significant bearing on the change of attitude. HOAG.

WAR GUILT TRIALS.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—There is considerable talk by people in high places of this country placing on trial the people in high places of the enemy countries. If we are to have real trials and not merely thinly veiled lynching parties, the tribunal should not have an interest in the outcome of the trials. Therefore, the allied nations should not set up the court nor pick the judges and jurors. As Edmund Burke phrased it, "No man should sit in judgment in his own behalf." That would leave Argentina, Sweden, Switzerland, and perhaps several smaller nations to set up the court. Their nationals would serve as judges and jurors. Such a court would have summary jurisdiction since there would be no appeal.

Would we trust ourselves to such a forum? To be fair would we not also have to permit the axis powers to make charges against us and have our leaders presented to the same court? We don't believe that Hitler, Tojo, or Mussolini would be so tender or considerate of us if they should be victorious. Not at all, they probably would just stand our leaders before firing squads and no questions asked. But we do not care to emulate their practices. In fact, we are fighting them in order to destroy their way and preserve our own way of life. Our fight is in vain if we adopt their morals and ethics and conduct. Now if what we are really aiming to do is to murder certain of our military prisoners let's do it the Hitler and Tojo way and make no pretense of being Christians. I said that there would be no appeal, which is not altogether true. The bar of history will sit in review of our acts. Do we want those reviewers to lift the veil and see us as barbarians?

RAYMOND A. KINZIE.

SLEIGHT OF HAND?

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The housewife today pays 49 cents a pound for round steak. The butcher then walks into the ice box and comes out with a pound of ground meat that is anything but the round steak he put on the scale. There should be a law to compel butchers to keep the grinding machine out in the shop where the customer can see what she is paying for. L. A.

WAR AND THE STOCK MARKET.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—In England good war news or prospects of peace mean good times ahead and make the stock market go up. Here the prospects of peace mean more confusion, restrictions, and crackpot regulations. It is a sad state of affairs when big business must be afraid of victory. M. S.

TAXICABS AND PLEASURE DRIVING.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Let each part of the United States enjoy itself according to its facilities and its tastes. In New York we find night clubs in high ratio. There people seem to satisfy their longing for recreation by flocking to such places. In the midwest, pa and ma put the kids in the family flivver and enjoy the outdoors, of which we have plenty, and what's wrong with that?

However, we are spied upon and stopped. At the same time the writer has observed at one night club in New York, taxi after taxi in endless procession, discharging cargoes, only to return later in a parade to pick them up. This can be multiplied by the hundreds in that city alone.

What pull have the night clubs of New York that prompts the Little Weed in Blossom to permit his citizens to use gas to spend a night in a foul, smoke-filled room and then to cast reflection on those who wish to enjoy God's clean air and sunshine? Before the gas rations are cut for this area, cut it for the taxicabs of the cities of the east, where the great mass use cabs and don't own flivvers. PETE ROLEUM.

PERFORMANCE AND PROMISES.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—At the time Mr. Roosevelt made his promise 20 bills had been introduced in congress presenting in substance the identical benefits to veterans suggested by the great radio voice. During the last World war we in uniform were promised every conceivable kind of post-war security. Then we became veterans and the war was over and we were no longer heroes.

Some congressmen still fought for the pledges made us and perhaps would have succeeded in obtaining them, but we changed administrations and Mr. Roosevelt became President and dictator of a great political machine.

He vetoed all veterans' legislation. In fact, for the first time in history, a President made a personal address before congress in order to defeat a bill, the soldiers' bonus bill. Payments to disabled veterans and payments to veterans' widows, and any and all legislation to help the former heroes was vetoed by him. Now, with a fourth term coming up, he must of necessity make a bid for votes. G. R. C.

ORPHAN'S BIRTH CERTIFICATE.

Chicago, July 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I shall appreciate any help you can give me toward obtaining a birth certificate. My parents died when I was a small child and I was placed in an orphanage. Altho I know the date of my birth, I have no knowledge of the place. I'm extremely anxious to obtain a certificate in order to get a defense job. What procedure must I follow? G. R.

If you are still under legal age you could be adopted and obtain a birth certificate in that way. Otherwise, it would be necessary to follow up the available clews and find an actual record.

Melons Linger On in Pickles and Preserves

Mary Meade's Daily Food Bulletin

PROCESSED FOODS [blue stamps]: 48 points in R, S, T good thru Sept. 20.

MEATS, CHEESE, FATS, OILS [red stamps]: 16 points in U valid Aug. 1; 16 points in V valid Aug. 8; 16 points in W valid Aug. 15. T, U, V, W, all good thru August.

SUGAR: Coupon No. 13, 5 pounds, good thru Aug. 15. Canning sugar: Coupons No. 15 and 16, 5 pounds each.

The memory of plump watermelons and tasty cantaloupe will linger into next year's meals if pickle making and preserving become part of your food conservation program. There's real economy and enjoyment, too, in eating lots of watermelon this summer, for after the juicy, pink flesh has disappeared, you still have the rind to make into crisp, spicy pickles and mouth watering preserves.

Only the mellow flesh of cantaloupe is edible, but this fruit is well worth saving, too. A small amount of cantaloupe preserves on the table will make your butter supply go farther, especially when tempting hot breads are served.

Watermelon Rind Preserves.

2 cups watermelon rind, cut in inch squares
2 cups sugar
4 cups water
2 tablespoons preserved ginger, thinly sliced
½ lemon, sliced

The pink and green parts of rind should have been removed. Soak rind over night in solution of salt water, one tablespoon salt to one quart water. In the morning, drain, rinse with cold water, cover with boiling water, and cook rapidly for 15 minutes. Drain. Boil sugar and water in recipe together 5 minutes. Add rind, lemon, and preserved ginger. Cook rapidly until melon is transparent. Pack into clean, hot jars and seal.

Watermelon Rind Pickles.

2 pounds watermelon rind [about 1 quart]
2 cups sugar
2 cups water
1 lemon, sliced thinly
2 cups vinegar
1 tablespoon stick cinnamon
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 teaspoon whole allspice

Soak watermelon rind over night in salt water, using 3 tablespoons salt to a quart of water. Drain off brine and cook rind in clear water until tender. Add to hot pickling sirup, made by combining the remaining ingredients and boiling them for 10 minutes. [Spices should be tied in a bag and removed after rind has cooked in the sirup.] Cook rapidly until the rind is clear. Pack into clean, hot jars and seal at once.

Cantaloupe Preserves.

4 cups diced cantaloupe
3 cups sugar
Juice of 2 lemons

Cut firm, ripe lemons into 1 inch slices, crosswise. Remove rind and seeds. Cut the slices into uniform pieces. Mix melon with sugar. Cover and let stand 12 hours in cool place. Add lemon juice. Heat slowly to boiling, then boil rapidly until fruit is tender and clear. Pack into hot, clean jars and seal at once.

Peach and Cantaloupe Conserve.

2 cups diced peaches
2 cups diced cantaloupe
3 cups sugar
Juice and grated rind of 2 lemons
¾ cup blanched, chopped English walnuts

Combine all ingredients except nuts, and cook mixture until it is thick and clear. Remove from heat, add nuts, mix well, and pour into clean, hot jars or glasses. Seal immediately.

Cantaloupe Sweet Pickles.

3 cantaloupes [slightly underripe]
2 cups vinegar
1½ cups sugar
6 whole cloves
4 short sticks cinnamon

Pare cantaloupes, remove seeds, and cut into thin strips about 2 inches long. Boil sugar and vinegar together for 5 minutes, add spices [tied in a bag] and fruit. Boil fruit in the sirup until it is clear. Pack into clean hot jars and seal.

Baked Fish Casserole Is Delightful Dish as Substitute for Meat

Baked Fish Casserole.
[Serves six.]

2 cups cooked flaked fish
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice or vinegar
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ cup water
1 cup medium white sauce
2 egg yolks, beaten
Salt, pepper
2 egg whites, beaten
½ cup soft bread crumbs

Combine fish, onion, lemon juice, parsley, and water. Add white sauce to egg yolks and combine these with the first mixture. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Fold in the beaten egg whites. Pour the whole into a well greased baking dish; cover with crumbs, and bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 to 45 minutes, or until "set."

Tomato Prices Down; Booklets Tell How to Can and Pickle Them

Tomatoes have at last entered the low price bracket. Not only are they low in price but abundant in supply, so that now is the time for tomato canners to be on the alert.

Directions for canning this fine vegetable to use in a variety of ways next winter are included in Mary Meade's booklet, "Homemaker's Guide to Canning." Cold pack, open kettle, and salad pack methods are given, as well as a recipe for tomato puree.

A splendid chili sauce which retains much of its bright tomato color is to be found in another of Mary Meade's popular booklets, "Favorite Pickles and Relishes," which also contains tomato catsup and uncooked chili sauce recipes. [Recipes are included for watermelon pickles, quick dill pickles, pickled onions, and cantaloupe sweet pickles.]

Bran Cereal Can Be Used in Wide Variety of Ways

Bran cereal is most often seen in the breakfast bowl but its nutritive value can be extended to other dishes, too. Crumbled bran makes a good, crispy topping for casseroles; it's an excellent stretcher for ground meat in loaves and patties and its flavor is delicious in puddings, cereal pastry crusts and fruit muffins.

Cherries in Cantaloupe.

Halves of small-sized cantaloupe, filled with bits of cracked ice and bright, red cherries on their stems, make a delightful appetizer or dessert for the company meal. This dish is especially attractive too.

WESSON'S "QUIK-CHANGE" RECIPE
Mix! Shake in jar! 2 minutes!

½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sugar
Dash white pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¾ cup WESSON OIL
¼ cup vinegar

Now that nutritionists recommend serving a salad every day, this Wesson Quik-Change recipe is more valuable to you than ever. Just add one different ingredient each day—and you give new appetizing appeal to your salads. For instance, to the basic recipe add:—

FOR TOSSED GREEN SALADS
2 tablespoons cottage cheese and 1 tablespoon chopped watercress

FOR FRUIT SALADS
Use ¼ cup orange juice instead of vinegar —or—

Dr. Goodspeed Book Parallels Bible Versions

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed's 44th book, "The Goodspeed Parallel New Testament" [University of Chicago Press, $2], will appear on bookstands on Tuesday. The book sets forth in attractive parallel columns the King James version, published in 1611, and the Goodspeed translation which created a sensation when it appeared in 1923.

The sensational reception of the Goodspeed New Testament remains a surprise to the author, and to the publisher, with total sales now in excess of 500,000, in addition to its syndication in many newspapers. Despite severe criticism in both secular and theological quarters when the translation appeared, the Goodspeed New Testament now occupies a standard place among Bible lovers and biblical scholars. Only a thousand or so copies of the book were expected to be sold, mainly to scholars and institutional libraries, when it was first published.

Among reasons underlying the immense task of evolving a new translation are the following: Since the publication of the King James version, more than 300 years ago, many new manuscripts of the Bible have been discovered. These, together with biblical citations from early Christian leaders, found more recently, made many changes necessary. All of these, after laborious editing, became foundations for the famous Westcott and Hort critical Greek text of the Bible on which the English standard revision of 1881 and the subsequent American revision were based. The Westcott and Hort text is standard among Protestants.

Dr. Goodspeed based his translation on Westcott and Hort's text, with variations called for by manuscript discoveries and critical scholarship of the last 75 years. The King James-Goodspeed New Testament, with its 600 pages, is designed to bring the literary grandeur of the King James version into line to line parallel with today's ordinary speech, and at the same time to recognize the incredible bulk of modern scholarship which is constantly being poured into biblical manuscripts. From these manuscripts "the world's best seller" is translated for American readers in their own rugged language.

The Goodspeed New Testament uses American words instead of British. For instance, "pence," is translated into 20 cents, "staves" into clubs, "translated" [as referring to Enoch, "who was not for God took him"] into taken up, and "bowels" into compassion or affection. As another example, the "two or three firkins of wine" become 20 or 30 gallons. In the King James version the speech of all the characters was alike with characteristic phrase or mood ironed out. Dr. Goodspeed restored the individual character of speech or literary form to each personality, as based on infinite study of original documents.

Dr. Goodspeed is a member of the New Testament committee for the forthcoming American revised version of the Bible, set up by the International Council of Religious Education, which owns the copyright on the present American standard version. Dr. Goodspeed said the committee hopes to complete its work in a fortnight. He leaves tomorrow for Northfield, Mass., where the committee will convene next week. A reception in his honor was held yesterday at the University club.

Religious News Notes

Experiments with comic strip type cartoons outlining the lives of great biblical characters are now under way under the direction of the department of church school literature of the Methodist church. The first series, on the highly adventurous life of St. Paul, depicting 50 episodes, has been prepared in a brightly colored cartoon book similar to those on sale at newsstands. Dr. Roy L. Smith, 740 Rush street, editor of the official Methodist publication, the Christian Advocate, calls the experiment "one of the shrewdest pieces of religious adventuring of which we have heard." . . . The 14th class of graduating midshipmen from Abbott hall will hold its farewell service at St. James Episcopal church, 666 Rush street, Sunday morning. The Rev. J. Bradford Pengelly will be in charge, and Capt. Benyaurd B. Wygant, commanding officer of the school, will read the lessons. The Cherubimic hymn by Bortniansky, sung by the midshipmen's glee club, will be a musical feature of the service. . . . "Does It Matter What We Believe?" will be the Rev. Edwin W. Todd's sermon subject Sunday morning at First Congregational church, 1613 Washington boulevard.

Henry Staalesen of the North Side Gospel center will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Christian Transportation fellowship to be held in room 312 of the Union station at 6 p. m. Tuesday night. . . . The Rev. Harry J. Hager, pastor of Bethany Reformed church, 111th street and Perry avenue, asserts that the Bethany church program this summer is defeating the stay at home effects of gasoline rationing. Dr. Hager reports that as many as 15,000 persons have attended services in a single week. . . . Prof. and Mrs. Elbert T. Tindley, nationally known Negro gospel singers, are appearing at Bethany services this week, with Dr. John Linton, Scottish Canadian Bible teacher, as speaker. Chief Whitefeather of the Sioux tribe [the Rev. Teyet Ramar, Ph. D.] and grandson of Sitting Bull will close a summer series during the fortnight beginning Aug. 22. . . . The theological student guest speaker at Lutheran vespers at 3:30 p. m. Sunday in Kimball hall, will be Arthur Schwartz. The social activities for service men and women following the vespers will be held in Grant park. . . . Lt. [j. g.] James Austin Dolan of the navy chaplain's corps has been graduated from the Williamsburg, Va., school for chaplains and has been ordered to duty at an east coast naval training station. He is a former member of the Chicago diocesan mission band, 4128 South Ellis avenue.

The Lutheran Witness, 53 year old publication of the Evangelical Lutheran Missouri synod, has passed the 160,000 circulation mark. It is edited by a team of two theologians, Dr. Theodore Graebner, appointed by the faculty of the Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo., and Dr. Martin S. Sommer, elected by the delegates to conventions of the Missouri synod. Dr. Graebner said that during the editorial teams' 22 years of existence there never has been a single disagreement over "what not to print."

Shirt and Skirt Costume Is a Good Fall Bet

BY REA SEEGER.

A big rush on skirt and shirtwaist costumes is in prospect. After a summer of such teamwork in cotton and summer materials, the first fall affairs in woolens, corduroys, and velveteens are a surprise only because of the details and the dashing color contrasts and combinations. The shirts are simply cut and fashioned with long sleeves.

Soft jersey, cashmere, and wool crepes are the favorite materials; beige, gold, black, brown, dark green, strong red, and bright blue the smartest and most effective colors. Neck lines are high, most of them appreciably softened with a bow, others of the convertible collar variety.

Skirts are straight and slim, but there are enough of them with restrained front or side front fullness to please the younger shoppers troubled with a nostalgic yen for the beloved dirndl. Velveteen skirts are the most obliging affairs. They'll complete a dressup outfit with a high colored shirtwaist or blouse of color, go casual with cashmere caramel colored models, and team perfectly with a jacket topper of satin or crepe.

Some of these skirts extend well above the normal belt line. You strap your belt over the skirt and tuck your blouse inside the skirt—or you can appear beltless with unruffled calm.

Black, dark brown, and old gold colored shirtwaists and skirts are, we predict, going to lead the color parade, with black and brown running next. Try the black shirt with a beige or red skirt, the brown shirts with gold, bright green, or light gray skirts.

Wedding

Thru the Looking Glass

Add your hairbrush to the list of civilian necessities, once taken for granted, that should now be cherished and given the kind of care that will preserve its long, useful life. Good hairbrushes are not going to be easily come by. If you own one, use it daily, but don't neglect it.

Brushing your locks with soiled bristles will defeat your purpose. Your hairbrush can help you keep your hair clean, but not unless it is immaculately clean itself. Wash it at least once a week.

Wash your brush quickly, in a rich lather of mild soap suds in luke warm, not hot, water to which a few drops of household ammonia have been added. Swish it up and down and around a few times to make sure that no matted hair clings to the base of the bristles. Rub the bristles with the fingers. It's the bristles rather than the back that need the scrubbings. Then rinse quickly and deftly, immersing the back as little as possible. In drying it, never turn it on the back, so that the bristles drain downward into the tuftings. Hang it up, or stand it on the bristles, and dry it in the sunlight if possible.

In between washings clean your brush with a cloth or towel. This will remove a surprising amount of surface dirt. Don't leave it on a radiator, ever, and if you wet it while you're arranging your hair dry it quickly with a towel.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ADDED to the slowly growing list of debut parties is a tea that Mrs. H. Foster Straw will give at home in Lake Forest on the afternoon of Thursday, Aug. 26, to introduce to society her daughter, Barbara. The debutante's father, Lt. Comdr. Straw, is overseas. Following the tea, which will be simple, the debutante, her assistants, and their beaux will go to the Onwentsia club for dinner and dancing.

Miss Straw was graduated from the Ethel Walker school this summer and will enter Finch college early in September. A Walker classmate, Miss Edna Noll of Greenwich, Conn., is coming here for the party. She will be among the assistants, who include seven young Lake Forest friends of the bud, Miss Jere Manierre, Miss Flossie Curtis, Miss Anne Porter, Miss Louise Young, Miss Mary Hoffman, Miss Helen Milman, and Miss Marion Peter.

Engagements.

Mrs. Mary S. Mabbatt of Lake Forest today is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Judith, to Jefferson Ervin Foltz, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Foltz of Indianapolis. The wedding will be a small one on Saturday, Aug. 21, in the Lake Forest home of the bride's brother, Richard H. Mabbatt, and Mrs. Mabbatt, with only the families and a few close friends present. Mr. Mabbatt retired this spring as mayor of Lake Forest.

After a short wedding trip Miss Mabbatt and her bridegroom will be at home for the time being with the senior Mrs. Mabbatt as Mr. Foltz's work takes him on frequent trips. He is associated with the department of agriculture.

Mrs. George B. Wilson of Oak Park has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Crete Woods, to James Spencer McCourtney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. McCourtney of St. Louis, Mo. Miss Woods, a graduate of Stephens college, is devoting her time to nurses' aid work. Her fiance attended the University of Missouri and is stationed with the army at Camp Chaffee, Ark. Thru his mother, the former Lillian Plamondon of Chicago and Wheaton, he has a number of relatives here.

Here and There.

With automobiles a scarcity at most summer retreats, visitors are becoming more acquainted with woodland paths and wild life. The William S. Millers are spending a month with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Proctor, and their three youngsters at Yosemite National park. The Millers' other son-in-law, Albert F. Sise of Wellesley Hills, Mass., spent last week-end at the park.

With only five train reservations for the return trip among their group of six, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Miller and the Stewart Boals are departing next Wednesday for Charlevoix, Mich., where they will stay with Mr. Boal's parents, the Ayres Boals, until after Labor day.

Train space is at a premium for near-by resorts, habitues of Wisconsin and Michigan villages have found. Mr. and Mrs. Webb Harrison who formerly lived here, are arriving on Sunday with their two children on their way from Princeton, N. J., to the Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., home of Mrs. Harrison's father, James P. Nash. They are without reservations for the last lap of their trip, so Mrs. Harrison's sister, Mrs. Oliver M. Knode Jr., also here on a visit, is devoting all her spare time to finding them train space. Mrs. Knode and little Kitty will be with the senior Mr. and Mrs. Knode in Winnetka until next Friday, but Mr. Knode Jr. was not able to come from Longmeadow Farms, Mass., on this trip.

On Today's Calendar.

At the speakers' table with Harry D. Gideonse today at the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations luncheon meeting in the Palmer House will be Mrs. Gideonse, the Frederic C. Woodwards, the Clifton Utleys, the Clay Judsons, the Kenneth Colegroves, the Louis Wirths, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Cox, the Frank J. Gagens, and Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard. "In Defense of the State Department" is the subject on which Mr. Gideonse will speak. He is president of Brooklyn college, and formerly was a member of the economics department at the University of Chicago. Mr. Gideonse, who is not connected with the state department, will include in his address a discussion of the department's Vichy policy.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Progress.

"How many white collar girls and boys have noticed the war garden of an 'L' employe at the switch tower at Van Buren and Wells streets? There, in a tub, grows the most luscious tomato plant. Last week there appeared a very large, and very red, tomato. Monday it had disappeared. Now, if you'll notice, another large, but green, tomato has come forth. If you're awake at this station it's quite interesting to watch each morning the progress in the garden."—June Decker.

Missing Persons Dept.

"I'm surprised! Here it is August and still no statistics from Nosey Parker on what the white collar girl is [or isn't] wearing on the beach this summer. What's the matter?"—Aunt Het.

Stenographic Union.

"What has become of the rumor about our leading personnel services establishing a stenographic union? Very little is heard of the noble effort these days. The group may accomplish what the individual cannot and it is logical that such an effort could be neatly combined with the present excellent accomplishments of meeting the needs of both employer and employe. At any rate, the thought merits consideration."—A. C.

Typewriter Drawing.

"Here is a novelty that I worked out on my typewriter that may be of some interest to the other readers of oyur column. Just for amusement in an unoccupied moment, try drawing on your typewriter.

"Strike – then hit the space bar three times and strike another –. [Eyebrows.]

"Below each – strike an O and place a dot and an asterisk in each O. [Eyes.]

"Down one space directly below the apostrophe strike another O [using the red ribbon], back space one and strike a -- in the O [using the red ribbon]. [Mouth.]

"The result is a pert face. I have been using this on the envelopes of letters to service men. They know my trademark now and get a lot of fun out of it."—"Beneath."

Your Responsibilities.

"The cleanliness, safety, production, and absenteeism records of a plant are the responsibility of each employe. Only by the coöperation of all can a desirable standard be maintained. All the rules and privileges of a plant apply to women as well as to men. As to personal conduct, it might be well to keep in mind the instruction received by your sister war workers, the WAVES, when they enter service, 'Remember you are ladies, but forget you are women.'"—From Women of Monsanto, a handbook for workers.

Definition.

"An ideal business man is one who knows how to keep his ear to the ground without lying down on the job."—J. B. Swinney.

Quartet Gives Ravinia Night of Beethoven

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

For the first time in its three summers at Ravinia, the Budapest string quartet played a program devoted to Beethoven last night, the first such performance since the Beethoven cycle presented by the Pro Arte quartet in 1940. The Budapest group chose an exceptionally revealing trio, starting with the sixth and last quartet, in B flat major, from the early opus 18, with its almost negligent mastery of accepted form, then skipping 10 years to investigate the probing and enigmatic quartet in F minor, opus 95, and culminating in the radiant quartet in E flat, opus 127, the first of the great five written in the last three years of the composer's life, when he trod lofty paths of unique and imperishable beauty.

One curious similarity these three had in common, in addition of course, to the obvious qualities born of the inquiring mind and magnificent musical intelligence. Each of the three had its mood named in a word by Beethoven himself. Of the delicate, almost tenuous adagio of the B flat quartet, he wrote "La Malincolia." Of the F minor, he scrawled "Serioso." And of the E flat, the one so many people inexplicably think of as beyond the average understanding, he scribbled in his notebook, "La Galete."

And so we heard them last night in an authoritative performance that clung to beauty despite humidity that was as hard on instruments as on humans. True, the quartet tone was sometimes a little grainy, compared with the ideal conditions Tuesday night, but for the most part it had the crispness, the brilliance and the warmth of feeling characteristic of the four men who make the name Budapest justly famous.

Their playing caught the running start of the opening quartet, its dark modulations and its almost wraithlike submission to sadness. It caught the concentrated strength of the F Minor, with its austerity, its economy of expression, and that sudden rush, of scales Vincent d'Indy once called "an error of genius." Then it swept into flowing brilliance of the great quartet in E flat, lingering affectionately on the wonderful variations of the andante, the music that Schumann said seemed to last "not 15 short minutes, but an eternity." The music does have that quality of another world, and sometimes we occupied that world last night, whisked there on wings of immortal music.

War Service Heads of Club Federation to Meet Here Today

War service chairmen of the various state districts of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will gather for the season's opening meeting at 1 p. m. today at federation headquarters, room 1515, 30 West Washington street.

Mrs. Charles W. Stigman, newly appointed chairman, will outline plans for the year's work, which will include two new projects—rehabilitation and coöperation in housing. Under the first heading, a program has been drawn up for assistance to the physically handicapped, particularly in teaching them new trades.

Chicago Girls Enjoy Work as SPAR Trainees

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Palm Beach, Fla., Aug. 12.—Chicago SPARS training at the Palm Beach Biltmore hotel are lonesome for a Lake Michigan breeze. In the midst of drilling under Florida's scorching summer sun, they think longingly of Chicago blizzards. All, however, are convinced that the women's reserve of the coast guard is the finest service in the world and that the U. S. S. Biltmore is the happiest ship afloat.

Cecilia Metler of the ship's company, assistant to the commander of a company including many Chicago girls, takes pride in the accomplishments of "her" girls. Miss Metler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Metler of 5415 South Aberdeen avenue, is "striking" for a coxswain's rating.

Like Miss Metler, Charlotte Jean Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moody of 4918 North Hamilton avenue, has acquired honors since she arrived here with the first class of trainees from boot training at Hunter college in New York on June 14. Miss Moody, a storekeeper trainee, served as sideboy to Rear Adm. Lloyd T. Chalker, assistant commandant of the coast guard, when the Biltmore was commissioned as the first training school for enlisted SPARS on July 7. The sideboys' duties are comparable to those of a civilian welcoming committee.

The Mackey sisters, Marion and Theodora, both yeomen trainees, helped win drilling honors for their company. Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Mackey, 101 Harrison street, Oak Park, the girls are looking forward to spending their first week-end shore leave in Miami.

Almost all the Chicago SPARS are seeing the sea for the first time, like Olga Covich, storekeeper trainee, of 4321 West 25th place. A few, like Marcella Lordan, storekeeper trainee, daughter of Mrs. Ann Lordan, 7615 South Park avenue, have learned to swim in the salt water pool at the Sun and Surf club.

Yeoman Trainee Jane Rubini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rubini, 8108 Eberhart avenue, has been placed in an intermediate swimming class and hopes to advance to lifesaving.

Anna Hennis, storekeeper trainee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Hennis, 2011 West 47th street, will take back home memories of the Saturday dances aboard ship at which men are so few that the girls cut in. Like Charlotte Cernick, storekeeper student, Miss Hennis wishes her folks would wrap up a Chicago wind and send it down to her. Miss Cernick, a comptometer operator before she joined the SPARS, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cernick, 5923 South Laflin street.

Marie Mitas, a stenographer in civilian life and a yeoman trainee aboard the Biltmore, is impressed with everything about the SPARS and Palm Beach. She wishes, however, that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitas, 5432 West 26th street, Cicero, could see the Florida variety of mosquitoes.

A few girls, like Marguerite Reddish, storekeeper trainee, daughter of Mrs. Johanna Reddish, 2840 North Maplewood avenue, would be happier if they received more mail.

Several Chicago SPARS plan to use their training and the money they are saving to obtain better jobs after the war. Among them are Storekeeper Trainees Kathleen Perrine, daughter of Mrs. Victoria Perrine, 3836 Wilson avenue; Audrey Adderson, daughter of Mrs. George Adderson, 905 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, and Margaret Foerster, formerly of 601 Diversey parkway. She is the daughter of Mrs. Andrew Thornton of Newman, Ill.

Marie Jane Friedlund feels that the shorthand instruction she has received as a yeoman trainee will enable her to double her efficiency as a stenographer when she returns to civilian life. Miss Friedlund formerly was an employment assistant for a department store. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Friedlund, 7234 North Clark street.

Altho no listing of the billets to which the trainees will be sent after completion of their courses has been posted, Thelma Hughey, storekeeper trainee, has her heart set on the 9th naval district or Ketchikan, Alaska. Miss Hughey is sure that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hughey of 1341 North La Salle street, would approve of an Alaskan assignment.

Style No. 3457 is designed for sizes 10 to 42. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 35 inch fabric.

Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Representatives of the employment service, national headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington, D. C., are in Chicago this week and next to recruit women for service at home and abroad. The women desired for this service are recreation, social, medical, psychiatric, and generic social workers and hospital staff aids.

The recreation workers will be used in military hospitals in this country and overseas. Age requirements are 25 to 45, altho women slightly under 25 may be accepted if they have unusual qualifications. College trained women are preferred, altho equivalent training or experience is acceptable.

The age requirements are the same for social workers, but they also must have had training in a recognized school of social work. The medical and psychiatric workers will be used in general military hospitals, while the generic social workers may be asigned to station hospitals.

For hospital staff aids, the age limit is the same, and college education is desirable but not essential. Applicants must be able to type.

All these potential Red Cross representatives must be free to go anywhere in the world, according to assignment.

As interviews are by appointment only, applicants should telephone Miss Sarah Marie Conley, Superior 1644, immediately, as no appointments will be made after next Thursday. The positions are mostly on a paid basis, altho qualified volunteers also are sought.

Among the busiest volunteer war workers in Chicago are the 650 women who are registered with the Travelers Aid society. The most recent report of their activities revealed that in July they performed 190,000 services at the various information desks and lounges in station and bus terminals, U. S. O. clubs, and service men's centers. That figure, which breaks down into more than 6,000 services a day, is in sharp contrast to the average of 55 services a year in peace time.

In addition to helping service men, their major activity, volunteers perform many other types of services, such as assisting small children traveling alone. Many of these youngsters are being sent to relatives living in the country, because their parents are in war jobs.

One Travelers Aid worker recently arranged for the wedding of a sailor stationed in Virginia, whose fiancee met him here. The worker not only arranged for the minister to perform the ceremony, but acted as witness, and later served refreshments for the bridal pair and a group of neighbors.

1st Officer Gould.

First Officer Harriette J. Gould, in charge of the WAC band section at Fort Des Moines, Ia., will be in charge of the 36 band members when they come to Chicago to appear in the 14th annual Chicago Music festival. The band will be featured both at a luncheon at the Palmer House on Aug. 20, the day before the festival, when directors of the bands participating in the festival will be guests of THE TRIBUNE, and on the Saturday night festival program in Soldiers' field.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Stringed Instrument Players to Convene Here Next Tuesday

The 42d annual convention of the American Guild of Banjoists, Mandolinists, and Guitarists will be held at the Morrison hotel next Tuesday thru Friday. All guild members are to be invited to stay over and participate in the 14th annual Chicago Music Festival to be held in Soldiers' field Saturday night, Aug. 21. Highlights of the four day session will be the artists' recital to be given in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison at 8 p. m. Tuesday, and the festival concert scheduled for Thursday at the same place and time. Peter Vournas, Chicago mandolinist, is convention manager.

WAC Is Ready with Answers for Applicants

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

The national recruiting campaign of the women's army corps is generously punctuated with "literature" designed to give complete information about the organization, but nearly every prospect exercises an old feminine prerogative: She asks a question or two for herself.

These questions [and their answers] have been reduced to a "favorite 13" in the files of 2d Lt. Mable McClelland, chief of recruiting in the Chicago metropolitan area, with offices in room A917 at 175 West Jackson boulevard.

Lt. McClelland's "favorite 13" are answered dozens of times daily by WACs in the lobby information booth at 175 West Jackson boulevard, where an application also may be signed, and by the WAC recruiters now working in Oak Park, starting point of a Chicago area campaign. The questions and their answers follow:

Q.—May I choose the work I will do? A.—No, but every applicant has a classification interview. If it shows she is fitted for the work she wants and if there is a need for that work when she completes training, she may be assigned to it.

Q.—May I pick the place I want to go? A.—No, assignment is conditioned by the needs of the army. WACs in recruiting may have a choice of service commands where vacancies exist.

Q.—Is the training too stiff for an older woman? A.—Not if she passes the physical examination. [Age limits are 20 to 49.]

Q.—Do I do mostly drill and physical training all day? A.—Two 40 minute periods are devoted each day to drill and physical training.

Q.—Do I have to go over seas, or must I go overseas? A.—A recently issued WAC booklet says: "WACs are subject to call anywhere services are needed. Preferences will be considered where practicable."

Q.—May I wear a girdle. A.—The choice is up to the individual.

Q.—How often can I get a furlough? A.—WACs earn 30 days a year at the rate of 2½ days a month. Usually this time is given in 10 day periods.

Q.—What are chances for promotion? A.—With the WAC new and expanding, promotions are rapid.

Q.—Will the work I do in the WAC help win the war more than the work I'm doing now? A.—Yes, if the applicant's qualifications meet WAC requirements, because her present job can be filled by some one not free to leave civilian life.

Q.—How much money do I make? A.—Same as in the army, $50 a month base pay for a private. In the noncommissioned ranks, all clothing, equipment, housing, rations, and medical and dental care are provided. When WACs in noncommissioned ranks live off a post they receive, in addition to base pay, $82.50 a month for quarters and subsistence.

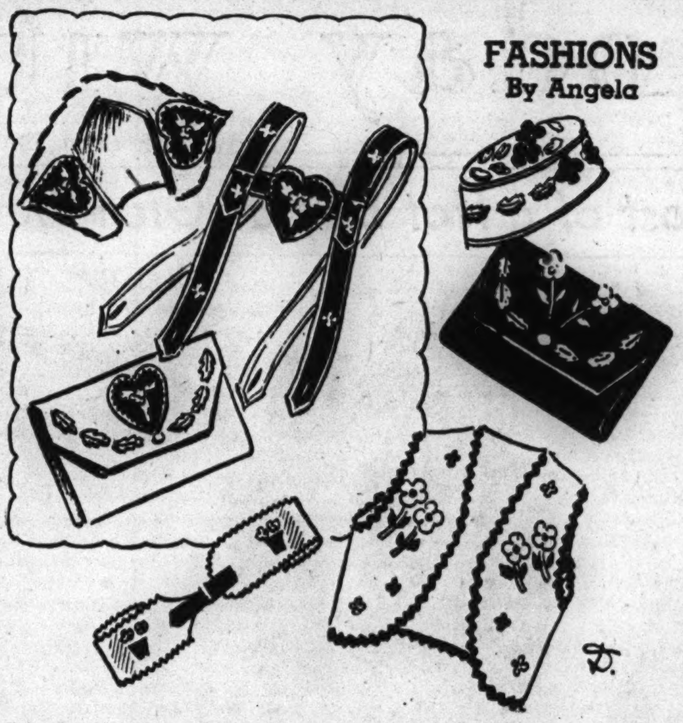
Q.—Do I have a chance to become an officer if I don't have college training? A.—Yes, one can go up thru the ranks. One must have a score of at least 110 on the army general classification test to be accepted for officer training. She may apply any time after completing basic training.

Q.—Will I have to do the same work in the WAC as I'm doing in civilian life? A.—That depends on results of the classification interview. Those interested in learning something new are given an aptitude test for it.

Q.—May I wear civilian clothes? Yes, off duty. However, this depends on where one is located and the decision of the commanding officer.

FASHIONS

By Angela



School girls from kindergarten thru college love to wear pretty little attention-getters. The new felt novelties created in clear, strong colors are the latest trick.

A blue Dutch cap, upper left, has two bright red hearts and appliqued green leaves pointing each wing tip. Red whipstitching reaches from point to point across the top. A matching envelope purse repeats the motifs, the theme is the same but the colors are reversed on accompanying adjustable galluses [suspenders].

On cool days the felt bolero affords protection as well as a maximum of eye appeal. Contrasting felt rickrack edges the jacket, and large and small flowers dot either side of the front. This is available in white, red, green, brown, navy, or gold with any chosen contrast.

Gaslight green pillboxes have white felt linings and appliqued flowers in brown, pinky beige, and white. The roomy purse reverses the colors and brown becomes the dominant note with green, pinky beige, and white leaves and flowers creating the harmony.

"I was South and the bidding went as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
6 diamonds	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

"West opened a club, East won, and returned the heart jack. Now, as you can see, I was squarely up against it. After some thought, I decided to play for a division of honors, therefore I took the jack with the king and then let the 10 spot ride thru West. East won with the blank queen, and down I went.

"Question: Was there any way, either by inference or a safety play, that I should have known to play the trump suit without the loss of a trick? Yes, I know 6 no trump was cold."

Declarer should have guessed the true position of trumps and fulfilled his contract. East's play of the heart jack had been a dead give away that he held the Q-J alone—this, of course, assuming that East was an average or better player. Let me prove this statement:

Suppose East's trump holding had been one of the following: [a] The jack alone; [b] the J-x; [c] the Q-J-x. In case [a], East's lead of the jack would be atrocious because, for all East could tell, declarer's heart holding might be headed by Q-10-9, and the lead of the jack would clear up the situation and take all the guess out of it.

In possibility [b], the lead of the jack would be even worse. West might hold either the K-x or the Q-x-x of hearts. If East let the suit alone, declarer would have to lose a trump trick, whereas the lead of the jack would give declarer the opportunity to guess right and clear up the suit without loss.

In position [c], the lead of the jack by East would be unthinkable, in that it would jeopardize the sure setting trick.

Thus, if East had any conception of good defense, he would not have led the heart jack from any holding except Q-J alone, and his idea in this case would be that his best chance to take a trump trick was to try to throw dust in the declarer's eyes.

Be Practical in Planning Trip for Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Ideals are all right, but we have to keep our feet on the ground in order to make them come true. So, tho the idea we've been "selling" you of picnics and other trips with the children are perfectly good, they have to be carried out with thought for practical details.

Your day-by-day vacation plans for the children have to take into consideration many things: their age, whether you live in city or country, and when you venture forth—whether you go on foot, by subway, bus or train. If you're not very experienced in jaunting these points may be helpful.

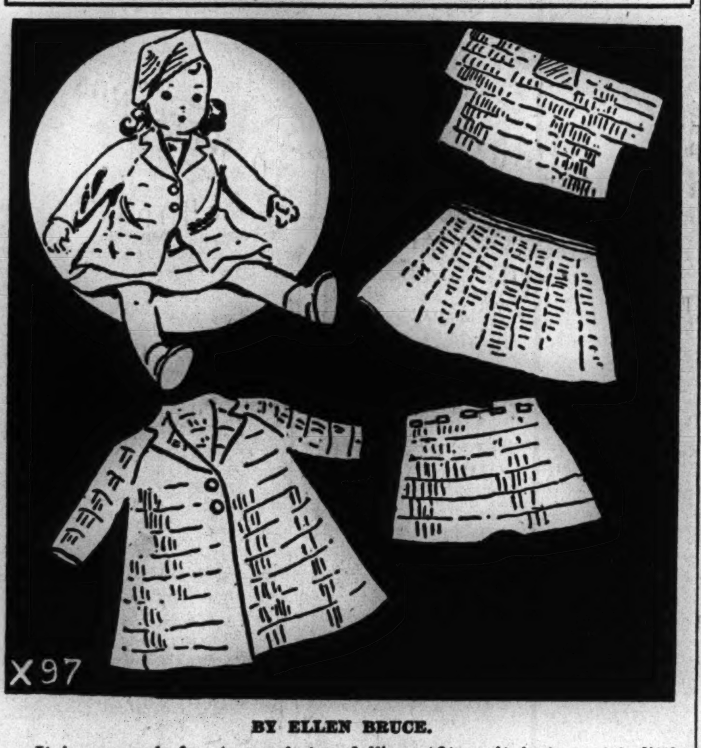
Very small children do not need as much change as older ones. Their world lies close at hand, and they don't require much variation from routine to get a very "holiday feeling"; nor do they have to go far, geographically, to feel that they've had an adventurous day.

All trips must be geared to your child's endurance—and this holds good for more than the very small child. The larger, growing children often haven't a great deal of endurance and "peter out" all of a sudden to your dismay—and an over-tired child has no fun, nor, indeed does his father and mother. It is often an agony to get him home.

A break in the summer day is almost a necessity—for health and enjoyment. So, even when off for a day or more, a mid-day rest somewhere in a shaded quiet spot is essential. Mothers can stand this relief as well as their children, and it makes the whole day go much better.

By midsummer too much leisure—too much of doing-exactly-as-they-please—often begins to pall, especially on our school children. By midsummer mother often begins to feel very fagged. So, if you're not going away for a trip or a real vacation sojourn, right now is a good time to take stock, plan the days a little more, provide more definite occupation, put aside the "business of life" all you can for yourself and go a-pleasuring together with your children. We're always so busy and concerned with our children, that it's quite another experience to have fun with them. And how they will welcome you as a playmate!

Crocheted Set for Dolls



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

It is as much fun to crochet a doll's outfit as it is to watch little girls dress their dolls. This set of jacket, skirt, panties, and coat requires little time to make, and, done in a simple single and double crochet, the ensemble may be made by the expert or novice with equal pleasure.

For instructions in crocheting the doll outfit, No. X97, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

PTA Demands Schools Keep Up Standards

An opinion that the national welfare would best be served by strict adherence to educational standards and the laws governing child labor was expressed here yesterday by the board of managers of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers in a resolution passed by unanimous vote. The resolution was adopted at the closing session of a three day meeting held in the Hotel Sherman.

Altho asserting the congress of some 200,000 members is in full sympathy with all legitimate efforts to help win the war and is aware of the urgent need for man power, the board declared it believes a young person's most important job is to carry on efficiently his own education, both for his ultimate personal good and the future welfare of his community. The board called for continued effort to impress upon parents this responsibility in keeping their children in school.

The board also urged continued full enforcement of state and federal laws on child labor and of state laws relating to compulsory school attendance. It opposed any general shortening of the school term and the drawing of children from school for work in industry at ages below 16, except upon careful examination of individual cases.

The resolution was drawn up by a committee composed of Dr. Charles S. Howell, social science faculty member of the Northern Illinois State Teachers' college and newly elected chairman juvenile protection for the congress; Dr. Hans Olsen of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers' college, and Mrs. F. Russell Lyon, PTA state chairman of citizenship and civilian service.

Looking at Hollywood . . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 12.—The next war loan drive starts Sept. 5 with another Hollywood caravan filled with top names starting off on the right foot, they hope, with a broadcast from the White House. The show is being built around Kay Kyser. The victory committee hopes to get Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Greer Garson, Dick Powell, and persons of like calibre. They'll visit from 12 to 18 key cities. . . . The reason Hal Wallis is able to do another Irving Berlin picture is that he, Irving, and Mike Curtiz whipped up an original story during the train ride to New York and a week there. It's called "Liberty Hall"—all about a refugee girl with a beautiful voice. There's a character in it for Humphrey Bogart. No, he doesn't sing. . . . Jack Benny is no slouch at thinking up a name for his plane, which carries Jack and his four companions all over the place to entertain our boys. The plane's called "Five Jerks to Cairo." . . . Jimmy Wong Howe has put in his bid to photograph Col. Robert Scott's story, "God Is My Co-Pilot."

Still Seeking.

Selena Royle, from Broadway, and Dale Winter are testing for the mother of the Sullivan brothers. The mother is 48 when picture starts. While looking for locations, Lloyd Bacon found most of our upstate towns don't want picture companies. Even Santa Rosa, which has been used many times, has put up restrictions. They'll serve no food unless given a week's notice in advance, no local extras—they can't find enough workers as it is—and no sightseers. . . . Alfred Hitchcock is looking forward with suspense to his birthday on Friday the 13th. His 13 year old daughter, Pat, is taking the part Heather Angel was to have done in "Fumed Oak" at Brentwood Players. Pat debuted on Broadway in "Solitaire." . . . Victor McLaglen, working in "Tampico," was discussing the old ways. "Just 20 years ago," he said, "I started my screen career at this very studio. I still maintain acting is much easier than being a cop in Cairo."

Third Generation.

Elliott Nugent.

"Up in Arms" has become a family affair, what with Elliott Nugent directing, Father J. C. playing a part, and now 17 year old Daughter Lee has become a Goldwyn girl. The minute the picture's finished Papa Elliott goes back to Broadway. He'll co-star with Margaret Sullavan in "The Voice of the Turtle." . . . Donna Reed's 17 year old sister was offered a screen test at Metro, turned it down. She's got a good job at Douglas. . . . What a roar went up on the "Tropicana" set when Jimmy Durante insisted on showing Xavier Cugat how to do a love scene with Mae West. . . . We'll be welcoming back Capt. Raymond Massey. He's on the reserve list due to illness and overage. . . . What a cast David Selznick's lined up for "Tomorrow Never Comes." He's just added that fine actress, Ruth Gordon.

The Acid Test.

Several of our most virile actors lost out for parts in "Kismet" because they lost that look when they put on a turban. But it's mighty becoming to Ronald Colman. . . . Mary Astor, a good pilot, hopes to take up a P-38. Well, who doesn't? . . . Many years ago, Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed wrote a song titled "We'll Meet Again in Honolulu." Now they think time is ripe to have it published. . . . Dick Kitchen's painting of Elizabeth Russell in "The Uninvited" has the glamor girls swooning to be done by him. One of Ilka Chase's will be reproduced in color in a magazine. . . . Carl Esmond becomes an American citizen end of September. . . . Benny Rubin's wowing customers at Slapsie Maxie's in San Francisco, where he'll stay for six weeks. Then he returns here to look over some movie offers.

Only a Bird, but—

Gen. Joseph Stillwell's son, here as technical director on the life of Eddie Rickenbacker, has had a hard time finding a seagull. First day out he got a pelican. Just as he landed a gull, the game warden pounced on him. He had to have a permit. Gulls are protected by all kinds of laws here. Yes, you can use them, but they have to be returned to the same spot where they're found. "Maybe I should let Rick find his own gull," said he. . . . Everybody working on "Buffalo Bill" is complaining about the heat in Utah. Joel McCrea is done to a crisp, ditto Maureen O'Hara. But Linda Darnell loves it. The sun doesn't affect her. She's part Indian. . . . Tommy Guinan got $15,000 for the rights to a movie about his sister Tex's life. He's doubled that at eastern race tracks. Now he may be brought out by our Hollywood bigwigs to learn his secret. . . . Ann Corio's nickname for Ham Nelson is "The General." The Merry Macs define Hollywood as the place where service men gather to look at the blondes they wish they could whistle at. . . . First thing Bob Taylor did when he joined the navy was to sign short snorters for every man in the room, and he dished out the dollar bills himself.

Educators Are Told of Growth Factors in Children's Health

Irregularities in the growth of children may indicate the need for medical treatment and also may have important effects on learning ability in school, Dr. Wilton M. Krogman, associate professor of physical anthropology at the University of Chicago, yesterday told educators attending the conference on human development at the university.

Growth measurements are too often used simply to determine the child's physical characteristics in relation to averages for his age, Dr. Krogman said, whereas if a child's growth is relatively steady—recognizing that growth in all children occurs in long waves of activity—it makes little difference whether he is above or below the average. However, Dr. Krogman continued, if periods of marked growth are followed by periods of very little growth activity, teachers or school nurses should be aware of it and recognize the probable need for medical attention.

SOX WIN IN 14TH, 7-6, AFTER 10-6 LOSS TO BOSTON

Appling and Webb Break Up 2d Game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Altho plagued by an outbreak of infirmities in their pitching department, the White Sox yesterday fastened down an even break with the Boston Red Sox, the first affair ending with a 10 to 6 count in favor of the visiting entry and the latter rolling thru 14 innings into semi-darkness before Luke Appling's potent bat set the stage for the final thrust. The score as Luke stepped across the plate after tripling for his fifth hit of the day, was 7 to 6.

Boss Jim Dykes waded thru six members of his staff to find a man able to remove the sting from the Boston bats. A five run third inning removed Bill Dietrich from the first argument. The Sox got back into a tie, but Jake Wade succumbed to a four run sixth and Bill Swift was slightly nicked in the ninth. Then Lee Ross and Gordon Maltzberger took it on the chin in the second battle, but Wally Moses brought on a ninth inning tie with a two run homer and in came Joe Haynes with a five inning no hit demonstration.

Cronin Hits Pinch Homer.

The Sox had the second game well in hand until the seventh when Manager Joe Cronin, batting for his starter George Woods, exploded a three run homer, his fifth pinch circuit item of the season. The Red Sox took the lead in the next session against Maltzberger, a lead that was eliminated by Moses' No. 2 homer and the match then coasted along until Appling came up with his triple off Mace Brown at the start of the final inning. Ralph Hodgin was purposely passed and Jim Webb singled to break up the party.

Incidentally Appling, by subjecting his bat to super effort in the second game, brought his total of major league hits to one shy of the coveted 2,000 mark. And at the same time he jumped his pace setting average for the season to .334.

Sox Get Off in Front.

A walk to Wally Moses, a wild pitch and a single by Guy Curtright let the Sox jump away to a one run lead in the first game, but this didn't look like much after the Bostons had finished with Dietrich in the third. A pass to Bill Conroy started the whole thing and a pass to Tony Lupien with two gone helped it along. George Metkovich doubled and Jim Tabor singled to account for three of the five runs. Bobby Doerr accumulated the two others with his No. 13 homer.

Thurman Tucker's single, a pass to Luke Appling, a double by Ralph Hodgin and a single by Webb pub the Sox one shy of a tie in their half of the third and they tied it on singles by Tucker, Curtright, and Appling in the fourth.

Wade Takes Pounding.

The tie started to dissolve in the sixth when Wade walked Doerr with one out. Pete Fox doubled and Al Simmons was purposely passed, filling the bases. Conroy doubled two of the runs across and Emmett O'Neil also doubled for the other pair. Singles by Webb and Pinchman Moose Solters helped the Sox to score off O'Neill in the seventh and the Bostons snatched it back in the ninth when Bill Swift walked two men in the wake of two singles.

Operations against Woods in the second game got under way quickly. The opening incident was a pass to Moses, who strolled down to second while Tucker was being thrown out and scored on Curtright's double which hit against the left field wall. Curtright trotted home on Appling's single into left.

Tucker led off in the third with a two bagger to right, scoring on Appling's double. The next outburst was the homer Ross whistled into the left field seats after two were out in the fourth.

Ross Starts to Fade.

Ross' swell performance began to break down when Doerr singled to start the seventh. With one out, Lazor walked and Partee's single, on which Doerr scored, set the stage for the entrance of Manager Cronin in the role of batting stooge for Woods. Cronin's homer dropped into the left field seats, two of his men preceded him across the plate and the score was tied. But, unhappily

Not Easy Things.

'Tis not for me to meet the stalwart foe
In fetid jungle or on mountain high,
Nor solitary vigil know
Where other lights than stars shine in the sky.
I need not fight to build the world anew;
No, these are not the things that I must do.

I must not face a war-crazed nation's power,
Spread o'er the sea in dread array,
Nor, crouched on darkened deck, wait zero hour,
Knowing that death will strike at break of day.
No place for me among the sub's stanch crew;
No, these are not the things that I must do.

My task it is to proudly lift my head,
To smile and go about my daily round,
Tho all within my heart is cold with dread
And only God can share my fear profound.
To cheer my lad, bid him stand firm and true—
These are not easy things that I must do.

Triple by Nieman Wins for Javery.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—The Boston Braves had to go 11⅓ innings to whip Hank Wyse and the Cubs, 3 to 2, but a triple by Butch Nieman, with Tommy Holmes on base, nipped them with one out to go in the 12th. So the Cubs remained in sixth place by two percentage points over the victorious Bostons.

It was the second defeat for the Cubs in the three games played here in the current five game series. It also was the third straight setback for Wyse since he ended his five game winning streak on Aug. 1, when he was beaten in the eighth inning by the Phillies.

Henry, who had shown nervousness in his last two appearances, seemed to be a bit jittery at the outset today, tho he settled down to do some of the best pitching of the season between the first and twelfth innings.

Ryan Opens Attack.

Connie Ryan opened the Braves' attack with a single to left and went to third on Holmes' single. Ryan scored while Charley Workman was forcing Holmes. Nieman singled to center, putting Workman on third, and when Harry Lowrey threw to third, Nieman took second. Workman scored on Clyde Kluttz's fly to Lou Novikoff.

The Braves' 2 to 0 lead survived a triple by Clyde McCullough in the second inning and a walk to Nicholson and a single by Lowrey in the fourth, but the Cubs tied it up in the sixth on a double by Phil Cavarretta, Nicholson's triple, and Novikoff's fly.

The only hit that Al Javery allowed from Nicholson's triple to the end of the match was a single by Nicholson with two out in the 11th. The Braves did slightly better with three singles from the time the score was tied till the wind-up inning—two by Whitey Wietelmann and one by Workman in the 10th.

Nieman Breaks It Up.

Then, after the Cubs had been retired in order in the 12th, Holmes singled with one down. It appeared that the game might go on for another inning at least when Workman flied gently to Nicholson for the second out. Then Nieman, who had singled in the first and third innings, but had failed to get the ball out of the infield in the fifth, eighth, and 10th innings, stepped up and smashed one to the fence in right center, scoring Holmes with the winning run, while Butch was credited with the third triple of the game, but the only extra base hit by the victors.

The teams will resume tomorrow with Claude Passeau opposing Nate Andrews, who has pitched some great ball against the Cubs, but thus far hasn't won a favorable decision in five trys against the Chicagoans.

MISS FOX FACES GERMAIN TODAY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Catherine Fox of Glen Ridge, N. J., and Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, the two bright young easterners who have more than introduced themselves to Chicago golf fans this season, will meet this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the first 18 hole semi-final match of the 43d annual Women's Western Amateur tournament at the Evanston Golf club.

A half hour later, Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., who was a finalist in the 1941 event, will tee off against Peggy Kirk of Findlay.

The Misses Fox and Germain thus have arranged another meeting, and their first in major competition, for, while both went to the semi-finals of the Western Open at Glen Oak, they were in opposite sides of the bracket. In two Pennsylvania-New Jersey team match duels, Dorothy has won both times. Yesterday the 19 year old Miss Germain, a sophomore at Beaver college and a pupil of Jug McSpaden, shot the best match play golf of the tournament, being three under par in taking a 5 to 4 decision from Ann Casey of Mason City, Ia. Meanwhile, the 18 year old Miss Fox was being forced to the full route to take a 1 up battle from slim Marjorie Row, who presently will be graduated from Michigan State college.

Seven Foot Putt Climbs Out.

Miss Wall, at 24 the oldest of the penultimate quartet, and Miss Kirk, 21 year old Rollins college graduate, also had to work the limit to win the matches. Only a heartbreaking seven foot putt which climbed out of the 18th cup kept Mary Agnes from being extended to extra holes. Miss Kirk was 3 up on Betty Jean Rucker of Spokane, Wash., at the turn, but the latter rallied and carried the match to the home green before losing, 2 down.

Altho the Fox-Row match didn't produce exceptional medal scoring, Miss Fox taking an 83 to Miss Row's 84, the two girls did put on a real match play fight in which the issue was in doubt to the final putt. Catherine three putted the first green, then evened it with a birdie at the 431 yard second, where her approach was three feet from the flag. They halved the next two, then the Jersey golfer overshot the fifth green and blew a four foot putt for a half.

Marjorie Three Putts Sixth.

Marjorie three putted the 501 yard sixth, thereby gaining no better than a half with her opponent, who was still short of the putting surface in three. Both were bunkered at

REDSKINS SHOW MARINES HOW

Leathernecks Return the Compliment.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Pendleton, Cal., Aug. 12.—The world champion marine base and the world champion Washington Redskins exchanged compliments today in this semi-desert camp whose vegetation is mesquite and cactus, and very little of that.

The marines, here to get their final toughening up exercises before swinging at the Japs, showed the football players some rough stuff they would hesitate to use on the football field for fear it would bring a summons into the velvety carpeted room of Elmer Layden, National Football league president. After watching the sun-blackened warriors demonstrate what they have in store for the enemy, the Redskins almost lost their appetite for lunch.

Two More Days of Drill.

Then, after the pleasing meal had settled, the pro champions took the field and went thru their gridiron maneuvers for the marines. After dinner the Redskins returned to their training base in San Diego, facing only two more days of drill and Sunday's pro East-West game before heading for the midwest and the College All-Star game on Aug. 25 in Northwestern university's Dyche stadium.

Maj. Gen. Joseph F. Egan, Camp Pendleton commandant, was host to the football party. He is no stranger in football company, for he was the athletic director at Quantico, Va., in the first World war and football is the favorite sport of this grizzled marine.

Second Camp They've Visited.

This is the second camp the Redskins have visited. Earlier they paid a call at Camp Elliott, another marine base 11 miles from San Diego. The other day a group of wounded sailors came over from the hospital to watch the team work out in Balboa stadium.

The injured Sam Baugh and a few other players remained in San Diego today. Baugh, suffering from a sprained back, was reported improved today, but will remain inactive until the Redskins open their Chicago workouts a week from today at Loyola university.

STEUBER AND CLATT MOVED TO RIGHT HALF

Ray Ebli Switched to Tackle.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Bob Steuber of Missouri and Cornie Clatt and Ray Ebli of Notre Dame were shifted to new positions yesterday as the All-Stars neared the end of the first week of practice for their game with the Washington Redskins in Dyche stadium Aug. 25.

Clatt, who played full back last year for the Irish, was moved to right half back. Steuber also was shifted to this same position as the coaches stressed speed in forming the backfield units. Steuber's speed and his pass catching ability fit into the right half back spot particularly since the All-Stars have plenty of material for the left half back position.

Teams Are Formed.

Ebli, an end in his last season at Notre Dame, returns to tackle, a position he played earlier. His weight and aggressive charge were factors in the decision to make the change.

The squad of three score players is being formed into teams which will play as units during the remainder of the practice period. The personnel of these rival teams—one of them will be honored with the All-Star game starting assignment—will be changed as merit requires. This system of grading each individual intensifies the personal rivalry for a starting assignment.

Three Back Field Combinations.

Speed Is the Keynote.

"Those three back fields," Coach Babe Horrell said yesterday after morning drill, "are the fastest 12 players ever assembled on one squad as far as I know. Of course, those backs may not run very far unless we get a comparable group of linemen, but for speed these boys can outstep any bunch I've ever seen."

These players come from all sections of the country. Filipowicz and Governali were unanimous choices as the east's best backs. Renfro starred on Washington State's fine team last fall. Trippi was the individual hero in Georgia's Rose bowl victory. Clatt, one of the best sophomore backs in Notre Dame history, needs no more introduction than does Graham who set forward passing records last year.

Youel an Excellent Punter.

Youel excels as a punter as do Graham and Governali. Harder has a surprisingly fast start for a full back, and he can do the tricks customarily associated with half backs. Steuber is Missouri's greatest back in years and McKay made gridiron history in the Southwest conference.

This does not exhaust the list of outstanding backs. It merely serves to point out the rivalry forseen in next week's scrimmages. Thru these scrimmages the coaches will pick the 11 players to start the Redskin game.

$5,000 MODESTY HANDICAP WON BY BURGOO MAID

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Jockey George Burns sent Ruth Sidell's filly into command shortly after the break from the seven furlong chute and kept her running just long enough to beat the fast closing odds-on favorite, Mar-Kell, by a neck. All the others were far out of it, Jerry Lee, the third horse, being six lengths behind the two leaders.

Slow Track Hinders Mar-Kell.

Despite a series of consistently good performances Burgoo Maid was held at better than 13 to 1 in the betting, returning $29, $7.60, and $5.20 across the board.

Mar-Kell, as usual, came from well off the pace. Jockey Wendell Eads had plenty of racing room for her when she attempted to make her bid but the slow track conditions, combined with her impost of 125 pounds, made it difficult for the favorite to cut into the advantage of five lengths which Burgoo Maid held at midstretch. The winner was carrying 111 pounds.

The race, which was restricted to fillies and mares, was the first stake victory for Burgoo Maid.

Jockeys Banned in Illinois.

George Bowman and Chester Jedlinski, principals in the battery case which occured Tuesday at Washington Park, yesterday pleaded guilty of violating the Illinois racing laws in the court of Judge William Donahue in Homewood. They were fined $200 and costs. When both claimed inability to pay, the judge suspended the fines but ordered them to remain off the premises of all Illinois race tracks.

Bowman, who rode Tib in the third race on Tuesday, admitted using a battery on the horse, which finished. Jedlinski, who rode the Lawrence F. King stable pony which escorted Tib to the post, admitted giving the battery to Bowman before the start and taking it back after the finish. The complaint on which they were arraigned, was signed by Barry Whitehead, the steward who detected the use of the battery.

Madison Ring Team Meets Milwaukeeans

Madison Athletic club amateur boxers, who held Camp Grant to a 4 to 4 tie last Friday, will attempt to make amends for a previous defeat at the hands of Milwaukee when they meet the boys from Wisconsin in a rematch in Madison-Cicero outdoor arena, 4820 Madison street, tonight.

Milwaukee will return with the same team, except for Phil Sparcinio, capable bantamweight, who replaces Al Jordan. The latter was the only one of the Milwaukee delegation to suffer a defeat in the first meeting with the Madison A. C. fighters. Sparcinio will meet Earl Allord.

SKOVIE TRAILS MARICICH BY 1 PIN IN MASTERS

Tonight's matches, at 8:30, will pair Wally Freitag with Stanley Pasciak, Joe Detloff with George Calder, Vern Anderson with Jules Sowa, and Habetler with Bill Hargadon.

The Cascade Bowling center will wind up its summer major league schedule tonight with a series of exhibition matches. Among the stars who will roll are Paul Krumske, Adolph Carlson, Buddy Bomar, and the Budweiser girls.

PHILS WIN 7TH IN ROW; DEFEAT PIRATES, 4 TO 3

Umpires Tom Dunn and Bill Stewart ejected four Pirates—Manager Frankie Frisch, Infielder Al Rubeling, and Pitchers Bob Klinger and Hank Gornicki—for protesting Dunn's calling on a ball on Wasdell in the fourth inning.

The defeat was the third straight the Pirates have suffered at the hands of the revived Phillies, who have now won 12 of the 16 games played under the managership of Freddie Fitzsimmons. Score:

Sox Win, 7-6, After Boston Takes Opener

Maltzberger's appearance as a relief man in the eighth brought a double from Doerr and singles from Fox, Lazor, and Partee, the net being two runs that had the Sox laid out for defeat until Moses was heard from in the ninth. He sent his game-tying homer into the right field stand after Pinch Batter Solters had coaxed a pass from Newsome.

ONE GAME TODAY

The White Sox and Boston will be reduced to a single game this afternoon. The Red Sox will return Heber Newsom to the mound in hopes he will make amends for the K. O. handed him in Tuesday's opener. Johnny Humphries will start for Chicago. He hasn't pitched a complete game since July 18.

Big Sports Card Planned for Irish Day Program

Harold White, midget, junior, intermediate and senior horseshoe champion of the Chicago park district, and young athletes from Welles park and other clubs will participate in a sports program arranged by Manny Schwartz for the Irish day celebration Sunday at Harms park, 4207 North Western avenue. There will be sprint races and novelty events.

SHOOTING FOR THE SAME GOAL

the 135 yard seventh, but the Detroit blonde won it with a bogey four to go two up. Miss Fox regained these at the eighth and ninth. Marjorie was short at the eighth, and lost the ninth when Miss Fox, who had overshot the green with her second, chipped on and hit the flag, halting two feet from the pin.

Both missed the tenth green to the left, but Miss Fox's chip landed less than a yard from the hole to win. At No. 11, Miss Fox's second shot was half buried in the sand, while Miss Row's second struck the same trap, then kicked out safely to square the match. They halved the 12th and the 13th, Miss Fox getting a great five on the latter, putting her fourth shot on within three feet after finding difficulty with a tree on her second.

It's All Even at 16th.

Two fine shots to the 14th gave Catherine that hole but Marjorie evened it again at No. 16, where she ran down a 10 foot birdie putt. Both failed to hit the green at the 206 yard 17th but Catherine dropped a 25 foot putt for a winning par, and holed a five footer at the 18th for the half that gave her a victory.

The Misses Germain and Casey put on the fastest show of the day for the first nine which saw the Philadelphian turn 2 up, but only after carding a brilliant 35, three under par, Miss Casey was out in 37 herself. Ann dropped a 35 foot chip shot for an eagle at the 431 yard second, but Dorothy matched that with two woods and a 10 foot putt at the third, also 431 yards in length. Traps cost the Iowan the fourth and sixth, but she sank a 15 foot deuce at the 135 yard seventh. She went over the eighth green, however, and then three putted Nos. 10 and 11 and drove the woods at the 13th.

Quarter-final results:

CHAMPIONSHIP ROUND.

Catherine Fox, Glen Oak, beat Marjorie Row, Detroit, 1 up.

Dorothy Germain, St. Charles, beat Ann Casey, Mason City, Ia., 5 and 4.

1:30 p. m.—Miss Fox vs. Miss Germain.

JOAN DUNN WINS CHAMPIONSHIP IN GIRLS' NET MEET

Joan Dunn, Des Moines, Ia., defeated Elaine Passow, Chicago, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, to win the championship in the girls under 18 class in the Metropolitan Tennis tournament on the River Forest Tennis club courts yesterday.

Finals in other divisions of the tourney, postponed yesterday by weather, are scheduled today.

Judo May Come to All-Stars' Aid in Game with Redskins

If one of the Washington Redskins suddenly finds himself flat on his back in Dyche stadium on the night of Aug. 25 and doesn't quite know how he got in that position it might be that he will have been the victim of some judo tactics on the part of Lt. Mal Kutner, one of the College All-Stars' stellar ends.

Lt. Kutner is a product of the navy pre-flight school at Iowa City, where he learned the latest judo wrestling technique and is now imparting his new found knowledge to future navy pilots at the naval air station at Bunker Hill, Ind.

Kutner is looking forward to his second appearance in the All-Star game. He was a member of last year's squad which suffered a 21 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Chicago Bears. Last fall the former All-American from Texas starred on Lt. Col. Bernie Bierman's Iowa pre-flight team. Kutner was married six weeks ago to Marilyn Tillery of Beaumont, Tex., culminating a college romance.

Ray Ebli, towering 6 foot 2 inch end from Notre Dame, is the midget member of his family. He has two brothers, Bob and Jack, who are 6-4 and 6-5, respectively. Much of Ebli's physical prowess resulted from working in an iron ore mine near his home in Ironwood, Mich. The mine almost cost him his life once when he was working 3,000 feet underground and was caught between an iron ore car and the side of a tunnel. He was extricated just in time to prevent serious injury.

The wind sprints with which the All-Stars wind up their daily practice sessions are not only good conditioners but give the coaching staff an idea of the speed of the players. Among the leaders to date are: Backs, Otto Graham of Northwestern and Bob Steuber of Missouri; ends, Pete Pihos of Indiana; tackles, Robert Zimny of Indiana; guards, Garrard Ramsey of William and Mary, and centers, Vic Lindskog of Indiana.

Paul Governali of Columbia, whose buggy whip right arm is counted on to forward pass the All-Stars to victory over the Redskins, spent the summer working as a pari-mutuel clerk at race tracks in New York state. The chunky Italian lad, whose home is in the Bronx, will report for marine training at Parris Island, S. C., next month.

MEAL MONEY IS CUB FOOD PLAN FOR DURATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 12.—The Cubs have gone on a meal money basis for the duration of the war, according to an announcement made by Manager Jim Wilson in a special clubhouse meeting this afternoon. For many years, the Cubs and most major league players have signed tabs in their hotels while on the road, a precaution by the management to prevent penurious athletes from going undernourished thru pinching down most of their meal allotment.

From now on, Wilson said, the players will be handed $4 a day and can eat where they wish. While it is believed a few of the Cubs will subsist on 60 or 70 cents a day, and save the remainder, Wilson said he would take the risk of malnutrition because of the poor service and limited food in some of the hotels patronized by the Cubs.

Firemen, Police Nines Will Clash Tomorrow

The annual baseball title battle between Chicago's firemen and policemen will be played tomorrow on the field at Edward Hines memorial hospital for its patients. The contest will start at 2:30 o'clock. The police nine will be composed of members of the North and South squads which met last month in an annual series. Firemen will be represented by the official semi-pro team of the city's fire fighting forces. The police won last year, 2 to 1.

PITCHING DUEL WON BY BENDA CO-EDS, 1 TO 0

Alice Kolski beat Shirley Dresander in a pitching duel last night as the Benda Coal Co-eds defeated the Gold Crowns, 1 to 0, in a Metropolitan Chicago Girls Major softball league game in Shewbridge field. Bernice Maxwell pitched the Rheingolds to a 3 to 0 victory over the Rockolas and the Parichy Bloomer Girls defeated the Tungsten Sparks, 7 to 6, in other league games. Tonight's schedule:

Rheingolds vs. Rockolas in Rockola stadium; Gold Crowns vs. Parichy in Parichy stadium, and Benda vs. Tungsten in Shewbridge field.

FewerBoilers,Rep.Adducis Win Windy City Games

The Fewer Boilers beat the Gashouse Gang, 14 to 11, and the Rep. Adducis routed Eddie's Service, 13 to 2, last night in Windy City softball league games in Hilburn stadium. Tonight's schedule:

Rheingold stadium: 8—Eddie's Service vs. Owl Club; 9—Witt Hanley Yankees vs. Rep. Adducis. At Hilburn stadium: 8—Brach Kandy Kids vs. Irv-Oak; 9—Fewer Boilers vs. Gashouse Gang.

First Place at Stake in Negro Double Header

First place will be at stake in Sunday afternoon's four team Negro double header in Wrigley field, which sends Satchel Paige and the Kansas City Monarchs against the Cleveland Buckeyes in the first game at 1:30 and the Birmingham Black Barons against the Memphis Red Sox in the second.

JOHNSON LOSES JOB AS COUNSEL AT U. OF ILLINOIS

Sveinbjorn Johnson.

The post of university counsel has been abolished by the University of Illinois trustees and Sveinbjorn Johnson, whose dual capacity as holder of that post at $9,000 a year while serving the federal government as state director of the office of government reports at $6,500 a year was attacked by Atty. Gen. George Barrett, now is out of both jobs.

Barrett had ordered the state auditor to hold up Johnson's salary checks as well as those of his assistant, Norval D. Hodges. Later Johnson resigned as state director of the OGR when that agency was combined Aug. 1, 1942, with the office of war information. The Illinois Supreme court finally ruled the university had authority to hire counsel, but that there had been improper certification of Johnson's post to the state auditor and checks held up under Barrett's order could not be issued.

Trustees Abolish Job.

Word came yesterday from downstate that the board of trustees had abolished Johnson's job at the June meeting of the board while in executive session. This action cannot be announced officially until final approval of minutes of that meeting, which probably will be made at the next board session, Aug. 31.

The board's action was reported to have been taken on a motion made by Frank Jensen, board member and superintendent of the La Salle-Peru school system. The vote on the motion was unanimous.

"The record of Mr. Johnson and the record of the board of trustees speak for themselves," was the only comment that Park Livingston, board president, would make yesterday when asked to verify or deny the downstate report.

Rules He Can't Hold Post.

In May, 1942, Barrett, producing photostatic copies of pay checks for March to show Johnson was receiving pay from both the state and federal governments, ruled that Johnson could not hold his state post of university counsel, a job he had held for 16 years.

The university trustees refused to abide by Barrett's ruling and the attorney general ordered the auditor to withhold the checks of Johnson and Hodges.

Barrett later said he had found that Johnson also received $3,800 annually from the state treasury for "assistants, office and traveling expenses," making his total annual salary from state and federal sources $19,300 a year.

Mauriello Knocks Out Campanelli in 3d Round

New York, Aug. 12 (AP). — Tami Mauriello knocked out Tommy Campanelli of New York in 1:43 of the third round tonight before a 6,500 crowd at Fort Hamilton. The fight was scheduled for 10 rounds. Campanelli cut Mauriello's upper lip with left jabs in the first round, but in the second was floored for a nine count and then saved by the bell when knocked down a second time. The finishing punch in the third was a right to the jaw.

W-G-N TO CARRY 3 BOXING BOUTS IN NEAR FUTURE

Mutual has lined up four boxing bouts, including a lightweight championship match, for future airing. They are: Sal Bartolo vs. Bobby Ruffin on Friday, Aug. 20; Bob Montgomery vs. Fritzi Zivic on Monday, Aug. 23; Sergt. Ray Robinson vs. Henry Armstrong on Friday, Aug. 27, and Bob Montgomery, titleholder, vs. Beau Jack on Tuesday, Sept. 14. W-G-N is scheduled to pick up all but the Aug. 23 broadcast. Don Dunphy and Bill Gorum will provide the blow by blow account of the bouts, starting at 9 p. m.

Bob Hope, NBC comedian who is abroad entertaining troops, landed in North Africa territory recently to the accompaniment of wails of the Algiers air raid sirens, but it turned out it wasn't a welcome for him—it was a test of the alert system.

Hope while overseas plans to be master of ceremonies on a Stars and Stripes broadcast heard on W-G-N at noon Tuesdays.

FARM MACHINE REPAIRS GIVEN TOP IN PRIORITY

38 Items Added to List of Available Supplies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—Repair of farm machinery today was placed at the top of the priority list in the nation's repair shops and the procedure by which a farmer can obtain such priority was simplified by the war production board.

The amended regulation provides that a farmer need only submit a certificate of need at a repair shop to get priority on the use of its equipment in repairing his farm machinery. The farmer's order supported by his certificate, is to be considered the same as an order rated AA-5.

Supply List Enlarged.

The action was taken in connection with the program outlined by the office of civilian requirements to assist farmers in obtaining supplies.

Also announced today was a revision of the list of farm supplies covered by regulation. Thirty-eight additional items have been listed on which the farmer is entitled to top priority. At the same time 26 items were eliminated from the list because of an adjustment of the ratio of supply and demand.

Items added to the list were:

Brooms, barn type; bush hooks; malleable detachable and steel detachable chains; chlorine disinfectant for dairy utensils; goggles; grab hooks; hinges, strap and tee; hog scrapers; boning, sticking, and skinning knives.

Ladders Included.

Extension ladders and fruit picking, orchard, or straight taper ladders; load binders; mechanical packing, peavies; tree pruners; hay fork pulleys; respirators; safety set collars; scythes; scythe stones; pruning shears; sickle cones; snaths; soapless cleaning compounds for dairy utensils.

Stop valves, compression and plug types, up to and including 1½ inches; relief valves for water systems, up to an including 1¼ inches; V belt drives; lock and wrought washers; harvest webbing; well buckets for bored wells.

MOTHER LEARNS BOY ENDED LIFE; WEEPS AT RITES

The mother of George Knopp Jr., 15 years old, who hanged himself with his belt Monday in a Whiting police station cell, attended his funeral yesterday in the chapel at 2121 West 95th street.

Distrait and weeping, Mrs. Mary Knopp arrived on the arm of her sister, Mrs. Harry Iverson, with whom she had communicated after reading newspaper accounts of her young son's suicide.

"I tried to cheer him up and told him I'd make every effort to locate his mother, but I was unsuccessful," the father said.

Eight classmates from George's freshman class at Morgan Park High school served as pallbearers, and the Rev. Frederic Lange of Beverly Lutheran church officiated.

TRAFFIC INJURES 39 DAILY, SAFETY GROUP DISCLOSES

An average of 39 persons a day have been injured by traffic accidents on Chicago streets since Jan. 1, 1943, and a total of 184 persons have been killed, the Greater Chicago Safety council announced yesterday in a special bulletin.

Last year an average of 56 persons a day were injured on Chicago's streets with 342 persons killed during the year and 12,601 persons injured.

"In analyzing the situation, traffic experts agree that the reduction in injuries results largely from fewer automobiles on the streets," said Joseph F. Stech, manager of the safety council. "Most accidents still are caused by carelessness."

"Many of those injured are war workers vital to essential industry. The most important duty we have to perform is to wipe carelessness out of our everyday lives."

BOY CYCLIST, 7, DIES OF INJURIES AFTER COLLISION

Robert Johnson, 7 years old, 7100 South Oak Park avenue, Stickney, died yesterday in Little Company of Mary hospital of injuries suffered when the bicycle he was riding collided with an automobile at Harlem avenue near 71st street.

Steve Kominski, 49, 4045 Nelson street, died in St. Elizabeth's hospital of injuries received Sunday when he was struck by an automobile at Pulaski road and Barry avenue.

An unidentified Negro girl about 18 years old was killed last evening when she was struck at Diversey parkway and Lakewood avenue by an automobile driven by William Bossey, 63, of 1247 North Lockwood avenue.

Joseph S. Munger, 61 years old, president of the Berkman Manufacturing company, a tool and die concern, died in his home, 3942 Monroe street, yesterday of a heart ailment. His widow, Catherine, a daughter, and son survive.

6 NEW PARALYSIS CASES IN CITY; TOTAL NOW IS 71

The spread of infantile paralysis in the city continued yesterday as six new cases and seven more suspected cases were reported to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, board of health president.

The area of concentration remained in a zone bounded by Kildare and Washtenaw avenues and Madison and 31st streets, in which 43 of the city's 71 cases this year have been reported. One new case and one suspect case are in this area.

Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, director of the county health unit, yesterday reported one new case in the county outside the city. Thirteen deaths have resulted from the disease since the first outbreak in July.

Supt. Johnson Honored by Principals at Banquet

A testimonial banquet was given yesterday for Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, by summer school principals and their guests in the Edgewater Beach hotel. Thirteen elementary schools, 11 high schools, and three junior colleges were open during the summer course. The principals paid $2.50 a plate for the dinner.

JAIL TERM CUT TO THREE YEARS IN GIRL'S DEATH

Anton Papas, 59 years old, was sentenced to one to three years in the penitentiary for manslaughter in the death of 19 year old Muriel Campbell by Chief Justice John A. Sbarbaro in Criminal court yesterday.

Papas, who ran a fruit stand at 5624 North avenue, was convicted in 1939 and sentenced to 99 years for the murder of Miss Campbell in a dispute over a broken watermelon. Yesterday he was allowed the choice of sentence under the former law providing a one to 14 year term, or the new law allowing a judge to set a minimum and maximum term in manslaughter, since he was indicted when the old law was in effect.

"Your client is fortunate," Judge Sbarbaro told Defense Attorney Samuel Golan. "The state's witnesses are missing." Harry Seigenbaum and two other witnesses, all in the army, were not present at the re-trial yesterday when the jury returned a verdict of manslaughter.

DR. A. B. ALLEN'S FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Dr. A. Brom Allen.

Funeral services for Dr. A. Brom Allen, 81 years old, former Chicago dental surgeon, who died in Los Angeles, Cal., Wednesday after a heart attack will be held there tomorrow. Dr. Allen, a pioneer in gas-oxygen dental anesthesia, was graduated from the Chicago College of Oral Surgery in 1902. He married Julie Conklin of Chicago in 1906. Accompanied by Mrs. Allen, who survives him, Dr. Allen held dental clinics thruout the world before he retired in Chicago in 1925. He was the first president of the American Society of Oral Surgeons.

YOUNG WOMAN IS WOUNDED BY SILENT SLASHER

The attack took place at West End and Central avenues. Miss Bergren had alighted from a bus on the way to visit Mrs. Irene Worden, 232 North Pine avenue, mother of her fiance.

The attacker seized her, pushed her against a wall, and, without a word, slashed at her with a knife. The blade cut thru her dress and caused a slight wound. The knifeman then fled. Miss Bergren received first aid at the Loretto hospital. She told Austin police her assailant was about 23 years old, sandy haired, and weighed 165 pounds.

CLINNIN, HURT IN FALL, TAKES TURN FOR WORSE

The condition of Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, retired commander of the Illinois reserve militia, who fell from a ladder last week while painting a window, was reported last night by his physician, Dr. H. R. Kenny, as somewhat worse than when he entered the Alexian Brothers hospital. Dr. Kenny described the general's condition as serious.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Ben Markland

August 12, 1943.

A RECENT article in this space dealt with the detasseling of corn and the production of hybrid seed corn. A number of letters expressed interest in additional phases of the subject, which is receiving attention this month because of detasseling projects on many middle western farms engaged in the production of seed corn.

The most general misconception on the subject is that detasseling is done on all farms. This process is necessary only in the production of corn to be planted as seed the following spring, and not on farms which are growing corn for feeding live stock.

Many Misconceptions.

There also are many erroneous conceptions as to how ears of corn are produced. A contributor to the Tribune column, "Front Views and Profiles," for example, recently ridiculed the city war gardeners who planted only one row of sweet corn, pointing out that at least two rows are necessary to produce ears. The contributor was wrong, since each individual stalk of corn contains tassels which produce the male pollen and ear silks, which are the female flowers.

It is true that pollen from the tassels usually is carried by the wind across and downward to the silks of adjacent rows, but a small amount of pollen from a single plant can fertilize the silks on the same plant.

Scientists estimate that a normal corn tassel sheds more than 20 million pollen grains. The grains are infinitesimally small, but can be seen by shaking the pollen stalks. Only one of these grains is necessary for producing one kernel on the ear. To produce that kernel the pollen grain is borne by wind and gravity to one of the tiny strands of silk at the tip of the ear. The strands of corn silk are covered with tiny hairs which hold the pollen grains. The male germ passes thru the silk to the cob, resulting in the creation of a kernel.

Controled Breeding.

The production of hybrid seed corn is comparable to the production of purebred dogs or thorobred horses. Since it is a controled breeding process, the breeders use a variety of methods for selecting the plants which are used as parent stock. Detasseling is one of these methods, since plants stripped of their pollen necessarily become "female" plants. The rows on which the tassels are left intact therefore are the known "male" plants.

It requires six to eight years of this type of controled breeding to standardize a new strain of hybrid corn; that is, to make certain that it will reproduce true to type. There now are many of these strains which have been developed by seed farms thruout the country. Agricultural experiment stations test these strains on many types of soil and advise farmers which types should produce best on their lands.

Almost all middle western farmers now pay comparatively high prices for hybrid seed corn because they have found strains which produce higher yields and resist drouth and other natural hazards better than the old type of open pollinated varieties.

★ The GARDEN ★

LOCAL showers during the last six weeks have provided sufficient moisture for gardens in many northern Illinois areas, but in other locations plots are suffering for lack of moisture. The sample gardens on the Wheaton farm, for example, have received only three rainfalls in the last six weeks, all of which were light. A shower which fell around July 20 totaled only .3 of an inch, and another a week later amounted to only .4 of an inch. The rain which fell yesterday morning totaled .5 of an inch.

The farm gardener has been using the rotary sprinklers during the last two weeks. Even the tomato plants, which thrive on a minimum of moisture, have been included in these artificial waterings. The gardener leaves the sprinklers in one position until the soil is soaked to a depth of eight to 10 inches. Two to three days later, when the ground is dry enough to be worked without clinging to the workers' shoes, they cultivate the topsoil to provide a natural mulch which helps to retain the moisture.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

FRIDAY, AUGUST 13, 1943.

NEW PEAK SET BY LEND-LEASE 6 MONTH TOTAL

Exceeds Full Year Peace Exports.

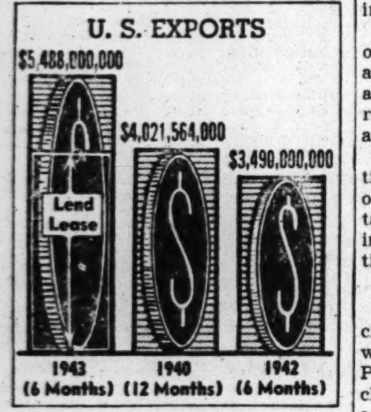
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

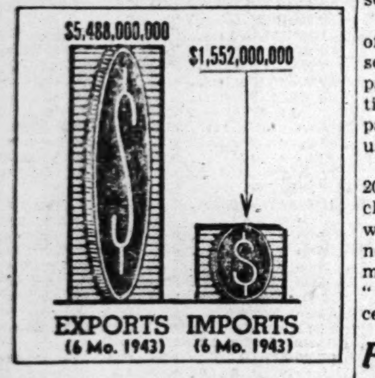
Washington, D. C., Aug. 12.—The United States virtually gave away under lend-lease as much merchandise in the first six months of this year as its industries sold annually in the world's markets before the war, department of commerce export figures revealed today.

Exports during the first half of 1943 totaled 5 billion 488 million dollars, largest total for a corresponding period in the nation's history. Of these exports 75 per cent, or slightly less than 4 billions worth, represented lend-lease shipments.

Topped Mark in 1940.

Only once since 1929 have United States exports exceeded the 4 billion dollar mark—in 1940. The rearmament rush in Europe that year lifted our sales to foreign buyers to $4,021,564,000, the commerce department has reported.





Total exports in the six month period, the commerce department said in its report, "exceeds the annual total exports reported for any year during the period 1921-1941 and represented an increase of 57 per cent above the 3 billion 490 million during the first six months of 1942."

Balance Favors U. S.

With the submarine menace about whipped, the report showed that exports had exceeded the billion dollar mark for two consecutive months. These figures exclude shipments to the military forces abroad, but include lend-lease. May exports totaled 1 billion 69 million. A 7 per cent dip in June lowered the value of merchandise shipped to foreign markets to 1 billion 4 million.

Altho imports, which had been increasing since the first of the year, continued to rise, the balance of trade again was in favor of the United States. June imports totaled 302 millions, a rise of 7 per cent above May. During the six month period imported merchandise was valued at 1 billion 552 million, a 9 per cent rise from the corresponding period last year.

Carloadings Set Mark.

"Improved shipping conditions are reflected in the rapid rise of both exports and imports in the second quarter of 1943," the report stated. "Exports in the second quarter increased 40 per cent while imports increased 18 per cent over the first three month period."

The Association of American Railroads reported today that during July 130,060 cars of export freight, excluding grain and coal, were unloaded at Atlantic, gulf and Pacific coast ports for shipment overseas.

"The average daily unloadings of 4,366 cars of export and coastal freight at all United States ports in July, 1943, was the heaviest on record, exceeding the previous high of 4,200 in June," the report stated.

Ask Workers to Lift Supply of Newsprint

New York, Aug. 12 (AP).—Restoration of newsprint supplies to 1941 levels should be possible with 20,000 additional men in the United States pulpwood industry and a comparable increase in Canadian woods man power, Rep. Lyle H. Boren [D., Okla.] said today in discussing the paper situation with manufacturers.

Boren, chairman of a house subcommittee investigating newsprint supplies, said there were two approaches to a solution of the shortage.

"The present approach is merely dividing up the shortage," he asserted. "Increased production of pulpwood is the intelligent approach. Whatever can be done about wood will be what can be done about the problem."

Warns of Time Lag.

He emphasized that the industry may not be able to step up paper output, even if it gets more men, because, normally, a year elapses between the cutting of pulpwood and the making of newsprint.

After discussions earlier with representatives of the war production board, headed by Harry M. Bitner, director of the printing and publishing division, Boren announced:

"The committee unanimously recommended that on the question of allocation the WPB should hold unalterably to percentagewise cuts rather than adopting any form of allocation."

The committee approved exemption of users of less than 100 tons of newsprint annually from any curtailment, present methods of granting additional supplies, and application of a sliding scale reduction.

Asks "Essential" Classification.

Boren said the committee had decided to recommend that paper workers be classified as essential. Pulpwood workers recently were classed as essential for selective service purposes.

E. W. Tinker, executive secretary of the American Paper and Pulp association, said four major uses of paper were essential—communications, commerce, sanitation, and packaging—in addition to direct war use of pulp in making explosives.

Tinker agreed with Boren that 20,000 to 25,000 men—possibly including some prisoners of war—would bring woods workers to about normal. Unless committee recommendations were followed, he said, "the supply of print may be 40 per cent short of normal."

PENSIONERS HIT FIRST BY COST RISES, SAYS OWI

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—Twenty million Americans with fixed low incomes—pensions and the like—are the first sufferers from every rise in the cost of living, the office of war information said today.

It released a survey showing that 9 million such persons are dependents of soldiers and sailors who get a fixed allotment from the government. More than 2 million are state old age pensioners, and another million are living on veterans' pensions or compensation allowances, while more than 500,000 persons live on private pensions or insurance annuities.

OWI said teaching salaries have not kept abreast of others and, as a result, thousands have deserted class rooms to take better paying jobs in war industries.

ICC Refuses to Review Milwaukee Road's Plan

The interstate commerce commission yesterday refused to reconsider its plan to reorganize the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific railroad, as requested by the company in the light of increased earnings. The plan is before the commission for adjustments in line with court decisions. The company termed "unfair and contrary to law" provisions limiting capitalization to $548,533,321 and failing to allow participation by present stockholders.

MERCHANT SHIP BUILDING PLANS MADE FOR 1944

Volume About Same as This Year.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—The maritime commission confirmed tonight that an "amicable settlement" had been reached on a tentative 1944 merchant ship construction program about the same size as this year's 20 million deadweight tons.

Of the total, 319 vessels will be laid in December. All will be completed in 1944, a commission spokesman said.

All the speedy C-type cargo vessels programmed for next year will be built, the spokesman said, making more than 500 fast ships—Victory and C-type—during 1944.

The total number of ships for 1944 will run between 1,800 and 2,000, it was said.

The bulk of the country's shipbuilding thus will comprise the slow-moving, mass-built Liberty ship, the output of which has permitted the United States to smash all shipbuilding records.

Result Called Compromise.

Other government sources characterized the new production schedule as a compromise ending a long tug-of-war between the maritime commission and the war production board.

The commission had planned for a large-scale, rapid conversion of Liberty shipyards to the Victory ships, while WPB argued for a less drastic change-over on the grounds that abrupt conversion would cause a possibly dangerous drop in launchings and a heavier outlay for each vessel in materials, man power, and construction time.

The commission already had let contracts for 411 Victory ships for next year but 92 were dropped, the commission spokesman explained, in line with a decision to use only gears and turbines for propulsion machinery.

Hold Post-War Meaning.

The dispute has been watched with keen interest for its significance on the nation's influence on post-war world trade.

The commission believes that fast ships are essential to keeping the United States in a commanding position on the peace time seas. The United States merchant marine already surpasses the British in size, but maritime chiefs believe that the country could still be outclassed in world competition if the 11-knot Liberty ships were the backbone of the merchant fleet. The Liberty vessels, they said, may prove to be seagoing white elephants when the war is over and the need for a vast number of bottoms, quickly and economically produced, is ended.

Argues for Liberty Ship.

William Francis Gibbs, WPB controler of ship building and noted ship designer, has argued that winning the war is the immediate objective and that heavy volume output of Liberty ships, slow as they are, is the surest method of supporting the invasion forces overseas.

Altho maritime commission chiefs reportedly have carried to the White House the complaint that WPB, in the person of Gibbs, was obstructing the performance of their jobs, informed sources now said it was unlikely that the White House will be asked to render a decision. Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman, and Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, commission chief, recently agreed to see that the dispute was settled amicably, it was said.

Commodity Price Index Rises Slightly in Week

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—The bureau of labor statistics' commodity price index advanced 0.2 per cent during the first week of August, it was disclosed today.

Fairchild Half Year Volume Tops All 1942

Fairchild Aviation corporation, reporting increased earnings during the first six months of 1943, announced yesterday its shipments of aerial cameras and other equipment for fighting planes during the period exceeded the volume for all of last year.

James S. Ogsbury, president, said in New York City that June quarter shipments were 50 per cent above those of any other quarter in the company's history and asserted the six month volume was three times that of the corresponding 1942 period.

To handle the increased business, the company has arranged to increase its "V" loan from 5 to 15 million dollars, Ogsburg said.

The six month profit was $713,384, equal to $2.12 a share, against an adjusted figure for the 1942 period of $579,037, or $1.72 a share.

McGraw Electric Earns Less.

McGraw Electric company, which manufactures a number of war products at plants in Elgin, Ill., said net income in the 12 months ended June 30 was $828,076, equal to $1.75 a share, against $1,487,304, or $3.14 a share, in the preceding 12 months.

"We have had some cutbacks on our contracts, but they have been more than offset by additional contracts awarded us," said President Max McGraw. "If we do not get further cutbacks or cancelations before the end of this year it would seem that the last six months would likely exceed the last six months of 1942 in both sales and profits, before taxes and renegotiation."

The company listed sales during the 12 months at $8,359,257, against $11,016,768 in the preceding 12 months.

Liquid Carbonic Profits Dip.

Liquid Carbonic corporation, Chicago, reported its June quarter net profits totaled $403,456, equal after preferred dividends to 51 cents a share on common stock, against $511,469 and 65 cents a share a year ago.

Net profit during the first nine months of the company's fiscal year was $587,908, equal to 67 cents a share, compared with $812,497 and $1.05 a share a year ago. United States and Canadian income and excess profits taxes amounted to $742,435 during the quarter and $1,007,297 during the nine months, against $617,169 and $877,169, respectively, a year earlier.

BRANIFF PLANS 5 MILLION AIR LINE EXTENSION

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 12 (AP).—A 5 million dollar expansion program for Braniff Airways, including the establishment of feeder lines and extension into foreign fields, was outlined today by T. E. Braniff, president. He said preparation will be made at a board meeting next week at Oklahoma City. Stockholders, he added, will be asked to authorize an increase in the company's common stock from 400,000 to 1½ million shares.

The air line, which operates between the Gulf of Mexico and the Great Lakes, recently inaugurated service between Denver and Amarillo, Tex., and between San Antonio and Laredo, Tex.

SLIGHT DECLINE SHOWN IN WARD SALES FOR JULY

Montgomery Ward & Co. yesterday reported July sales of $4,811,462, a decline of 1.67 per cent below July, 1942. Sales during the first six months of the fiscal year beginning Feb. 1 totaled $302,341,971, an increase of 3.12 per cent above the corresponding period last year and the highest volume for any similar period, notwithstanding the July decline.

The only other decline reported by Ward's in this fiscal year was shown in March, when figures dipped 6.5 per cent. April was the volume leader in the first half of the year with sales of $60,655,825, and the largest percentage increase was the 9.1 per cent in February.

1. The company has signed a contract with an eastern utility under which Chicago corporation will deliver large quantities of gas daily for 30 years, beginning as soon as pipe line facilities are available.

Oil and Gas Profits Rise.

2. Profits of the relatively new oil and gas operations in the southwest have increased to the point where they are playing an important part in the big investment company's earnings.

The new gas contract is with Manufacturers Light and Heat company, Pittsburgh, subsidiary of Columbia Gas and Electric corporation. It provides for minimum deliveries of 50 million and maximum deliveries of 100 million cubic feet of natural gas a day, all or part of which may be delivered from properties owned or controled by Chicago corporation. The properties are in the Corpus Christi, Tex., area.

Delayed by Steel Curbs.

Wagner said pipe line facilities needed to fulfill the contract probably would not be available until after the war, altho lines proposed by various companies to relieve an existing gas shortage in the Appalachian area might tap the Texas area in which Chicago corporation operates. Wagner emphasized that it was not known whether such emergency lines would be built or where they would reach.

Several projects are before the federal power commission and other government agencies. Chicago corporation has had a Texas-New York pipe line project pending since 1940, but wartime curbs on use of steel have held it up.

Wagner said that capital investment in the oil and gas division had been increased in accordance with "an orderly development program."

The oil and gas division had a net income in the first half of 1943 of $313,330 after depreciation and depletion but before federal taxes. Wagner said the division's earnings in the second half of the year were expected to be at least that satisfactory.

Profit Rise Is Large.

Net income of corporation for the six months rose to $763,809, before profits from the sale of securities, compared with $441,897 in the corresponding 1942 period. The six month profit this year was equal to about $1.61 a share on the $3 convertible preference stock.

Profit from sales of securities was $590,885 in the 1943 first half, against $180,688 a year earlier. The 1943 figure was not subject to federal income taxes, but in the 1942 period a tax of $16,600 cut the securities profit to $164,088.

Net asset value as of June 30 was $71.29 a share on the preference stock and $2.69 a share on the common. A year earlier the preference shares had a net asset value of $49 each, leaving a deficit of 51 cents a share against the common.

Army and Navy Advise Taxes That Will Not Kill Incentive

Washington, D. C., Aug. 12 (AP).—Army and navy authorities are taking part in current tax studies and are counseling against any increases so steep as to destroy the incentive for fullest possible war production, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. disclosed today.

Backed by the war production board, the service heads want to make sure that existing incentive systems—under which workers are swelling their incomes by putting forth greater efforts—are not nullified by taxation.

Would Avoid Inequities.

Thus a new factor entered the drafting of a program intended to raise an additional 12 billion dollars in the year beginning Jan. 1. The treasury already has indicated it is studying means to prevent inequitable tax burdens on persons whose incomes have not conformed to the upward trend.

Explaining to his press-radio conference the presence of Undersecretaries Patterson and Forrestal of the war and navy departments at the first of a series of exploratory tax conferences earlier this week, Morgenthau said they have a twofold interest in taxes.

First, he mentioned corporation taxes, saying both services want to keep the levies from getting beyond the point where business would not be interested in fullest war production.

Want Incentive Upheld.

Then he recalled that many industries are paying bonuses for increased production by individual employes and that the services are "vitally interested" that the personal income tax should not be so high "it would interfere with the personal incentive to produce more."

Morgenthau declined to discuss details of the initial conference, but said he believed progress had been made. A second meeting probably will be held next week, he added.

Lincoln Printing Defers Reorganization Session

A special meeting of Lincoln Printing company stockholders, called yesterday for action on a reorganization plan involving a proposed repurchase of preferred stock as a means of eliminating dividend accumulations, was adjourned until Sept. 23 for lack of a quorum.

ILLEGAL OPERATIONS IN EGGS AND POULTRY REPORTED BY WFA

Altho egg and poultry meat production is at record high levels, war food administration officials yesterday asserted there were indications that markets were developing in these products above ceiling prices.

WFA spokesmen offered as proof of illegal operations in poultry the fact that they had been trying for two months to buy about 3 million pounds of roasters, fowl, ducks, and turkeys for the war shipping administration. Altho they were willing to pay ceiling prices, they had not been able to get any offers since the middle of June.

"There is no need for a black market because there are plenty of eggs," one official said, reporting indications that eggs were being sold above ceiling levels. "Housewives hurt themselves when they buy at black market prices. The number of poultry and laying stock on the farms is the greatest in years."

The bureau expected production for all 1943 to exceed 60 billion eggs. One of every five eggs is reserved for military and lend-lease use, leaving 48 billion for civilians. This would be 345 per capita.

About 4 billion pounds of poultry meat is expected to be produced, which would be about 28½ pounds a person, compared with 21 pounds last year, said WFA.

REPORT PLANS TO AID CHICAGO BUILD AIR HUB

New 'Mercy' Plane Is Described.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Plans for assuring the Chicago area a prominent place in post-war aviation manufacturing were disclosed at the Union League club yesterday by officials of the Howard Aircraft corporation. At the same time they reported that the company is building for the navy at its plant near St. Charles a new type "mercy" plane, designed for speedy evacuation of the wounded from battle areas.

Daniel Peterkin Jr.

Daniel Peterkin Jr., president, and Roy A. Watkins, new executive vice president and general manager, told of the company's uphill struggle to reach the desired level of war production on the types of planes it is building for the army and navy. Financial problems as well as the difficulty of getting workers and training them were among the hurdles.

Holds Percentage Record.

"We are now moving at high speed," said Watkins, former production expert for the Chrysler corporation who was brought to the Chicago company to make its mass production assembly lines click. "We have been told by the army and navy that we had the highest percentage production record in the United States in June and July."

The new "mercy" plane basically is the old Howard DGA with fuse-

TO THOSE WHO HAVE GONE— AND TO THOSE WHO REMAIN

FROM the American National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago have gone forth many brave young men to the nine main theatres of war in which our troops are engaged.

Those who remain, and the young women and others who have taken the places of the men now on the front line, would not want to compare their modest contribution to the war effort to that made by those who endure the brunt of war's dangers and privations. However, it is some comfort to know that our bank, like others, is making a definite contribution to ultimate victory.

The banks of the nation are doing a most necessary work in promoting the sale of war bonds, in purchasing government bonds for their own account, in making loans to vital war industries, in handling ration coupons and large industrial payrolls and in many other ways. Those men and women who are doing this needed work can therefore feel they are helping in some measure to back their associates — and all others — who have gone to war.

ALL CASH CORN TRADING CURBS LIFTED BY CCC

Large Supplies Released for Distribution.

The Commodity Credit Corporation late yesterday removed all restrictions on trading in cash corn, releasing a large amount of the grain for general distribution.

Chicago brokers at once were deluged with orders, and reported that the demand was in excess of the supply, resulting in prorating sales to customers. Estimates were that 1 million bushels or more were sold after the close of the market.

Brokers said a new factor was injected in the corn market by the refusal of country grain dealers to sell unless they were guaranteed that the corn sold would share in any increase in the ceiling prices that may be announced prior to Oct. 31. A government guarantee to that effect expired at midnight Tuesday.

Much Corn to Be Released.

An earlier CCC release of all requisitioned corn above a 5 million bushel backlog indicated that 2 to 5 million bushels would be made available to help meet a general shortage, especially in the east.

The government agency was understood to have permitted cancelation of some of the recent sales to it by country elevators for resale to other buyers in more urgent need of the corn.

Country offerings of cash corn yesterday were the smallest in more than a week, Chicago interests purchasing 75,000 bushels. All trading in cash corn was at government ceiling prices.

Hope for Futures Trade.

Hopes that trading in corn futures can be resumed in the near future were expressed by members of the Chicago Board of Trade, but cash dealers contended this was unlikely as long as farmers can obtain the equivalent of $1.35 a bushel for corn—28 cents more than the ceiling price—by feeding it to live stock. Trading in corn futures ceased on June 25 on orders of the war food administration, and a settlement price of $1.07 a bushel was fixed by the exchange.

Liquidation of a large line of rye futures, said to have been accumulated earlier in the summer on the belief that large quantities would be required for distilling purposes, caused a break of about 2 cents in that grain. September contracts sold at 96¾ cents at one time, 17⅝ cents under the July peak price. Rallies were feeble and losses at the close were of 1¼ to 1⅝ cents.

Wheat Resists Selling.

Short covering and apprehension that the CCC would purchase large quantities of cash wheat at leading hard winter markets brought stubborn resistance to selling pressure, futures closing ⅛ to ⅜ cent lower.

Houses with northwestern interests were sellers of oats futures, presumably hedging against the movement of the new crop in that area, and the close was ⅝ to ¾ cent down.

The CCC was reported to have purchased much spring wheat in Minneapolis. Its bid of $1.38 a bushel for No. 2 hard winter wheat at Kansas City brought an advance of 1½ cents there in the premium on the cash grain over futures.

REPUBLIC DRILL FILES 1¼ MILLION OFFER WITH SEC

The Republic Drill and Tool company, Chicago, filed a registration statement with the securities and exchange commission yesterday for 1¼ million dollars of 10 year, 5 per cent debentures, convertible into previously registered common stock. Public offering of the debentures is expected later.

Braniff Airways registered 400,000 shares of common stock, which are to be offered publicly soon by underwriters headed by F. Eberstadt & Co. The financing was announced recently in connection with expansion plans of the air line.

Harris, Hall & Co. and associated bankers offered 3 million dollars of Walter E. Heller & Co. series notes due serially until Aug. 1, 1953, with coupon rates ranging from 2½ to 3 per cent.

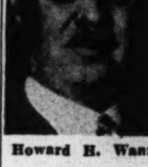
People and Events



Howard H. Wanzer.

Howard H. Wanzer, president of Sidney Wanzer and Sons, one of Chicago's oldest milk companies, will observe his 75th birthday today. He is believed to have a longer record of continuous service than any milk dealer now actively engaged in the United States. Wanzer began at the age of 12 delivering door to door with a hand wagon. A year or so later he operated a horse and wagon route. When the first World's fair closed, Wanzer discontinued working routes and became a partner with his brother and father, Sidney, who died in 1906.

After 32 years of service, William F. Sims, chief electrical engineer of the Commonwealth Edison company, will retire today. George M. Armbrust will succeed the veteran and W. G. Kelley will become Armbrust's assistant.

Clarence W. Torset has been elected cashier of the La Salle National bank. He has been assistant vice president since 1940.

Rex Heald has been appointed representative of the furniture division of the Merchandise Mart. Heald comes to the Mart from the Howell company, St. Charles, Ill., where he was sales manager for the middle west district.

The American Bankers association has called a midcontinent wartime trust conference for Oct. 14 and 15 in the Drake hotel, for discussion of taxes, man power, and other problems by speakers from seven states. The Corporate Fiduciaries association of Chicago will act as host to the bankers.

C. H. Glandt has been appointed district sales manager of the toilet goods department of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company. He replaces J. L. Johnson, who has been transferred to Atlanta, Ga., as branch manager.

Thomas J. Fraher has been elected assistant secretary of the trust department of the Live Stock National Bank of Chicago.

EBBING SUPPLIES LIFT HOGS NEAR SPRING LEVELS

10 to 20 Cent Upturns Are General.

Hog prices advanced again yesterday in the Chicago stockyards to the highest levels since last spring, as volume at all leading packing centers continued to decline. Arrivals in Chicago dropped to 13,000 head, including shipments direct to packers, the second smallest Thursday run in four months.

Advances of 10 to 20 cents a 100 pounds were general, with some heavy butchers 25 cents higher. Sows rose 15 to 25 cents, cutting prices to the narrowest range in eight days. Top loads of sorted 185 to 236 pound young hogs sold at $14.90, the highest price since April 28 and 15 cents above the ceiling the government said it will impose on live hogs in a few days.

Average Gains 15 Cents.

Buyers paid a 15 cent higher average, at $14.05, 70 cents above the low at the middle of last month, when droves averaged $13.35. Most of the medium weight butchers, 240 to 260 pounders, sold at $14.50 to $14.80, while those weighing 270 to 300 pounds ran $14.25 to $14.50 and most 325 to 500 pound stock sold from $13.65 to $14.20. Light butcher sows reached $13.90, while most smooth 325 to 550 pounders sold from $13 to $13.75.

The market for cattle was uneven. Only a few of the best shipping steers held steady. Other steers, yearlings and heifers were weak to 25 cents lower.

Good Canner Demand.

Beef cows declined 10 to 15 cents, but canners and cutters met good demand on a stronger price basis. Heavy bulls were strong, but others were weaker. Veal calves held firm and heavy calves were weak.

STOCK VOLUME SLIDES TO LOW IN TEN MONTHS

Prices Take Moderate Turn Lower.

New York, Aug. 12 (AP).—Light buying centered on a few peace stocks in today's market, but leaders generally were neglected and prices ended at moderately lower levels. Turnover was the smallest in 10 months.

Encouraging war news served as a prop for some issues altho there was no sizable demand for the majority of them. Traders again held aloof to await outcome of the Roosevelt-Churchill conferences and developments on the battle fronts. The question of Russia in the matter of post-war problems seemed to cloud the speculative and investment outlook.

Market Quiet From Start.

The ticker tape was quiet from the start. Trading volume of 454,088 shares was the smallest for a full session since Oct. 19, 1942, and compared with 620,000 yesterday. The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 0.1 at 49.7. Only 784 individual issues were traded.

Among the few wide advances was that of International Business Machines which jumped 7 points on a 100-share transaction, first since last Monday. Eastman Kodak was a gainer of 2½ on a 200-share deal.

Yellow Truck was up slightly most of the session as the acquisition of the company by General Motors, thru an exchange of stock, proceeded. The truck shares, however, finished unchanged.

BOND MARKET QUIET.

New York, Aug. 12 (AP).—The bond market was quiet and prices were little changed today when buying in the rails dried up and there was slight disposition to bid for favorites in other groups.

All components of the Associated Press index were unchanged except the industrials, which lost 0.1. Sales of $6,599,475 compared with $7,680,800 yesterday.

United States government issues lost minor fractions on the stock exchange but were steady in outside markets.

CHICAGO STOCKS UNEVEN.

Prices were uneven yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange with turnover of 25,000 shares. Chicago corporation, the volume leader, closed ⅛ higher. Wieboldt preferred closed at a new high of 95, up 5, and Consumers A closed at a new high of 4, up ⅜.

The securities and exchange commission permitted the Aetna Ball Bearing Manufacturing company to cancel its application to withdraw its stock from Chicago listing, the company having reported that trading volume was adequate. The exchange announced that last month's dollar volume of transactions increased 9 per cent above the June level to $16,931,214.

EARLY DISPOSAL OF WAR HOUSING RECOMMENDED

New York, Aug. 12 (AP).—The national committee on the housing emergency today urged prompt action by federal and local officials, real estate associations, and city plan boards to liquidate war time housing when peace comes. The committee said such action would be necessary to prevent dislocations in realty values, tax structures and residential areas, as well as to prevent some places from becoming "ghost" towns.

Mrs. Samuel I. Roseman, chairman, said no ready-made plan for such disposal could be developed in Washington and urged immediate creation within the national housing agency of a disposal division to outline basic federal policy.

Sales in Chicago Stores Increase 5 Pct. in Week

Department store sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district during the week ended Aug. 7 rose 7 per cent above the corresponding week last year, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Chicago sales in the same period rose 5 per cent, and during the four weeks ended Aug. 7 gained 13 per cent. District sales during the four weeks gained 12 per cent.

REPORT PLANS TO AID CHICAGO BUILD AIR HUB

New 'Mercy' Airplane Is Described.

lage changes made necessary for carrying the wounded. The original Howard planes were designed by "Benny" Howard, one of America's outstanding plane designers and racing plane pilots, who has since gone to California.

The "mercy" plane, however, has been improved by inventions and ideas of line producers at the new St. Charles plant.

Details Expected Soon.

"It will be possible to carry shattered men from battle locations to safe, well equipped hospitals without danger of additional injury even if enemy planes should attempt to interfere and compel the plane to resort to dodging tactics," said Watkins. "Details of the plane will be revealed soon."

Watkins said that 86 per cent of the company's working force consists of women, and a drive is now on to get 600 more employes to work on the "mercy" planes.

"We have housewives, stenographers, bookkeepers, and women from many other lines of employment," he continued. "We have been appealing to the American Legion, churches, and other civic minded groups for help in getting workers. In a recent survey in St. Charles we could only find seven persons who were not working.

Discussing the company's post-war objectives, Watkins said that in peace time it made plans for the production of war planes, and in war time is is planning peace planes.

Purpose Is Explained.

"We want to build planes when peace comes that will fit the place occupied by the cars in the higher price brackets in the automobile industry," he said. "When peace comes there will be 3 million men coming out of the army and navy with a keen interest in planes. The whole country will grow more and more air minded and we want to be ready to take advantage of this situation.

"The Howard company is the hope of Chicago and Illinois for the establishment of an aircraft producing center after the war. If we get the same kind of community coöperation which California and other producing centers gave the aviation industry before the war, we can assure this part of the middle west that it will be represented ably by a company producing one of the most efficient cabin planes for the use of business executives."

FOOD SUPPLIES TO SET RECORD, SAYS WICKARD

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12 (AP).—Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, inspecting a midwest farm area most critically crippled by spring and summer floods, today maintained that total food production would reach a new record in 1943.

Wickard conceded that crops were behind last year, but he said production of beef, dairy cattle, and other farm animals had shown an increase which would assure a new total production record.

He expressed belief that food would be the greatest post-war problem and farmers would have a good market for all the crops their soil could produce. The problem of food supply and farm prices after the war will involve the question of how much will be furnished to European countries, and for how long, said Wickard. He leaves tonight for his home at Camden, Ind.

DAMAGES LEVIED ON DRESS FIRM IN PRICE CASE

Judge Michael L. Igoe in federal court yesterday entered judgment for $8,214 against Fred A. Block, Inc., of 222 West North Bank drive, on charges of violation of OPA maximum price regulations in the sale of women's dresses, coats, and suits.

The action against the maufacturing firm, said to be the first in this area, was taken after the company allegedly made overcharges during the period from December, 1942, to last May.

In some instances the company did not maintain the stipulated ratio between manufacturing and selling prices and in others it sold above OPA ceilings, it was alleged. The judgment was entered by stipulation and represented a settlement at double the amount of damages.

RENT-FREE APARTMENT.

For acting as a caretaker at night I receive, rent free, the use of an apartment which rents for $35 a month. In addition I have a regular job. Could my night employer collect from me a tax equivalent to 20 per cent of the value of the apartment? I am single, with one dependent.—J. B.

Answer: Your employer on the night job should not withhold any tax since your personal withholding exemption for the minimum tax is $52 a month. However, if the value of the apartment were more than $52 a month, the employer would be obliged to withhold the tax, and since he does not pay you in cash it would be up to you to provide the money.

NOT TRANSFERABLE.

Can a series E United States savings bond be transferred from one person to another without cashing it? If so, will the original date of issue hold? —A. W.

Answer: United States savings bonds are not transferable, by cashing in or otherwise. If the owner cashes a bond he can, of course, turn over the proceeds to another person.

Laird Bell Takes Over as Navy Price Chairman

OIL DISCOVERY OUTLOOK HELD DIM IN ILLINOIS

Oil operators in Illinois no longer have much hope that additional large fields such as the Salem and Louden areas will be discovered in the state, Oil and Gas Journal, industry publication, said yesterday. It reported that wildcatting or exploratory drilling nevertheless continues in many counties, but that the number of dry holes in the small new pools discovered almost weekly is increasing steadily.

Meanwhile the state geological survey issued a monthly report showing that drilling activity, including drilling in previously proved fields in July was on the second largest scale of the year, having been exceeded only in February.

Oil and Gas Journal said that of 35 wells completed in Illinois last week 17 were producers and 18 were dry holes.

Pinched for Cash?
$20 FOR 30 DAYS COSTS ONLY 60c

The common-sense solution to any money shortage is a short-term loan. It allows a "breathing spell" in which to adjust expenses to fit income. Right now, for instance, living costs are up and it may be increasingly difficult to make ends meet. A loan from Commonwealth will "tide you over" until you get adjusted to these new war-time conditions. Monthly rate 3% on balance of $150 or less and 2% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150.

USED CARS
AT ONCE
For Our Chicago Stores

DEAR BILL:
Drive your car by every other dealer and get it appraised. Then come by 4655 Washington-blvd. and we will give you cash.
Bill, I don't make appraisals because I can only buy on today's market. Due to the fact that the government is thinking of putting a ceiling on used cars, you can appreciate my position.
The talk of the town; we want clean and low mileage cars. Price no object. Buicks, Cadillac, Oldsmobiles, Chevrolets, Fords; anything thats clean.
Now, Bill, the reason I can pay up to these prices is that I am out of the high rent district and also realize I have to pay a higher price to get them for our immediate demand at these stores.
Bill, please bring your title with you. As I told you before, I can only buy today and will make no appraisals for the future.
